NEW VILLAGE HALL WORK STARTS SOON

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

Alfred Court of the Palatine high school faculty, addressing a meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters, said: "A clergyman stated 200 years ago that men tended to propagate to the level of starvation . . . It is ironic that the U. S. spends $500 million a year for medical research and nothing for research on population control. Will men keep having children until the food supply sets the limits to the number that can survive?"

Dr. Edward G. Olsen, a co-director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, discussed Africa for a meeting of the Palatine Women's club.

He pointed up the explosion of nations in Africa in a definitive way. "Do you remember the childhood game of hiding your head against a tree, waiting and then shouting 'Ready or not—here I come'? That's the African manner of 'nation formation.' Most of Africa's 200 million people are not ready for political independence, and the white world is not at all 'ready' to see them achieve it. But ready or not, here they come—and on the double!"

Which reminds us that Arnold Toynbee pointed out that the world's population is increasing by more than 100,000 people a day. He adds that "We must reproduce to live, not to die. An atomic war may destroy us quickly, but population growth will destroy us eventually UNLESS we act soon out of spiritual conviction."

The interest and concern of Protestant and Orthodox Christians are being focused this week on the Third Assembly of the World Council of Churches, which opens Saturday in New Delhi.

The Assembly's theme—"Jesus Christ the Light of the World"—is the subject of an unusual lecture-discussion series sponsored by Dr. Martin Marty, pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Elk Grove Village.

We attended the third study session Friday night, along with members of Dr. Marty's parish and representatives of several other Protestant churches in the area. It was an "ecumenical" meeting in miniature.

Dr. Marty raised some pertinent questions for his suburban audience Friday night. Interpreting the concept of "sacrificial suffering," he asked "Can anyone in our comfortable village know this? Can a person in the slums, or a housewife busy with 92 labor-saving devices? Does the church in America look to the world like the Biblical 'grain of wheat' or like a self-serving institution? How about your own congregation?"

He pointed out that evangelism is in the human heart and is won by laymen. "How far does the church in your suburban situation bear a full witness to the Christian message?" he inquired.

Sale of Old Building Set

Contracts for construction of a new Arlington Heights village hall are scheduled to be awarded next Monday night, and sale of the present village hall and site to Jewel Tea Co. consummated.

The new village hall, to be constructed at an estimated cost of $450,000, will be located on village property on the east side of State rd. at Sigwalt st.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson is completing plans for transferring to temporary quarters all village administrative, police and fire departments, now housed in the village hall.

IF THE CONTRACTS are let Monday night at the village board meeting as anticipated, construction on the new village hall is expected to start practically immediately.

Bids on construction of the new building were opened in March but inability of the village to sell the present village hall property for several months delayed further progress.

Low bids on the four prime contracts totaled $449,576. Hanson is expected to recommend acceptance of the low bid on each contract, with one exception—that of the general contract low bidder.

IT WAS INDICATED that the Best Way Construction Co., Morton Grove, which bid $316,833 for the general contract, has not had experience in construction of projects of this magnitude, and the village manager would prefer to award the contract to a firm with experience in this type of project.

Other low bidders were Shoreline Plumbing, Mt. Prospect, plumbing contract, $31,243; Vern Smith Electric Co., Mt. Prospect, electrical contract, $44,000; and National Heat and Power Co., Chicago, heating, ventilating and air conditioning, $57,500.

Eleven bids were received on the general contract, 12 for plumbing, five for electrical work, and nine for heating, ventilating and air conditioning.

John G. Woods, village president, expressed pleasure this week that the apparently successful bidders would still do the work at prices quoted in March.

WOODS SAID the site already has been investigated and the availability of construction materials determined, assuring rapid progress on the new village hall.

He said target date for completion is next fall, which means the village offices and services will need temporary quarters for approximately nine months.

Hanson tentatively plans to house the fire department equipment now in the village hall in the public works building two blocks away, still on the south side of the railroad tracks.

Police will work out of the pistol range in the public works building, which will be remodeled to accommodate them.

In all probability, two now vacant houses will be used for the other city offices if negotiations for rent of the structures can successfully be concluded. One house would quarter the finance department, the other would quarter other administrative departments such as the building and engineering departments.

THE VILLAGE board would hold its meetings at the Northside fire station.

Jewel Tea, which will purchase the village hall site and adjacent village-owned property extending to the railroad tracks for $138,000, has not announced definite construction plans.

The company indicated the land would be used for retail stores and parking. When this is accomplished, the Jewel store at 11 S. Dunton st. will be closed.

The village will clear about $100,000 on the sale, which will be used to help finance construction of the new village hall.

No Pinballs

Arlington Heights village ordinances prohibit pinball machines in village establishments, terming them games of chance.

"GAY NINETIES NITE" will make available free, posed, tintype pictures such as the one above, and feature free lunch, a waltz contest, barbershop quartet, rinky-dink piano — and mustache wax for the men, button hooks for the ladies. The fun festival will be held Saturday, Nov. 18, at St. James school hall, Arlington Heights, beginning at 9 p.m. The evening of dancing and entertainment is sponsored by the Sword and Baldric club of Holy Rosary Knights of Columbus. Refreshments are included in the price of the ticket — $6.50 per couple. The public is invited, in or out of costume. For tickets, call J. Schmidt, CL 5-2704. Pictured above are (from left) Carl Brefelt, William Hemsley, Joseph Schmidt, and (seated, from left) Mrs. Brefelt and Mrs. Schmidt.

Peruvian Official

Suburban Aid Plan Praised

An Arlington Heights woman discussed the village's program of aid and friendship to Pampa de Comas, Peru, with the Peruvian delegate to the United Nations during a visit to New York last week.

Mrs. Norma Barnes, of 1016 N. Kasper, said the Peruvian dignitary was highly pleased at the attitude of Arlington Heights residents, and thought the program very commendable.

"They loved the idea," Mrs. Barnes said.

MRS. BARNES, a charter member of the Arlington Heights Inter-American Friendship project, lunched with the Peruvian UN delegate, Miss Rosario Ortiz De Zevallos, and two other UN delegates at the United Nations delegates' dining room.

"We talked about the conditions in Peru and how poor many of the Peruvians are, and about the approach which should be taken in trying to help them," Mrs. Barnes said.

Miss De Zevallos said that in Peru, Pampa de Comas is known as "barrida de Comas," which designates it as a destitute slum area. These barridas, of which there are many, are populated by Peruvian Indians who come down from the mountains hoping to better their economic status, but can find few jobs.

THE PERUVIAN delegate said that in Lima, only about seven miles from Pampa de Comas, the wealthy women who are interested in welfare work form committees and each commitee has the responsibility of aiding a particular barrida.

It was the committee for "barrida de Comas" which was instrumental in getting the suburb its lone school, Miss De Zevallos said, and suggested that the Arlington Heights group work through this committee.

Miss De Zevallos said the Peruvian government is trying to help the Indian descendents of the once wealthy Incas by constructing mills to make paper from the residue of processed sugar cane, thus providing jobs for the displaced Indians.

THE LOQUACIOUS Peruvian delegate described scenes of utter poverty, Mrs. Barnes said. For instance most of the male residents of the barridas chew coca leaves, a stimulant which provides them with false energy so they can give what little food they have to nursing mothers and the young children.

Part of the Arlington Heights program involves providing a supply of drugs and medicines for the small dispensary in the barrida, and Miss De Zevallos suggested that villagers might want to provide vitamins to supplement the Peruvians' meager diet.

When Mrs. Barnes explained the comprehensive project the Arlington Heights group has in mind, Miss De Zevallos guaranteed that anything the group wants to send to Pampa de Comas will be shipped by Peruvian freighter at no expense to Arlington Heights residents.

IMMEDIATE PROJECTS of the Arlington Heights group included a used clothing drive, which is scheduled to be encouraged from the pulpit in village churches this Sunday, and a plan to provide a Christmas tree and Christmas candy for the impoverished children of the Peruvian suburb.

More ambitious plans include helping equip a new technical school now under construction, and perhaps locating and restoring used buses for which the barrida has indicated it has an urgent need.

Sewer Facts Campaign Launched by Citizens

An educational and publicity campaign on the Dec. 9 storm sewer referendum in Arlington Heights was launched last week by the newly-formed Citizens Committee in collaboration with the village board of trustees.

The campaign will reach virtually every civic organization in Arlington Heights through a speakers bureau under the direction of Mrs. Alice Harms, 930 N. Mitchell, chairman of the speakers committee.

Already some organizations have been informed on the facts and figures surrounding the problem, which village voters will be asked to help solve by authorizing issuance of $1.6 million in general obligation bonds to help finance the project.

VILLAGE President John G. Woods and Village Manager L. A. Hanson spoke before the Arlington Heights Junior Womans club last week, and Trustee Norval Stephens addressed the Arlington Acres Civic Association.

Future meetings have been definitely set with the Kensington, Park and Westgate schools Parent - Teacher associations, and Woods is scheduled to speak Dec. 5 to the League of Women Voters. Tonight (Thursday) L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest ave., will address the Arlington Heights Nurses club.

The citizens committee is an advisory and educational group organized to acquaint the public with the sewer bond question. It supports the bond issue. Three more names have been added to the list of members published last week. They are Clarence Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont; Mrs. R. B. Yadon, 826 N. Gibbons; and Robert Coy, 802 S. Highland.

THE 17-MEMBER committee also is organizing a "get out the vote" campaign and will issue literature to various local organizations. A four-page brochure explaining the need for storm sewer modernization and how it will be carried out is now being prepared for mailing to every home in the village.

The seven members of the board of directors of the Arlington Heights Manor association have indicated they will conduct a door-to-door campaign in their area, supporting the sewer bond referendum.

Open meetings will be organized by the Citizens Committee in areas where no neighborhood association exists. In addition, the Herald will outline the problem, the arguments against the referendum, and the arguments for the referendum in a series of three articles beginning next week.

Free Shows Planned for Youngsters

ARLINGTON Heights youngsters will be treated to six free all-cartoon shows this month and next at the Arlington theater as Christmas presents from village merchants.

Tickets will given to parents starting this Friday from cooperating village merchants for the first or second shows on Friday, Nov. 24; and beginning Dec. 4 for the first or second shows Saturday, Dec. 16.

THE FINAL two shows Dec. 23 will be sponsored jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and the village police department for children without tickets.

On the days of the shows, Santa Claus will visit the store of each of the cooperating merchants, greeting the youngsters and passing out candy canes.

Wider Vistas for Businessman

Senior Citizen on Campus

by JIM DAVIES

Conspicuous on the sun-drenched campus of the University of Miami this fall was an elderly Arlington Heights man whose age and goatee set him apart from the other freshmen, many of whom were about the age of his grandchildren.

Though in his 60s, Howard Faber was going to college.

Why does a man in his sixties decide to go back to school?

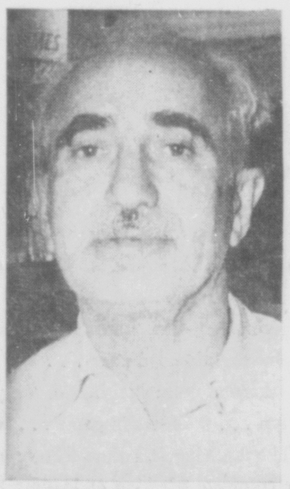
"This question has been asked of me by close relatives, friends, acquaintances, students and professors at the university," Faber told the Herald this week in response to a query.

"I ANSWERED the best way I could, but I am quite sure that my answers did not satisfy many of my questioners. Apparently I was not telling the whole truth — there must be some other reason for my madness."

Yet he was telling the whole truth, he says, and that truth is simply stated: "Is it so illogical to believe that a man who has spent a lifetime in raising a family and building his own economic security should have a desire to continue his education in the direction of the 'humanities' so that he can contribute something more than a mere economic legacy to those who follow him?" Faber asks.

THOSE WHO know Faber in the northwest suburban area call him a sharp businessman, honest, industrious, somewhat outspoken. For many years he has engaged in a variety of enterprises in Arlington Heights and presently is a real estate developer.

Now at the stage of his life where economic security is assured, Faber is seeking vaster horizons, wider vistas.



HOWARD S. FABER

"Of course it is still rather early in the game for me to decide that I can contribute anything to the easing of our great problem of 'man's inhumanity to man,'" Faber says, "but I certainly will not be satisfied until I have made a serious effort."

FABER'S PRESENCE on the Miami campus caused a few raised eyebrows, and he admits the first few weeks were pretty rough — "going from building to building and from room to room, standing in line for endless hours."

He says the combination of his age and his Arlington Heights goatee (which came off on schedule Oct. 7) made him the object of questioning glances from young and old.

"Now, with about two months and several tests behind me," Faber says, "I still have considerable difficulty trying to keep up with a number of students who have such brilliant minds that they will certainly come out on top."

"On the other hand," he adds, "I don't have too much difficulty keeping ahead of a number of backward students, or those who have not had a good high school background. In between are the bulk of the students, and I think this is where I belong. Students who aspire for a B grade, and who will no doubt be happy to end up with a C."

FABER FINDS that contrary to the beliefs of many outsiders who think of the University of Miami as a haven of relaxation and fun, the students are concerned with more than frivolity.

"I find many serious youngsters going from class to class with the same worries about the future that we oldsters have," he says.

Howard Faber, class of '65, believes many senior citizens could benefit from a venture such as he is undertaking, and humanity could then benefit from their services.

"Wouldn't it be wonderful," he says, "if some of the education spent on youth could be reserved for about 20 or 30 years, to be used as a bonus to be paid to the individual when he is in the best position to serve his fellow man?"

Civic Group Backs Plan for Adoption

Arlington Acres Civic association last week went on record as supporting in theory the village plan to "adopt" the Peruvian suburb of Pampa de Comas, but will determine the extent of its participation after more detailed plans are formed by the project steering committee.

Donald F. Rice, 440 S. Prindle, was appointed as the association's representative to the steering committee.

IN EXPLAINING the stand of the association, L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest, association president, said: "We approve of the idea of assisting an underdeveloped area; however, our members feel that any commitment for formal participation must wait until the steering committee has presented more specific plans as to the type of aid and form of support this 'adoption' entails."

When this is done, Yowell said, the group will be in a better position to determine the extent of its participation.

Next meeting of the association will be Dec. 5 at Lauterburg and Oehler's funeral home on east Northwest hwy.

6 More Rubber Checks Bounce

Six more fradulent checks cashed by a trio of forgers who operated in the northwest suburbs briefly last week have turned up in the two Arlington Heights banks.

The checks were made out to David Lindsay, Jo Ann Lindsay and J. C. Martin. Lindsay, who police say is really Allan Basil Bates, was apprehended by Rolling Meadows police last Friday when the first of the fraudulent checks began flooding the area.

The other two members of the trio are Bates' wife, Joyce, who assumed the alias Jo Ann Lindsay, police report, and Martin. They are still at large.

CURRENCY exchanges and exclusive shops were victims of the forgers, along with banks. Last Thursday, three checks totaling $617.02 turned up at The Bank of Arlington Heights, and three totaling $753.40 at the Arlington Heights National Bank.

Lindsay was scheduled for preliminary arraignment yesterday (Wednesday). He was being held in Cook county jail, and authorities said he freely told of the trio's activities.

The checks were on the Owens-Illinois Glass Co., and had been stolen from the company's office in the Merchandise Mart in Chicago, where Mrs. Bates formerly worked. (AF

Suburb News Of the Week

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Village trustees are considering an ordinance to establish a police reserve unit, which would be under the supervision of a special commission and the chief of police. Stringent standards would be applied to reserve candidates.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — If no unexpected hitches arise — and it is unlikely any will — the contracts for construction of a new municipal building at State rd. and Sigwalt st. will be awarded Monday night. At the same time, sale of the present village hall site to Jewel Tea co. is expected to be consummated. Construction of the municipal building will take about nine months.

MOUNT PROSPECT — The village is preparing a bicycle ordinance to regulate and control safety rules. The ordinance was recommended by a Citizen Safety Advisory committee, which also urged establishment of a permanent Safety Council affiliated with the national council.

PALATINE — The board of local improvements set November 29 as the date for a public hearing on a proposal to install a $100,498 lighting system in the downtown business district. The street light improvement has long been a goal of the village.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS — The continuing hassle between Prospect Heights volunteer firemen and trustees of the fire protection district has grown more bitter. Firemen rejected two proposals from the trustees as solutions to department issues and have threatened to "evict" the fire district from the firehouse, which is owned by the volunteer firemen.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Licenses to permit the serving of alcoholic beverages in three local restaurants were rejected this week by city council. "Moral responsibility" to the teenage population was cited as one reason, while other aldermen urged caution because "once the licenses are created and issued, they cannot be so easily retracted."

HOFFMAN ESTATES — Ishier Jacobson, vice president of Citizens Utilities, was introduced by his company as a witness to the condemnation petition filed before the Illinois Commerce Commission by the village. He testified as to feeder line properties and the validity of some of the village evidence which purports to show that condemnation will serve the public interest. The village seeks to operate the utilities on a municipal basis.

SCHAUMBURG — Ordinances amending the franchise rates the village has with Citizens Utilities co. subsidiary, Weathersfield Utilities, were approved ths week. The $250 tax for each new residential customer will continue; added is a 5 per cent franchise tax on gross receipts of all new non-residential utility customers. (AF

Thieves Hit Food Store For $1,000

The National food store on W. Prospect st. in Mt. Prospect was robbed of $1,000 last weekend by burglars who broke into a store next door, hacked a hole in the wall adjoining the food store, and cracked the safe.

The burglars broke into Wellborn's shoe store at 25 W. Prospect. They made a hole in the wall big enough for a man to crawl through and gained entrance to the food store next door.

THE WALL safe in the food store was dismantled and about $1,000 which was in the safe in preparation for the next business day was stolen.

The burglary was discovered by two Mt. Prospect policemen who were investigating a disturbance in the area. It occurred sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning. (AF

All bids on both projects were substantially higher than anticipated.

Rock Salt Bid

The Diamond-Crystal company was low bidder on supplying the Village of Arlington Heights with rock salt during the winter season, and its bid accepted by the village board Monday night.

Trustees Okay License Fees

Recommendations of the finance committee regarding new licensing fees for vending machines in Arlington Heights were approved Monday night by the village board.

Other fee schedule changes were approved at a previous meeting.

The new vending machine regulations provide for annual fees based on the number of machines owned and operated within the village by an individual firm.

TWO SPECIAL categories are provided for cigarette machines and juke boxes, which will be licensed for an annual fee of $15 for each machine.

Other coin operated amusement devices or vending machines, except laundry and dry cleaning machines, will be licensed according to the following schedule:

From 1 to 5 machines, $5 annually; 6 to 15 machines, $15; 16 to 25 machines, $25; 26 to 40 machines, $40; 41 and over, $50.

Where ten or more coin-operated laundry or dry cleaning machines are operated as a single business, a separate section of the code applies. Where less than 10 are operated as a sideline in conjunction with another business, the above schedule applies.

THE VILLAGE will supply a decal to be affixed to each licensed machine, and each machine shall be registered with the village.

The new vending machine fee schedule was arrived at through consultation with Village Finance Director Tom DeRiemer, Matt Cockrell of Cockrell Vending Machines, Arlington Heights, and Richard Funk, counsel for the Coin Operated Merchandisers' association.

A previous proposed schedule which assessed fees based on the size of coin the machine required to operate was scrapped as inequitable.

'Lots of Fun'

Receptionist Tours Europe's Key Cities

Two weeks is not long enough to really see much or learn much of Europe while on a trip. But you can have a lot of fun.

Pam Huntley, Paddock Publications receptionist, did have a lot of fun on her recent trip to Europe. She says she wasn't in any place long enough to learn much.

Hopping from country to country as she did is a good way to lose weight, she found out. "I ate well," she commented, "but still lost weight."

HER COUNTRY- hopping included Paris, Rome, Zurich, Frankfurt, and London. She said she was the typical tourist along with her mother who accompanied her on the trip. She saw all the familiar picture postcard sights, and ate the usual specialties of the various countries.

Her comment, "traveling and buying souvenirs is not as inexpensive in Europe as people think."

Nothing unusual happened to her like losing her passport or being approached by those naughty Frenchmen and Romans.

HOWEVER, "I was totally embarrassed," she said, commenting upon her going to one of the "—ty" Parisian striptease shows.

Pam, 20, lives at 421 Wilshire, Arlington Heights. Her father is a flight engineer for TWA.

One of the most exciting periods for Pam was being in London when Princess Margaret had her baby.

SHE SAID that as an American she could not quite understand all of the razzle-dazzle about the birth as portrayed in the British press and radio.

Like any girl, anywhere, she used her European trip as an excuse to buy clothes. She bought gloves, jewelry, a handbag, and one of those frilly pink French nightgowns. (B8

CD Programs Are Slated

The village's civil defense program will be explained to two Arlington Heights groups at meetings next week.

On Tuesday, Nov. 21, CD officials will address the Kensington school PTA, and on Wednesday, Nov. 22, members of the village Veterans of Foreign Wars post. Both meetings will begin at 8 p.m.

Discussing CD preparedness will be Wallace Daughtry, village CD director; Lester Ploetz, deputy director; and Louis Nye, chief of the radiological division. A movie on the detonation of the first hydrogen bomb, "Operation Ivy," also will be shown. (A

'Hot Dog' Party Set for Saturday

To introduce their new line of "Hot Dog Pants" to area teenage girls, Anderson's, 25 W. Davis, Arlington Heights, will hold a "Hot Dog Party" this Saturday, Nov. 18.

From 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., the girls will be provided all the free hot dogs they can eat, and encouraged to try on the new-type slacks, made by Thermo-Jet.

"This is one of the 'hottest' items in the country," a company representative said. "We're selling them by the gross instead of the dozen."

THE HOT DOG party at Anderson's is the first in the Chicago suburban area, but similar parties have met with enthusiastic response in other parts of the country and have been the subject of an editorial in the Wall Street Journal, which commended this new approach to the teenage market.

At the end of the party a drawing will be held (no purchase necessary) and two "Hot Dog Pants," available in six colors, given away. (A

It's the 'Rumble'

New Safety Devices Dot County Roads

A "rumble" to Cook county motorists is not slang talk for a hot-rod variation of a gang get-together.

It's a safety device being installed at intersections by the Cook county Highway department.

Rumbler strips (there are 15 locations in the northwest suburbs that feature them) are a rough, pebbly surface installed at stop sign approaches.

A CAR'S TIRES produce an audible rumble upon contact, alerting the driver to the presence of a stop sign.

The rumbler strips serve a second function; besides warning drivers to prepare to stop, the noise-producing surface aids stopping and starting in winter conditions.

The highway department announced recently that its 1961 program of rumbler installation has been completed with 42 strips placed at 29 intersections, bringing to 254 the total of strips laid down since the first applications in 1955.

RUMBLER STRIPS in the northwest suburban area are located at:

Plum Grove rd., west lane of Algonquin rd. and the south lane west of Meacham rd.; Roselle rd., the east lane south of Algonquin rd.; Quentin rd. the west lane north of Algonquin rd.; Schaumburg rd., both lanes at Illinois 59; Shoe Factory rd., both lanes at Illinois 59; Bartlett rd., both lanes at Irving Park rd.;

Also, Busse rd., west lane north of Golf rd., and the east lane south of Central rd.; Hintz rd., north lane east of Arlington Heights State rd.; Mount Prospect rd., east lane north of Oakton st., both lanes at Dempster st., and the east lane south of Golf rd., and Dempster st., the south lane west of Wolf rd. and the north lane east of Illinois 83.

There are also 17 new rumbler locations which have been installed in the south, west and southwest sections of the county. (B8

Highway to Hospital

Traffic Toll Causes Increase in Patients

Traffic violations continued to strew the Northwest suburban highways with the debris of accidents and to increase the number of patients in hospitals.

Brewister M. Wise, 58, of Freeport, disobeyed a red light, according to state police, on Nov. 9 at 1:15 p.m. while traveling on U.S. 45 at Euclid.

His car struck another vehicle, driven by Carolyn A. Goetz, 728 N. Lake Shore, Barrington. The accident occurred in the intersection, and the second vehicle was proceeding on the green light.

THE DRIVER of the second car was injured and taken to Holy Family hospital. Damage to the first car was $300; to the second, $200.

Wise was charged with disobeying a traffic signal.

In another accident, Noah Hurley, 24, of 3239 N. Wilton, attempted to pass a second car on Dee road, two miles west of 42A, a half mile south of Route 72. The time was 10 p.m. on Nov. 11.

Both his car and the vehicle driven by an unknown driver were heading south. Hurley's car slid on the slippery pavement and ended up in the ditch.

Two passengers, Wayne Coneo, 28, and Leslie R. Scott, 32, both of 922 Belmont, were injured and taken to Resurrection hospital. Damage to the car was $500.

HURLEY WAS charged with driving too fast for conditions, having no driver's license and not having an Illinois registration.

A three-car accident came about when the car in which Sandra McKinney, 18, of 6805 Margaret, Des Plaines, and that of John Z. Bognar, 22, of 2645 Carmen, Chicago, were traveling side by side headed north.

It took place on U.S. 45 at the Northwest expressway, 1½ miles north of Illinois 19. A third car, driven by Rita R. Klaner, 40, of 3900 N. Lake Shore, disobeyed a traffic signal, according to state police. Her car struck the first car, which, in turn, struck the second car.

The McKinney girl was injured and taken to Resurrection hospital. Damage to the first car was $700; to the second, $200. A passenger in the third car, Mayme Junius, 66, of 1878 N. Sheffield, was unhurt.

Bognar was charged with not having a valid driver's license and the third driver with disobeying a traffic signal.

On Nov. 10 at 4:15 p.m., William Davis, 62, of 4037 N. Lowell, was headed west on Illinois 62 a quarter mile east of State road.

HEADED EAST was Alfred W. Collard, 43, of 518 E. Algonquin. Collard later told state police he was forced off the road by unknown drivers and his car collided with the Davis vehicle.

Davis was injured and taken to the Northwest Community hospital. Damage to the first car was listed as $200; to the second, the same.

Collard was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road.

Failure to yield the right of way was charged against William Lamprecht, 75, of Vinton, Iowa by state police in an accident on Illinois 58 at Illinois 59 at 12:50 p.m. on Nov. 11.

Lamprecht was trying to make a left turn and failed to yield to Carl Del Medico, 30, of 173 Edgemont ln., Hoffman Estates, causing Del Medico's car to strike the other.

Injured was a passenger in the first car, Maggie Lamprecht, 74; Del Medico, and a passenger in the second car, Laura Del Medico, 4. They were taken to Sherman hospital.

Not hurt were passengers in the Del Medico car, including: Mary, 26; Michael, 7, and Theresa Del Medico, 5. Damage to the first car was $500; to the second, the same.

A THREE-CAR accident occurred at 2 p.m. on Nov. 11 on Illinois 53 at Kirchoff road, a mile north of Illinois 62.

James A. Hammer, 18, of Lake Zurich, was attempting to make a left turn, when his car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Roger C. Woolman, 31, of Lake Zurich, whose car then struck a third one, driven by Richard D. Dvorak, 28, of Oak Lawn.

Injured were Woolman and two passengers in the first car, Michael Hammer, 15, and Birdie Winters, Lake Zurich. They were taken to Northwest Community hospital.

Unhurt were passengers in the Hammer car, including: Martha Hammer, 34, and Eddie Winters, 5; and a passenger in the Dvorak car, Dale Roehr, 22, of 8150 S. Narragansett, Chicago.

Damage to the first car was $600; to the second, $400, and to the third, $200.

Woolman was charged with driving too fast for conditions.

Name Schaff Chairman of Committee

John Schaff, business manager of Arlington-Prospect high school district 214, has been named chairman of a special survey committee of the Illinois Association of School Business Officials.

THE SURVEY will be divided into various regions as well as the class of schools—elementary, secondary and multiple high school districts. Need of the survey was expressed at the recent meeting of the association.

Many school districts have been faced with numerous requests for surveys of this type from other schools in the state in an effort to maintain equitable and competitive salary schedules for office, cafeteria and custodial personnel. (ACM

Beginning this week, the Girl Scout column has a new title. The new heading, "Susie Scout Says," was one of many proposed by the troops in the area and was submitted by fifth graders from intermediate troop 638 of northeast neighborhood, district 4.

Linda Manchee, Susie Scout of troop 638, presented the title to Marianne Scott of Paddock Publications Monday along with the district thanks for continued good publicity. Leaders of the troop are Mrs. Esther Gamenthaler and Mrs. Terrie Bylski.

ROLLING MEADOWS

October 28 a "cook-out" was changed to a "cook-in" due to inclement weather. The meeting included a Halloween party and celebration of Juliette Low's birthday. Brownies of troop 17 were kept busy with the many details of food preparation and games and songs were next on the agenda.

The scouts unanimously voted to give money to the Friendship fund in honor of Juliette Low. The 14 girls present enjoyed the activity under the leadership of Mrs. L. Livingstone, co-leader.

Troop 782 took advantage of the warm weather this fall and participated in a fishing trip. Each girl caught a number of bluegills. Leaders were assisted by Donald Winn, T. Fletcher and Bert Whitcombe. October 14 the scouts went on a nature hike to the Milwaukee ave. nature center. During their October 16 cookout, the girls proved how able they were when it came to fire building, and the planning and preparation of an outdoor meal.

THESE ACTIVE scouts of troop 782 were entertained by their leaders, Mrs. E. Whitcombe and Mrs. Donald Winn, at a Halloween party at Mrs. Winn's home. Prizes were won by Sally Walsh for the prettiest costume and by Janine Fenzel for the funniest. Four new girls were welcomed into the group, Sally Walsh, Judy Clark, Cheryl Paweleck and Amy Whitcombe. The first three are working on their Tenderfoot requirements, the rest of the scouts on second class.

NORTH PALATINE

As a special service project, girls of troop 368 purchased a rose bush which was dedicated to the Girl Scout anniversary year. They met with E. W. Meyer at the new Methodist church building where the rose was planted along with another purchased by the North Palatine neighborhood.

The newly-formed Brownie troop 410 held its investiture ceremonies October 30 in St. Phillip church. This troop is under the leadership of Mrs. William Hallquist, who has been active in scouting for five years. Her co-leaders, Mrs. Norman Stanton and Mrs. Bernard Maas, have just finished their training course.

Brownies receiving their pins were: Barbara Barr, Joy Belle Burtis, Julie Cramer, Renee DeWyze, Lynn Marie Fuqua, Ginger Lee Gieseke, Deena Hallquist, Ruth Anne Krause, Becky Lee Lorenz, Lisa Maas, Susan Jean Meyer, Bebe Molway, Alison Morland, Ann Patterson, Deborah Pierce, Linda Smith, Mary Sobozynski, Diedre Stanton, Debby Visk and Camilee White.

Co-leaders and committee were invested by their daughters. Refreshments followed and Intermediate Girl Scout troop under Mrs. Howard Hill and Mrs. Graves Urquhart joined the new brownies for movies.

SOUTH PALATINE

Apple bobbing, treasure hunt, games and skits were the order of the day October 31, when Brownie troop 501 held a Halloween party at the home of their leader, Mrs. D. Sargol. The party was planned and carried out by some of the members of Mariner ship 334 as part of their community service. Mariners were Gail Reilley, Judy Hoffman, Pat Mickus, Diane and Lynda Sargol.

SOUTH MT. PROSPECT

Troop 543 has as its new co-leader, Miss Arlette Blakem, kindergarten teacher at Lions Park school, whose home town is Honolulu. Westbrook school colors, purple and white, were kept in mind when Brownie troop 792 planted spring flowering bulbs in the schoolyard; Girl scouts from troop 142 assisted. Debbie Simpson and Billie Lou Rodley, both transfers, are new members of Brownie troop 743. When Brownie troop 792 had a cookout at Camp Pine, June Montgomery and Martha Waldo from troop 499 assisted.

Troop 744 has changed its meeting place from South church to the home of its leader, Mrs. W. J. Murphy. Troop 212 planted four dozen yellow tulips at St. Mark church. All troop members received stars at a party celebrating their third year in scouting.

BROWNIE TROOP 708 has four new members, Wendi Lam, Kay Quigley, Kerry Hawk and Debbie Adams. Mrs. Robert Karn, troop committee chairman, helped the girls make clown favors which will be given to hospitalized children. Some of these girls helped the leader with the initial meeting of a new Brownie troop at South church. There are 19 Brownies in the new troop led by Mrs. Grant Disbrow and Mrs. Edward Shaler.

Troop 464 planted two yellow Girl Scout rosebushes at South church, their meeting place. Brownie troop 703 held investment ceremonies for Mary Lou Harris and all joined in telling her the Brownie story. The new senior Mariner troop, led by Mrs. Harold Drew, has elected officers and is sending representatives to the senior planning board meeting in Des Plaines.

The new Brownie troop at South church, Mrs. William Schroeder as leader, has made paper corsages for mothers attending the investiture tea November 28.

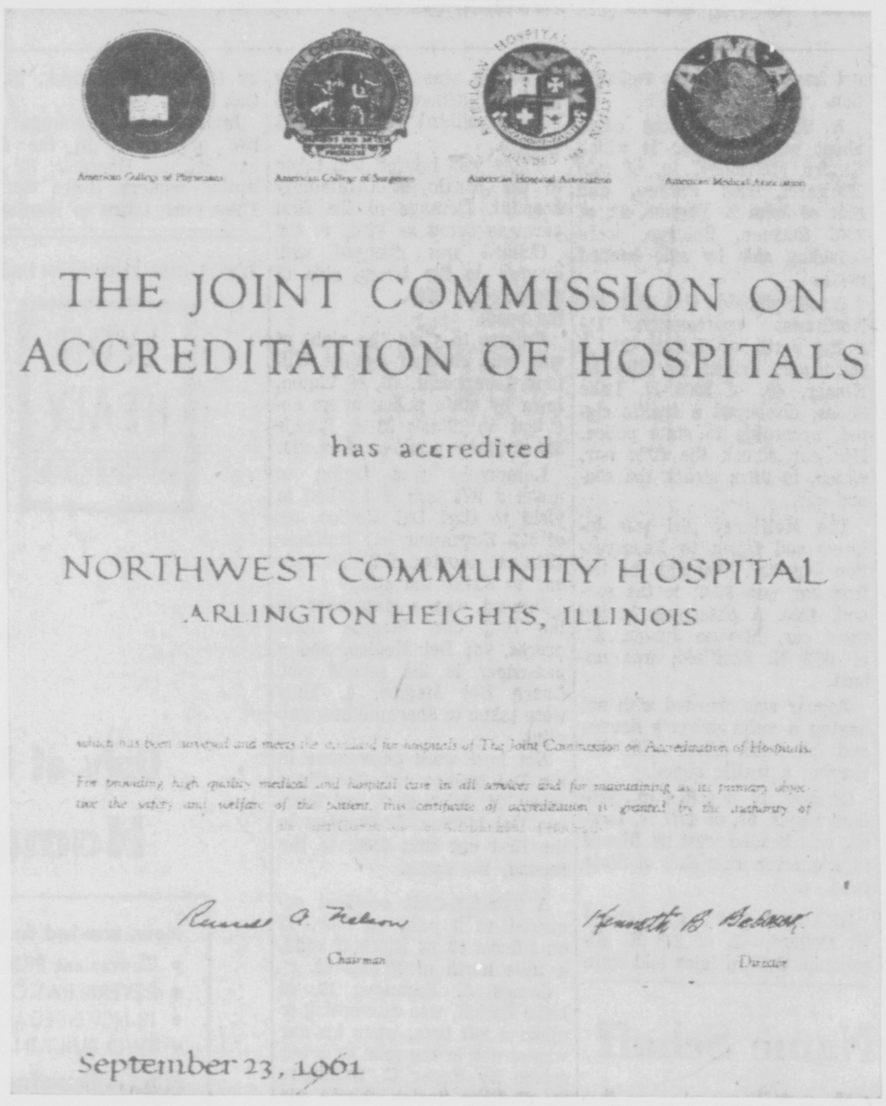
Northwest Hospital's Accreditation Okayed



THE COLORFUL certificate marking the accreditation of Northwest Community hospital by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals was received this week at the hospital offices. The accreditation follows a detailed survey of hospital plant, staff, methods of operation, services and administration. The survey, held September 23, was taken by a representative of the Joint Commission — a volunteer association supported by the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association and American Medical Association. (B-8

Less than two years after opening its doors, Northwest Community hospital has received full accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The accreditation covers all phases of hospital operation and procedure as well as the physical plant. In approving the accreditation of Northwest Community Hospital the commission added a commendation for "constant efforts to improve the quality of patient care."

Before applying for accreditation a hosptial must be in operation for at least one year and be accepted by the American Hospital Association for listing in the association's hospital guide publication. The acceptance by the American Hospital Association includes a survey and the meeting of certain operational standards.

The accreditation program sponsored by the Joint Commission is a voluntary, cooperative non-profit public service. More than $500,000 is spent each year throughout the United States in maintaining the accreditation program.

FOUR MAJOR associations comprise the Joint Commission —the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

The detailed accreditation survey at Northwest Community hospital took place September 23. Dr. William B. Talbot, field representative of the commission, conducted the survey.

To qualify for accreditation a hospital must have a well-constructed building with maximum safety precautions, good diagnostic and treatment facilities and equipment, a strictly-supervised dietary department and pharmacy as well as a medical library.

OTHER MAJOR qualifications for accreditation include a competent, qualified medical staff, well-trained nursing staff and adequate hospital personnel. A responsible governing body is required as well as a trained hospital administrator.

The commission insists that good medical records be maintained, that doctors consult with other qualified staff doctors on various diagnosis and that the medical staff conduct regular meetings and procedures to review medical cases.

The survey and accreditation of Northwest Community hospital was sought, according to Hospital Administrator Alan B. Campbell, to provide the best possible patient care and to be sure the hospital was maintaining the highest standards.

The ultimate benefits of accreditation of the hospital are for the patients and the community, he indicated. (B-8

Blackhawk District

4 Boy Scout Leaders Honored at Meeting

At the Blackhawk district, Boy Scouts of America, annual meeting held November 12, four men were specially honored for their efforts during the past year.

They represented the many Cub leaders, Scout leaders, Explorer leaders, and district personnel who average a minimum of two nights a week for the Boy Scouts.

Dave Johnson, 600 W. Henry, Mt. Prospect was named Cubber of the Year for his outstanding efforts as Cubmaster of pack 53 sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Prospect Post 1337.

Johnson has served as Cubmaster since March 1, 1959. Prior to that time, he was affiliated with Pack 135 at the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights.

HE HAS ALSO conducted training courses, Webelos days for older Cub Scouts in the district, and has been involved in many district events for Boy Scouts.

Edward Natzke was named Scouter of the Year for his services as Scoutmaster of troop 34, sponsored by the Hasbrook Civic association. Natzke has served as Scoutmaster since Nov. 1, 1959, and served as Assistant Scoutmaster for the two years prior to that. Troop 34 is one of the largest in Cook county.

George P. Sawyer Sr., 414 N. Russell, Mt. Prospect, was named Explorer Leader of the Year. Sawyer is the leader of Explorer post 51, sponsored by St. Mark's Lutheran church, Mt. Prospect.

PRIOR TO accepting this position he had served for nine years as troop committeeman, troop chairman, and Scoutmaster of Troop 51 and had served once before as leader of Post 51.

The District Scouter of the Year award was presented to John H. Dunham Jr., 100 E. Marion, Prospect Heights. Dunham has served on the district committee for the past five years.

In that time he has headed the finance efforts of the district, new unit organization and given special help to the Prospect Heights units.

THE AWARDS were presented by W. H. Granzin, Blackhawk district commissioner, who received the award himself in 1958 for his nine years service as Scoutmaster of troop 53.

Training awards were presented by Stewart Grant, Scout training chairman, to assistant district commissioners Milton J. Singelmann, 917 N. Princeton, Arlington Heights, and Douglas H. Gomm, 514 N. Emerson, Mount Prospect; neighborhood commissioners William Fisch, 310 Lance dr., Des Plaines, and Jeff Elman, 401 S. Pine, Mt. Prospect; Edward J. Stein, 1609 Walnut, Arlington Heights; and Peter Weiler, 209 Hi-Lusi, Mount Prospect.

After Grant had presented the Den Mother training award to Mrs. Rose Marcussen, 1624 N. Highland, Arlington Heights, he received his own training award from district chairman Arthur R. Leu.

THE BLACKHAWK district is one of five districts in the Northwest Suburban council of the Boy Scouts of America. The council is an active participating member of the Des Plaines, Schiller Park and Suburban Community Chests; the United Funds of Park Ridge, Barrington and Niles; and the Combined Appeals of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights. High School

Bus Boundary Lines Cited

The many and varied methods of determining the 1½ mile distance set by state law for free bus transportation came in for discussion at the November 6 Arlington-Prospect high school board meeting.

To cut controversy in the use of car speedometers which vary to a considerable degree, this year Arlington-Prospect high school district initiated the use of surveyor's wheels. The wheel, attached to the back of a car, can bounce over rough spots and increase the minimum distance set for free bus transportation, it was noted.

A group of Mount Prospect residents appeared to have "beaten the wheel" Monday and gained free transportation for their high school students.

IN AN EFFORT to prove their area was beyond the 1½ mile limit, residents in the 100 block of Can-Dota in Mount Prospect walked the distance to the high school eight times with a surveyor's wheel — each time coming to a count beyond the 1½ mile limit. Speakers for the group were Mrs. Robert Keck, 106 Can-Dota, and William J. Morris Jr., 107 Can-Dota.

Kenneth Dougan, school board member, noted there could be a two to four per cent error in the use of surveyor's wheels and this would give the administration leeway in deciding cases for free transportation where a question of distance might arise.

Board members noted that parents who walked the 1½ mile distance eight times to prove their case were entitled to consideration since their findings appeared to bear out their argument that they were beyond the 1½ line. (ACM

Location for Mental Health Clinic Eyed

Location of a mental health clinic to serve seven northwest suburban communities will be discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Northwest Co-operative Mental Health association today (Nov. 16) at 8:30 p.m. at the Rolling Meadows Bowl, 3245 Kirchoff rd.

Besides considering a suitable site for the clinic, which the association hopes to have operative by February, the personnel and clinical practices committee is expected to make recommendations on a code of employment practices which would guide the decisions of a medical director.

MRS. CAROL Allison of Hoffman Estates, association president, said the meeting is open to the public. She added that the state's grant of funds appropriated at the ratio of 3-1 to money raised by community contribution has been officially approved by Dr. Francis J. Gerty, director of the state Department of Mental Health.

The state has provided $16,925 for a six-month period in response to the $9,052 raised locally. While $33,850 was requested of the state, its fiscal year extends from July 1 to June 31 so that only a six-month appropriation could be approved at this time. The association requests will be reviewed in May, at which time the group will apply for a full year's budget.

AT A RECENT meeting, the association voted to extend services of the clinic for all seven communities although Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows have experienced difficulty raising any significant amounts of money toward operation of the clinic.

Only Hoffman Estates and Elk Grove Village raised their full share of the budget originally set, but Mount Prospect, Palatine and Wheeling have raised substantial portions of their quota so that a revised budget could be submitted to the Illinois Department of Mental Health to secure funds.(B8

PREPARING FOR THEIR appearance before the combined annual conventions of the Illinois Association of School Boards and Illinois Association of School Superintendents Sunday, Nov. 19, are three members of the Prospect high school choir. Sandy Martin, point secretary; Bob Bowker, president; and Jan Bear, robe chairman; are all involved with preparation for the concert which will open the conventions attended by more than 3,500. Under the direction of Sterling Mische, choral director, the choir will present a group of popular songs, sacred numbers and numbers from the "Sound of Music." Zi Sa, a native of Korea and special voice instructor at Prospect, will appear as tenor soloist with the choir.

State Savings and Loans Note Net Gains in Assets

A gain in assets of $648,607,000 has brought total resources of Illinois' 593 savings and loan associations to $7,482,918,000 at the end of the first three quarters of 1961, according to Guy Wood Jr., President of the Illinois Savings and Loan league, trade organization of the savings and loan business. This estimate is based on the monthly reports of the 437 insured savings associations operating in Illinois.

WOOD REPORTED that the first nine months of 1961 resulted in a net gain in savings accounts amounting to $512,642,000, bringing total savings to $6,274,393,000 held by 2,853,725 investors. An additional 176,296 customers have opened savings accounts in the state's savings and loan associations during this period.

The savings of these citizens has made possible an additional lending volume of $1,148,843,000 during the first nine months of 1961, making the total mortgage loans outstanding reach a volume of $6,257,254,000 to 586,045 Illinois families. Illinois associations currently are making 68 per cent of the dollar volume of home loans made in the state.

Borrowers from savings and loan associations have repaid a total of $627,892,000 on home loans thus far during the year.

WOOD PREDICTS that by the year end, Illinois savings and loan associations will hold total resources exceeding $7½ billion, thus making possible increased service to meet the home financing needs of Illinois citizens.

Savings increased by $45,207,000 in September. Ths compared with a $44,282,000 increase last year and is the highest September savings record. All areas in the state shared in the net savings increase.

Loans closed in September totalled $137,517,000, which is $14,078,000 above the September 1960 lending total. September lending was seasonally down $22,432,000 as compared with the August total of $159,949,000. (B8

Medics Urge Inoculations For Defense

Inoculations are being urged as a first step in plans for civil defense.

Northwest suburban physicians serving as civil defense medical directors in their communities met Tuesday and drafted a plan of immunization.

The physicians stressed the two-fold benefits, pointing out that inoculation is necessary in any specific emergency, not just in event of a nuclear attack.

IMMUNIZATIONS against the following diseases were urged for young and the old:

Smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, typhoid, paratyphoid, influenza and polio. Immunizations in the case of children under 10 should include Whooping Cough.

These inoculations will be carried out by family physicians who have been notified to stock sufficient supplies of materials for these injections, according to a spokesman for the group.

The physicians issued a joint statement stating that without the perfect cooperation of the entire population in the inoculation program, no civil defense effort of any kind is worth while.

PEOPLE emerging from their shelters after an atomic attack will find unburied human and animal bodies, contaminated water, lack of housing facilities and a scarcity of medical assistance from doctors trying to treat a deluge of casualties weakened by radiation.

It is urged that people consult their doctor at this time and annually as to what immunizations are needed.

THOSE WHO have never had previous inoculations are particularly urged to get their immunization program started immediately.

In the event of attack, it is expected that epidemics of commonly present diseases will kill most of the survivors of an atomic attack who have not recently been immunized against these diseases, the CD physicians agreed.

The release states: "Immunization against typhoid and paratyphoid fever is of particular importance in this area because of almost complete absence of cases here in many years and the consecutive complete lack of body defenses against the disease.

IT IS estimated that a complete immunizing program may take as long as from five to six months, the CD physicians reported, stressing the importance of immediate response by the people.

"And no one knows how much time we have," said one doctor.

Feel Tired, Rundown? You May Have 'Mono'

'Kissing Disease' Term Is Not Apt

by MELDA LYNN

The nickname of "kissin' disease" for Mononucleosis has no more basis for title than "kissin' cousins" have to the family tree.

Kissin' students like kissin' cousins, however, are likely to contact "Mono" in the same process of being neighborly.

Since Mono strikes not only kissin' cousins and only kissin' cousins and kissin' students but tiny children and their grandparents as well, physicians frown on the nickname. They say it is a very poor term and implies that the only mode of transmission is through the mouth, by direct contact.

"The nickname almost puts Mono into the venereal disease category," one physician said.

MONO CAN be transmitted in any close contact method, say several northwest suburban doctors. The virus can be transmitted in any way other virus can, through the air or through contact of many kinds.

If a Mono carrier puts his hand over his mouth when he sneezes, the germs remain on his hand. The germs from the hand can be transmitted to anyone or anything that comes in contact with that hand.

If the person who sneezed hands another person a pencil, the pencil can carry the germs. If the receiver of the pencil puts it into his mouth (as many students do) he is likely to contract the disease.

The germ can also be transmitted through a handshake, which in turn transmits the germ to food which can carry the virus into the body.

While Mono is primarily an adolescent disease, doctors are quick to point out that adolescents are more susceptible to most air borne virus diseases.

This is partly due to the faster pace they lead. They are more inclined to follow irregular eating and sleeping habits and are apt to be excessive in extra curricular activities and get tired out.

WHEN THEY gather in large auditoriums or other meeting places, their lowered resistance makes them good prey of the viruses floating around.

Mono, a fairly common "talked about" disease recently, is nothing new. It has been known to the medical profession as glandular fever or Pfeiffers glandular fever ever since Pfeiffer discovered a way to diagnosis the diseases in the 1880's.

Doctors are able to make a fairly accurate diagnosis through a blood smear test. When an abnormal number of monuclear leukocytes are present in the blood, a person is said to have infectious mononucleosis.

The fact that there seem to be more cases of Mono is due to the increased medical processes which make diagnosis easier.

The blood smear test is not given in a routine check, observed a Palatine physician. If the doctor, through his own examination or through a tip from the patient or the parents of a child suspects Mono, then the special blood test is give. This is called a heterophile test.

SINCE Mono has many symptoms in common with other diseases "it is like looking for a needle in a haystack," one physician reported.

The symptoms include extreme tiredness, lassitude, confusion, inability to concentrate, poor appetite, glandular swelling, fever and a definite downward slide in school progress.

All of these symptoms may not be present at first. Usually the first signs are tiredness and a seeming need for abnormally long hours of sleep. A patient may sleep for 12 or 14 hours at one time and get up still feeling tired, physicians report.

Many persons contract Mono and get over it without even knowing they had it, doctors believe. In these cases, it seems that person develops an immunity to Mono.

A mother of a pre-teenage daughter said she thought her daughter was beginning to go into "that lazy teenager" stage when she first observed her tiredness.

THEN SHE noticed her grades were beginning to suffer and that she wanted to sleep an abnormal amount of hours. Since she had always been an active child, the mother really became concerned when the daughter would prefer to sleep rather than get together with the kids for some fun.

A teacher in a northwest suburban elementary school said one of her pupils "just sat down in the middle of the hall one day and announced she was just too tired to walk."

Both of these children were examined and found to have Mono. No one knows how they contracted it.

While Mono has a good prognosis, if the disease attacks the spleen or liver, serious consequences could occur. The spleen, if hit while swollen could become ruptured and cause much pain and danger to life.

If the disease attacks the liver and causes damage to that gland, hepatitus could possibly occur.

HOWEVER, ACCORDING to physicians, a Mono patient can usually be cured, mainly through plenty of rest, good diet and the new medications diet and the new medications always being developed. Sometimes a patient requires hospitalization to insure proper rest. A complete cure takes several months, although the main symptoms may disappear in a week or two.

"The severity of the disease has no relation to the amount of tiredness a patient will have," observed a Palatine physician. "Sometimes when a parent tells a teacher a child has a slight case of Mono, the teacher will think the pupil can do possibly 90 per cent of his normal capacity of work.

"This is not so. A slight case of Mono is just as severe in the inability to work and in the amount of tiredness as a bad case," he said.

Doctors all agree that parents can help their children escape Mono by carrying out the normal rules of good hygiene. They must be cautioned to teach their children not to chew on pencils, drink or eat after anyone or allow themselves to get in a "run down" condition. (B8

Use "agree WITH" when a person follows the preposition. Use "agree TO" when an idea follows the preposition. Thus: "I agree with Mr. Jackson, but I cannot agree to your plan."

Do not say, "I hunted every place for the book." It is better to say, "I hunted EVERYWHERE."

"Medically-proven ingredients" seems a favorite radio and television commercial expression. However, it is grammatically wrong. The correct expression is "medically-PROVED."

Schimming Funeral Thursday

George Schimming, 64, an Arlington Heights man who started business here 34 years ago with a modest, two-pump gas station and rose to the ownership of his own oil company with seven stations, died Monday in Northwest Community hospital.

Schimming, of 216 N. State, Arlington Heights, was owner of the Schimming Oil Co., 111 E. Eastman, Arlington Heights.

HE WAS a charter member of the Arlington Heights Lions club, and a member of the Mt. Prospect and Arlington Heights Chambers of Commerce. He also belonged to the Chicago Oilmen association and the Burning Oil Distributors association.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Jane Legg; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Lauterburg and Mrs. Clara Wolfe; and a brother, Edward.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in St. Peter Lutheran church, 111 W. Olive, Arlington Heights. Burial will be in Memory Gardens cemetery. (AF

Pre-Holiday Social Lull Prompts Weekend Touring

A typical pre-holiday social lull is upon us although Saturday's springlike climate prompted lots of weekend touring. Partywise, only birthdays kept things humming, but since birthday parties are the best hummer-thingers there are it hasn't been completely quiet on the social front.

Although Cliff Peeke's birthday was 'way last Tuesday he waited for that ever-lovin' no-school Saturday to celebrate. Ten buddies found the waiting worthwhile, too, when games, prizes and lots of boy-filling refreshments at 13 S. Ridge officially proclaimed Cliff to be 9 years old.

The dust barely settled before part two of Master Peeke's belated celebration, a family party, began to form. His adult well-wishers included Cliff's grandparents, the J. R. Peekes and Mrs. M. E. Huhnke of Chicago; his godmother and family, the Stanley Poznans of Arlington Heights and his godfather and family, the Richard Strasses, also of Chicago.

Barbara Ann Hey was 5 Monday and she had an afternoon party for seven when the final kindergarten session freed an important segment of her guest list. Neighborhood and school friends had a giggly good time before the family celebration would up the big day at 441 S. Highland.

THE CHILDREN'S matinee at the local theatre Saturday afternoon held part of Ricky Bierma's birthday celebration and his home held the rest. Ricky was 11, so were his six guests and of course the refreshment hour at 15 E. Willow was the most vital part of his birthday. The boys couldn't have survived the matinee laugh-session without it.

Saturday evening Ricky's grandparents, the E. Meyers of Prospect Heights and the senior Mrs. Harry Bierma of Chicago, helped the lad climax his 11th November 11 birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace of Beach Bottom, W. Va., left here Sunday after a 5-day visit with their daughter and family, the John Cornells, 1018 N. Evergreen. Mr. Wallace is a semi-retired, semi-professional magician who was neither retired nor professional during his stay in Arlington Heights.

Thursday morning he performed for village nursery school children and Friday morning entertained 17 children of the N. Evergreen neighborhood. None of the youngsters know what prestidigitation is but they have no doubt that Grandpa Wallace sure is magical.

Friday evening he kept his hand quicker than the eyes of seven Chicago and Wilmette family members who visited in the Cornell home to enjoy a reunion with him and Mrs. Wallace.

MR. AND MRS. Edwin H. Meyer, 123 S. Fernandez, hosted a week ago Sunday at the bridal dinner for their son, Glen, and his then bride-to-be, Miss Nancy Hoppe of Wheeling. The dinner for 20 was among the last of a long series of dinners and pre-nuptial parties occasioned by two recent weddings in the Meyer family. Glen and Miss Hoppe were married Saturday in the Faith Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights and Glen's brother, Dale, was married October 14. Both newlywed couples will make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hawkes, 411 N. Carlyle, returned Friday from a 4-day visit with relatives in Kentucky that followed the weekend in Greencastle, Ind. The Hawkes' daughter, Martha, is a Kappa Kappa Gamma at De Pauw university in Greencastle where fathers had their weekend of glory November 4 and 5.

A few hours after a midnight party for Dads in the sorority house that was only part of the weekend's fun, a well-rested Mrs. Hawkes and her well-honored but weary husband left for Port Royal, Ky. There they visited Mrs. Hawkes' father, B. H. Kidd, then went on to Corvin where Mrs. Hawkes enjoyed a reunion with three aunts, one of whom she hasn't seen since childhood. A visit in Lexington with her mother completed the week's tour.

ANOTHER OF the local Dads recently honored during De Pauw's Fathers day doings is James Buck, 705 S. Vail, welcomed to Greencastle by daughter, Betty. Mrs. Buck accompanied the man of the hour and like all Moms present, didn't mind being in the background while a cute coed dated her husband.

Saturday and Sunday just past were Fathers days at Purdue university where for Henry Wist, 837 S. Vail, the occasion doubled as a birthday celebration. His daughter, Juanita, had Dad all to herself for the coed-sponsored gaiety but let Mom in on the Happy Birthday bit Sunday.

It was also Dad's day over the past weekend at the University of Illinois where another Illini defeat on the football field Saturday afternoon put a slight dent in the coeds' plans for a perfect weekend. Frank Halama, 825 S. Highland, and F. Walter Weiser, 1021 Illinois, motored together to Champaign to be the honored guests of Charlene and Carol who did everything for their father's enjoyment except go out and win the game.

THE WHOLE Swanson family of 901 S. Highland was in Peoria over the weekend when Bradley university coeds, Barbara among them, honored their dads with extra-special attention. Next week about this time Barbara will be holiday-greeting her grandparents, the Clarence Swansons of Hastings, Neb., who arrived here last Thursday for a 2-week visit with their son and his family.

Among other local visitors to Peoria, but not for the weekend and not on the Bradley campus, were the William Pattersons, 1011 S. Dunton. They attended the Spaulding high school—Notre Dame football game Saturday night, for the first time traveling to a game in a "parents' bus." It was gaily reminiscent of their own high school days, but by the time they returned home early Saturday morning a busload of parents knew they were past their teens.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rocca, Paul and Mary Ann, 117 S. Fernandez, spent the day Sunday going to visit Peter, who is in his first year of study for the priesthood in Holy Cross seminary at Notre Dame university.

MR. AND MRS. George B. Wesler, 332 S. Derbyshire, joined Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cabot of Wauwatosa, Wis. in Evanston Saturday to attend the Northwestern - Wisconsin football game.

Mr. and Mrs. George Baumet, 102 S. Derbyshire, will be hosts at a dinner party for 16 guests Sunday.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stahnke, 110 S. Brighton, were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Hunter of Woodstock.

Don Schreiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schreiber, 123 S. Brighton, is still in Northwest Community hospital, slowly recovering from serious injuries received in a fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Oberlin, 201 S. Dryden, gave a dinner party Sunday for 12 guests to celebrate the 13th birthday of their son, Dewey.

MRS. STUART B. Hanckle, 634 S. Belmont, assisted by Mrs. Edward Swanezy, 437 S. Beverly, entertained board members of the Southern Woman's Club of Chicago with a luncheon in her home, Monday. Mrs. Hanckle is hospitality chairman and Mrs. Swanezy is editor of the club publication "Southern Belle Tell."

Members are meeting Thursday at the Crab Apple restaurant in Old Orchard for luncheon and to hear a talk by Charles L. Hamilton of the department of agriculture of California.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, 454 Banbury, are home from a month's vacation in the Orient. They left by plane and travelled over 27,000 miles, during which they visited Tokyo, Singapore, Bangkok and Hongkong.

Harry W. Colburn, 534 Burton, returned last Friday, from a 2-week business trip abroad that took him to Scotland, England and Germany.

FORREST WOLF, 607 S. State, and Jamey, his youngest son, spent the weekend in Urbana visiting son, Bob, a sophomore at the University of Illinois school of business. Bob recently joined Theta Xi fraternity.

While Mr. Wolf was away, Mrs. Wolf remained home and had as guests her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stenzell of Evanston. The Stenzells recently returned from California where he attended Stanford university and after receiving his master's degree in history, returned here to teach history in Palatine high school. Mrs. Stenzell is continuing her studies at Northwestern university.

Mr. and Mrs. August Burnier, 516 E. Fairview, their son, Franz, and Mrs. Burnier's mother, Mrs. Lillie Baugh, were in Urbana for the weekend. While Mr. Burnier and Franz attended the Illinois-Michigan football game, Mrs. Burnier and her mother visited friends and relatives in Urbana and Champaign.

ANOTHER Scarsdale family in Urbana for the Dad's weekend, were the Theodore W. Kleisners, 602 E. Park. They had the added pleasure of watching their daughter, Maryjane, perform in the Dad's day review which was awarded second place. The skit, called "Tree Times," was written and produced by members of the men's and women's residence halls, Garner East and Van Doren.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Banks, 722 Mayfair, were the latter's sister and brother-in-law, the John Hagers of Buffalo, N. Y. and their son, John, a student at Milton college in Milton, Wis.

Alfred Langos Jr., who recently received his pilot's licence, flew in from St. Louis for a surprise weekend visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Wilkins, 751 S. Belmont. Alfred, a senior at Washington university in St. Louis is a member of the St. Louis Flying club and plans to fly home again for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bolas, 630 S. Beverly, were in Greencastle, Ind., last weekend for the Dad's day program at De Pauw university and to visit their son, Bob, a freshman in the school of business administration. Bob has recently pledged Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

MRS. WILLIAM M. Chambers, 520 S. Pine, spent two weeks in Rye, N. Y., visiting her mother, Mrs. Frank Phelps, returning home Saturday with her mother, who will remain here through Christmas time.

Mrs. and Mrs. Edward F. Cockerham, 410 Lincoln, and their children, Doug and Becky, went to Columbus, Ind. for the weekend to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eber Greenlee. Mrs. Cockerham was especially happy to see her father recovering rapidly from recent surgery.

Mr. and Ms. Charles F. Close, 534 Bristol, drove to Iowa City last weekend to visit their daughter, Linda, a sophomore at the University of Iowa, and to attend the Dad's day program, including the Minnesota-Iowa football game.

The Misses Linda and Gail Hardison were hostesses Thursday evening at a party for 40 friends at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown Hardison, 347 Burton.

Linda, who recently marked her 16th birthday, was feted at a "sweet 16" party Monday at Arlington high school, by her classmates.

OUT OF-TOWN guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ballard, 407 E. Rockwell, were Mrs. Ballard's sister and brother-in-law the Tullie Morelands of Anna, Ill., who were here for a week's stay, and coming for a weekend visit were friends from Theyer, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weddle and their daughter, Mary Jane.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Franke, 126 S. Pine, will have their daughter, Mrs. Eakin of Minneapolis, and her young son, Billy, with them for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Eakin, whose husband John, has reported to Fort Lewis, Wash. for a year of duty with the army, plans to remain here with her parents through the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Bertha Buttenob of Albuquerque, N. M., is in Arlington Heights to spend several months visiting her son and family, the M. C. Buttenobs, 310 Bristol.

Mrs. Anthony Mann, 304 E. Fairview, returned to Arlington Heights, this week after a 3-week vacation in Ft. Lauderdale, where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Frye. (A

Board Decides to Push Moving Cement Plant

Schlickman Balks At Site Choice

Over the objections of Trustee Eugene Schlickman, the Arlington Heights village board Monday approved recommendations which, if successfully carried out, will remove operation of the Consumer's ready-mix concrete batch installation on west Northwest hwy. from within

The recommendations were made in a majority report signed by two members of a three-man village board committee appointed to study relocation of the ready-mix operation from its present site to the former village sewage disposal facility.

A minority report taking an opposite view was submitted by Schlickman. Schlickman indicated he believes the former sewage treatment plant would be an appropriate spot for the concrete batch operation.

THE MAJORITY report, signed by Trustees William Moore and Richard Glantz, recommended eviction of the installation from its present site and abolition of this type of business within the village limits.

The village currently is involved in litigation to force the company to discontinue its operation on east Northwest hwy., where officials say it constitutes a traffic hazard.

The village has conducted negotiations with the Consumer Division in regard to relocation to the former sewage plant, but the majority report states that substantial citizenry opposition has been encountered.

PRINCIPAL points enumerated in the report were:

(1) Operation of a batch plant at the Northwest hwy site creates traffic hazards detrimental to the safety and best interests of the village.

(2) Removal of the batching operation from the Northwest hwy. site would be beneficial to the village.

(3) Operation of a batch plant at the sewage disposal site would inevitably necessitate a new vehicular crossing of the Chicago and North Western railroad, or create traffic problems south and west of the site which would be detrimental to the safety and best interests of the village.

(4) Operation of a batch plant anywhere within the corporate limits of the village is an undesirable commercial enterprise.

BASED ON these conclusions, the majority report, presented by Moore, recommended the village press current litigation to force removal of the batch plant from the Northwest hwy. site, cease negotiations for relocation of the facility to the sewage plant, instruct the village administration and police department to enforce all state traffic regulations and applicable village ordinances against the batch operation, and adopt, as a matter of policy, the position that the conduct of a concrete batching operation anywhere within the corporate limits is an undesirable commercial activity.

"The principal point of the majority report to which I must take exception," Schlickman said in his minority report, "is the termination of negotiations with the Consumer company for the purpose of establishing reasonable standards and conditions upon which relocation could be based."

HE SAID relocation would immediately effect the abatement of a generally-recognized safety hazard, and make productive use of village property (the former sewage plant) which for all intents and purposes lies dormant now and will lie dormant for some time to come.

Because of these two factors, Schlickman said, only demonstrated injury or hardship to private property owners and residents should deter the board of trustees from negotiations for relocation.

Schlickman pointed out that the plan commission held a lengthy hearing of the question of rezoning the sewage plant for use by the ready mix firm, and voted 6-1 in favor of the rezoning.

THE SEWAGE plant is located on the south side of the railroad tracks and east Northwest hwy. "The main objection to the relocation is traffic flow and control," Schlickman stated.

"I submit that it could not be anywhere as bad as at present. Furthermore the village has the power to insure that no problems will be created at the proposed location. The latter is possible through general police regulation, contracted terms and establishment of policy and a program for needed street improvements in the immediate area of the sewage disposal site."

Crux of the disagreement was the question of whether such an operation would be desirable anywhere within the village limits. The board decided it would not by a 4 - 1 vote, Schlickman dissenting. (A

GEORGE HARRIS

Comes pretty soon now Thanksgiving, the day that fills us with warm feelings and also fills most of us with turkey. Yet it is a day which we all look forward to, and it leaves us with a feeling of warmth and better relationship towards our fellow Americans.

We, who reside in this country, have so much for which to be thankful that it hardly seems necessary to set aside a day, but it is a good reminder that we live in the greatest country on the face of the universe. Let us be proud of the fact that we are Americans, and let us not forget it each and every day of our lives. With so much turmoil in the world just to know that we are Americans, with love of God and that we have a wonderful commodity, FREEDOM, is the most to be thankful for.

The above may sound corny to many of you, but with other countries trying to undermine us, it will be wise for all of us to remember this Thanksgiving Day that we are AMERICANS, a fact of which we can be justifiably proud.

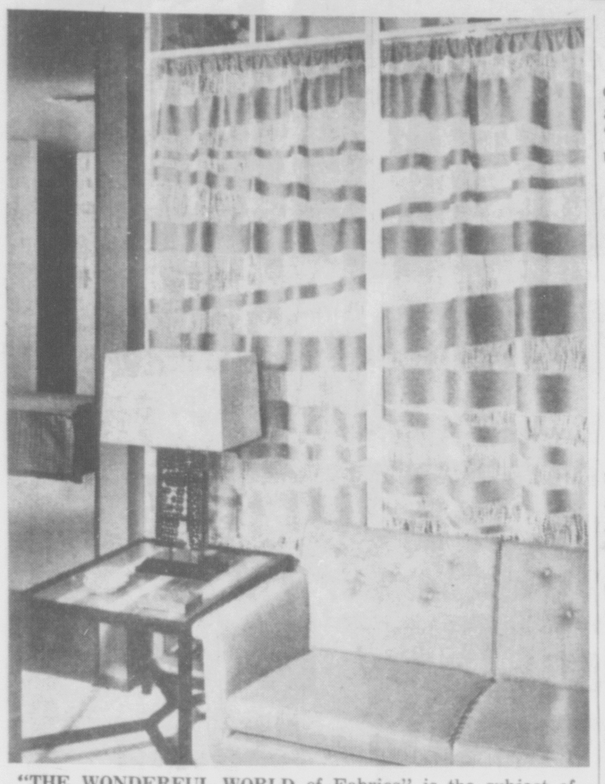
Designer's Shop Set For Fabrics' Display



"THE WONDERFUL WORLD of Fabrics" is the subject of an exhibit at The Designer's Shop in Arlington Heights. The latest in woven fabrics as well as prints are on display. Typical of the headliners being shown in weaves is the diagonal stripe woven casement shown above; it is handwoven of white linen and sand-colored cotton. Contemporary print, below, called "Campo Lindo," is an example of the unusual depth and richness made possible by improved printing processes of today's modern age. Both fabrics are by Jack Lenor Larsen.

By NANCY LADD

Many a tired interior can acquire an entirely new and fresh appearanee with a change of "dress," or new drapery and upholstery fabrics. A weary room can suddenly bloom and look lively again.

This is a more likely possibility than ever before because of the wonderfully diversified window and furniture fabrics available to today's homemaker. Tremendous variety in pattern, color, weave and fiber content—and price range—is ready for the picking.

THIS "Wonderful World of Fabrics" is, in fact, the subject of a current exhibit at the Designer's Shop in the Elms Shopping Center, Arlington Heights, to be held through the first part of December and until 9 on Monday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Dramatic window displays showing some of the more exciting new drapery patterns are on view as well as room settings and decorating vignettes designed to demonstrate the importance of fabric coordination both as to color, fiber, weave and pattern.

Emphasis in the fabric presentation is on contemporary prints such as hand-blocked designs in as many as nine to twelve colors, giving the effect of unusual depth and richness. Also shown are handsome new linen fabrics used for both casements and upholstery—a result of the Scandinavian influence, as well as other "different" materials, all recent arrivals to the home decorating scene, such as all wool and fiberglass for draperies.

"SOME OF THE contemporary fabrics being produced today are so artistic," points out Arthur E. Petersen, Jr., manager, "they are worth framing as wall hangings."

Into this same category are small area rugs, works of art which can be used as wall tapestries, he pointed out, adding that a group of them are included in the current exhibit.

Area Postmasters at Five-Day Convention

Area postmasters William H. Watson of Prospect Heights and Mrs. Virginia Dodge of Arlington Heights recently returned from Denver, Colo., where they had been attending the 57th annual postmaster's convention.

Three thousand postmasters from across the country attended the convention which was sponsored by the National Association of Postmasters of the United States.

Key speaker at the closing banquet which climaxed the five-day proceedings ending October 26 was Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

DAY DEPLORED the tendency of the public to blame the gap between income and outgo in the post office department on the supposed inefficiency, laziness, incompetence or archaic methods of the postal service, according to the report of the Denver Post.

"I came to this post office from a top management position in the world's third largest corporation," said Day. "Against this background I can say unequivocally that postal operations in general are not inefficient, nor do they suffer from lack of attention to competent research in improved methods and management," he continued.

Turning to oft-repeated comparisons between American and European post offices, the postmaster general pointed out that most European systems include nationalized railroads and airlines.

"THE FACTORS of nationalized railroads and airlines, small volume of mail, short distance travel and operation of national telephone and telegraph systems are some of the less obvious differences between our postoffices and those of Europe.

"New York City has only 40,000 employees moving 34 million pieces of mail a day. The entire British postal system has 144,000 employees to move 30 million pieces a day," he stated.

"Does this make a British postal system more efficient than ours? I strongly question such a conclusion, and I am certainly not suggesting we take over American railroads and airlines.

"THIS WOULD neither be wise nor desirable, for free enterprise is the backbone of our economic and political system," said Day. "I am merely pointing out that one cannot compare our postal system with that of other nations without taking into consideration such political differences.

Day appealed to the postmasters of the nation to join the new administration in revitalizing the world's largest civilian organization, it was reported.

"We want to make the postoffice department a model of efficience for other organizations, public or private," he said.

"We can succeed only with your full cooperation and understanding. We know we cannot expect that - nor should we - unless you are permitted to manage your offices with a minimum of interference," he told the postmasters.

IN ADDITION to the speeches and conferences, the postmasters and their wives were entertained with variety shows and dancing in the Hilton Hotel, site of the convention.

Other postmasters belonging to the Northwest chapter who attended the conference were Raymond A. Kennedy, Libertyville; Clifton M. Evans, Waukegan; Robert R. Lutz, Morton Grove; Margaret M. DeCoste, River Grove, and Joseph L. Molidor, Round Lake.

Government Lauds Local Stamp Sale

"An easy way to buy U. S. Savings bonds on the installment plan," was the way Arlington Heights postmaster Virginia Dodge described the U. S. Savings Stamps program.

Mrs. Dodge received a letter this week from the national director of the program, commending the Arlington Heights post office for promotion and sale of savings stamps during the past year.

"IN THESE critical times," the letter stated, "the sale of savings stamps and bonds affords young and old alike an opportunity to help their country as they help themselves.

"To the extent that we can increase our sales, to the same extent do we strengthen the foundations of our national economy, upon which rests our efforts to preserve the peace and promote the general welfare of all people."

Postmaster Dodge reminds the public that savings stamps are on sale at the post office at all times, as well as in the schools on Stamp Day.

One and One Equals Nothing

by ED LANDWEHR

One and one equals two but one antenna plus another one equals nothing.

One fellow thought that if he hooked another antenna that was left on the roof on to his present antenna system, he should have double the value. He got nothing because this kind of situation causes mis-match and actually weakens the signal.

If better antenna signals are wanted, the answer is in better antenna equipment. The chances are that if your present system is two years or older, it is antiquated compared to new equipment of today. Great strides have been taken in this field for pulling better signals into the TV receiver.

Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and let LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights give you an appraisal of your present antenna system. We believe that our experience in this area would give you satisfaction. We'll guarantee it.

Suburban Realtors Bound to National Code of Ethics

"Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

Embodied in the Golden Rule is the standard accepted and adhered to by Realtors when they pledge themselves to conduct their businesses in accordance with the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

In the northwest suburban area, the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, Inc. — headquartered in Des Plaines — represents liaison between local Realtors and the national association.

Doris Kendzie, executive secretary of the suburban board, points out that the Realtors' Code of Ethics is an important part of the business of buying and selling land.

She cites a portion of the Code's Preamble as follows:

"The Realtor is a creator of homes, both urban and rural, and by his activities helps mold the form of his future community, not only in the living of its people, but in its commercial and industrial aspects.

"SUCH FUNCTIONS impose obligations beyond those of ordinary business; they impose grave social responsibilities which the Realtor can meet only by diligent preparation and by dedicating himself as a civic duty to their fulfillment."

The Code of Ethics further provides that "it is the duty of the Realtor to protect the public against fraud, misrepresentation or unethical practices in the real estate field."

The Code, adopted in 1913, obligates Realtors to open and fair dealing with the public and with fellow Realtors. Those who fail to observe the Code's standards are disciplined.

ACCORDING TO Miss Kendzie, the term "Realtor" is not a synonym for "real estate agent."

Realtors are those who are active members of a member board of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Those who do not belong to the national association — and are therefore not bound to the Code of Ethics — are not allowed to use the word "Realtor" in connection with their business titles.

The term Realtor has come to connote competence, fair dealing and high integrity resulting from adherence to a lofty ideal of moral conduct in business relations.

OFFICERS OF the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors are Herbert H. Walbaum, Barrington, president; Arthur C. Kelter, Prospect Heights, vice president; Charles K. Burval, Park Ridge, secretary; Jack V. Keller, Arlington Heights, treasurer.

Directors include M. Edward Smith, Des Plaines; DeWitt M. Purdy, Arlington Heights; Ralph H. Bruns, Arlington Heights; Vesta Bice, Park Ridge; Albert C. Peters, Palatine; John O. McCabe, Park Ridge; Ralph H. Martin, Des Plaines.

SLIGHTLY AWED by all the attention she got, Susan Damiano of Arlington Heights accepted a $50 U.S. Savings bond last week from Vic Beisler, chairman of the village Lions club kiddie parade and balloon contest held last month in connection with the village's 125th anniversary celebration. More than 400 youngsters participated, and cards bearing their names were attached to helium filled balloons. Susan's balloon traveled the farthest, more than 300 miles to Au Gres, Mich., entitling her to the savings bond. Susan is a daughter of Mrs. Fred Damiano, 1120 Pine ct. (A

District 25 Keeps Pace

Rapid Pupil Growth Is Shown In School 'Progress Report'

The usual growth in enrollment (about 10 per cent annually) plus annexation of District 24 (Wilson school) boasted student population in Arlington Heights elementary school district 25 by some 1,479 children since the close of the 1959-60 school year.

In a two-year progress report distributed this week, the board of education said the Oct. 4, 1961, attendance records showed an enrollment of 5,650 in grades kindergarten through eight.

The board said that in spite of this increase, every student is housed in a comfortable classroom with a well-trained teacher. Average class size for the district as a whole is 27 in kindergarten through fifth grades, and 33 in the junior high schools.

To provide instruction for the increased number of students, 59 certificated employees have been added to the staff, along with 15 non-certificated persons such as secretaries and custodians, since the 1959-60 school year.

To provide for expected growth during the next two school years, the district has under construction an addition to the Miner junior high school, and contracts have been let for two elementary schools, Olive and Patton. All three projects will be ready for occupancy next September.

THE ADDITION to the administration building, also currently under construction, will be occupied about January 15, 1962.

Conservative projections of growth in student population indicate that this district will have 2,000 more students within four years, the board reported. It added that due to the willingness of the voters to approve purchase of school sites well in advance of need, the district now has well-located land which will be adequate for buildings needed through the 1964-65 school year.

"Building needs during this period, in addition to those currently under construction, will likely be a third junior high school to house 18 classes, a 7-room school on the south side and possibly an addition to one elementary school on the north side," the board reported.

THE REPORT stated that the staff is giving serious study to future educational practice in an effort to write educational specifications for these buildings. Special consideration will be given during planning of the buildings to audio-visual teaching aids, including television.

A tentative referendum date of October, 1962, has been set to seek approval for these buildings.

In addition to the immediate future — the next three years — the board of education has initiated a study by Jack Childress of Northwestern university, which will attempt to define what lies ahead when and if the district is completely built up.

A STUDY of this kind was completed for District 25 in October of 1958 before the annexation of District 24, and resulted in purchase of four school sites authorized by a referendum of February, 1960.

The rapid building going on in both the extreme north and south ends of the district makes the need for additional sites and buildings seem inevitable, the board said.

"These sites need to be found and purchased very soon to insure that undeveloped land will be available. It is hoped that a proposal in this regard can be ready for voter approval by October, 1962, also." (A

Woods Is 'Proud' Of Record So Far

A brief progress report on the activities of the current administration during its first six months in office was presented Monday night by Village President John G. Woods at a regular meeting of the village board.

Woods told the board he has been proud to have served with the board, and commended it for positive action in a number of areas.

Not necessarily in the order of their importance, the following accomplishments were listed by Woods:

Activated a Civil Defense department; sold the village hall site; improved budgetary procedures; improved board procedures; approved Oakton st. special assessment project; heard and decided 21 zoning petitions.

APPOINTED well-qualified individuals to positions of civic responsibility; annexed Nike base; relocated Highway 53; supported the village's 125th anniversary; instituted a positive program for redevelopment of Arlington Park Manor.

Authorized an engineering report on the storm sewer problem; studied the report thoroughly and set a date for a storm sewer referendum; initiated a reforestation program; approved renewal of favorable garbage disposal contract; improved channels of communication so the public will know the facts on vital matters.

Saturday evening the fathers were taken to a performance by the glee clubs of Notre Dame and the University of Illinois at Huff auditorium. After church services Sunday the dads returned to their homes and the coeds to their studies.

Eastwood Events

It was happy birthday Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Byrne of N. Beverley ave. Their son Brian celebrated his fifth birthday with neighborhood playmates Kim Meyer, Richard and Joanie Coha, Bobby and Jimmy Schwantz, Jack Larsen and Denise Poole.

Susan Luedeking's November 2 birthday, which was honored Sunday, climaxed a busy weekend for the Luedekings. A roller skating party at the local rink was Susie's entertainment for her guests Debbie Kuhlman, Linda Manchee, Suzanne Walter, Leslie Lewis, Darlene McCratic, Lynn Wilke and Susan Hauf. Mrs. Luedeking and Mrs. Manchee chaperoned the girls and enjoyed the skating as much as the youngsters did. Supper at home perfected an afternoon of lots of fun.

Friday night the Luedekings entertained at Eastwood bridge, hosting Herman and Dorothy Raasch, Betty and Matt Cockrell and Esther and Wally Ellertson, who subbed for Lucille and Bob Tatge.

EARLY SATURDAY Bob and Louise left home to attend a brunch at the Evanston Country club prior to the Northwestern-Wisconsin game at Dyche stadium. Dinner at Don the Beachcomber's topped off their evening. And on Sunday Bob and George Farrell attended the Bears' football game, returning home in time to polish off the "leavings" of Susie's birthday party.

Eleven neighbors gathered at Mrs. Charles Laue's home, 1020 E. St. James, Tuesday afternoon for luncheon and to say goodbye to Mrs. Louise Yunker, who lived at 315 N. Dryden for many years. A gift to remember them by and good luck ware extended to Ben and Louise and their children, Peter, Mary Lu and Suzanne, who are now at home at Hi-Hill Farm near Woodstock. Special guests at the party were Mrs. Yunker's mother, Mrs. McGaffrey, who will reside in an apartment on the farm, and Ruth Patton, former Eastwoodite who came from Rockford for the occasion.

Deep in the maze of last week rehearsals are Marie and Ed Murphy of N. Dryden, who are active in the Des Plaines Theatre guild, which is presenting "Mary Stuart" at Rand Park fieldhouse for the next three consecutive weekends. Mr. Murphy is cast as Sir Amias Paulet, while Mrs. Murphy is heading the crew responsible for the elaborate costumes necessary for this period drama.

CONGRATULATIONS are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton P. Meyer of 714 N. Dryden on the birth of their third son, Christopher. Eight - year old Charles and 5-year-old Dean are happy to welcome home their mother and new brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Radosti attended the 32nd annual Dad's Day at Bradley university over the weekend. They were guests of their daughter Lenore's sorority, Delta Zeta, for a buffet luncheon and a songfest given by the pledges in which Lenore participated. After the football game, in which Bradley triumphed over Toledo 28-22, the Radostis and Lenore were guests of Don Moranos at the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity dinner at

Ridge Park–Sherwood

Elmer Carlson, 1711 Oakton, and Larry Fischer, 1021 N. Race, drove to Champaign-Urbana together last weekend for Dad's day at the university. Richard Carlson, a freshman at Illinoise, was rooting just as hard as senior Bill Fischer when the foursome watched Illinois play Michigan last Saturday.

Friday evening Joan and Jim Spiel, 730 N. Harvard, joined friends for dinner at Irelands before going to the Shubert theatre to see "My Fair Lady." Since then Joan has been doing her housework to the tune of "On the Street Where You Live."

Not many Ridge Parkers can say they breakfasted over Ohio and Pennsylvania, but Norma and Gene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, can. They caught a flight out of O'Hare field early Thursday morning for New York, where they spent a full weekend.

Norma has been working with Wayne Brennan on the adoption by our town of a Peruvian village, which prompted her interest in visiting the United Nations. In fact she was fortunate in having lunch in the delegates' dining room at the UN with one of the delegates from Peru and another from Guatamala. She happened to be there the same day Nehru spoke to the United Nations and had the opportunity of seeing him too, as well as Perle Mesta.

Norma and Gene were guests of long-time friends, Nancy and Jack Burton, who live on Long Island. The Burtons feted them at a party Friday night, saving all day Saturday to show them Long Island, including Teddy Roosevelt's grave and home among other places. Saturday the two couples set up the card table for an evening of bridge and the following day did more sightseeing before attending a cocktail party just before the flight back home.

THERE WAS A family party at Lorraine and Vince Cunningham's, 802 N. Harvard, Sunday celebrating Nancy's fifth birthday November 13.

Jane and Al Klein, 1003 N. Kennicott, are the parents of a boy, David Francis, born in St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, Sunday morning. Birth weight was 7 pounds 12 ounces. David has a sister, Karen, 6, and three brothers, Steve, 7, Dan, 3, and Chuck, 2. Grandparents are the Albert Kleins of Blue Island and Mrs. Julia Hepp of Chicago.

To quote Ginnie Read, 1019 N. Kennicott, it was a "wonderful weekend, weatherwise and everything" when she and Bob took Charlie to Alma, Mich. to visit Pris, a freshman at Alma college. They attended a symphony Friday night and a football game Saturday afternoon in which Alma played against Olivet.

Shirley and Jim Garrison, 716 N. Kaspar, had good weather when they drove south last weekend to Johnston City, to see his mother and sister. A trip to grandma's is always a treat for the two little Garrisons, too.

Doris and Cas Nastal, 701 N. Kennicott, Joe and Frank helped her nephew, Steve Macko, celebrate his birthday over the weekend. Steve is the son of the Lester Mackos of Fox River Grove.

FROM SHERWOOD

The Carl Palmers, 1023 W. Burgoyne, combined business and pleasure on their recent 10 day trip south. Over one weekend they drove to Atlanta to see her parents and her sister-in-law who have just moved there. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Attending luncheons and coffees to bid hi and goodbye to various families in the Terrace have kept many busy this week.

A get-acquainted coffee for newcomer Helen Flesch was held last Wednesday morning in the home of Alice Brown, 1413 N. Chicago. On hand to greet the guest of honor were Pierrete Leckie, Betty Cech, Ann Kennedy, Joan Donath and Betty Sorensen. Illness prevented Phyllis Fluhrer from attending.

Friday noon Maisie Sikorske, 1231 N. Race, hosted a farewell luncheon for Pat Kieffer, who will be leaving for their new home in Palatine shortly. Present to toast their departing neighbor were Isabel Nottoli, Margay Wilmot, Pauline Norenberg, Pat Lechelt and former Terrace resident, Marilou Crouch.

Vicki, daughter of Joseph and Betty Badali, 1428 N. Illinois, celebrated her 14th birthday last Thursday evening with a dinner party at the Tally Ho restaurant in Park Ridge. Present, in addition to her parents and brother, John, was Vicki's school friend, Jane Wilson.

LAST FRIDAY Ken and Joan Herrmann, 1443 N. Race, with Kenny, Bob, Tom and Lori, traveled to Kalamazoo to spend the weekend with Joan's brother, the Ted Johnson family.

A welcome is extended to new Terrace residents, Phyliss and Hugh Bredenbeck, 1706 W. Oakton. The Bredenbecks, including Fritz, 2, and Bill, 6 months old, moved here, after a year's stay in Chicago, from Walnut Creek in northern California. Hugh is employed as a detail man in his father's firm, Bredenbeck Products, and both he and Phyllis enjoy their sailboat throughout the summer, as well as skiing in the winter season.

Last Friday night Dick Randle was the guest of honor at a birthday party hosted by his wife, Ruth. In addition to his daughters and son, Janice, Joyce, Carol and William, also present were Dick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Randle of Chicago, and aunt and cousin, Mrs. William Hampton and Miss Carol Hampton, of Barrington.

Shirley Vogtritter, 1208 N. Race, recently attended the Vending Machine exhibition at McCormick Place in Chicago with Julie Mesner of Park Ridge. After the exhibition they had dinner at Trader Vic's in the Palmer House.

A FAREWELL coffee was held Monday afternoon for Jerri Rix, who will be moving from the Terrace shortly. Held in the home of Betty Gumz, 1248 N. Chicago, and co-hosted by Jackie Koenig, the get-together was attended by Shirley Landes, Inge Schluntz, Pat Marcer, Marion Nielsen, Marcy Micek, Adele Yore, Carol Clarkson, Donna Garland and Grace Rogers.

Another party was held for the Rixes last weekend. Hosted by their neighbors, and held in the home of Ralph and Shirley Landes, 1251 N. Chicago, it was a surprise party for Jerri and Bill, who thought they were invited for a quiet game of bridge. Jerri was presented with a corsage and Bill with a bottle of champagne to be opened in their new home. Present were the Joe Koenings, John Schluntzes, Bill Rosses, Bob Gumzes and the Jay Marcers.

Saturday night Patty, daughter of Eugene and Mary Ellen Van de Merkt, 1231 N. Wilke, celebrated her 13th birthday with dinner at the One Horse Shay restaurant in Palatine, and a trip to the movies in Mount Prospect, accompanied by her guest, Linda Lechelt. The following day Patty was guest of honor at a family party, held in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Patterson, Evanston.

AN ANNIVERSARY party, celebrating 10 years of wedded bliss, was held for Bob and Darlene Krug, 1212 N. Race, last Saturday night. Hosted by Darlene's sister and her husband, Nancy and Tom Cardolano of Lake Zurich, the celebrants were toasted with champagne at dinner.

A surprise birthday party was held in honor of Frank Yore last Saturday night. Hosted by George and Carol Clarkson, 1259 N. Chicago, guests included the celebrant and his wife Adele, in addition to Ed and Marion Neilsen.

A welcome is extended to the Lauer family, who moved into 1515 Clarendon this past week. Anita and Fred formerly lived in Park Ridge, and Anita reports that she is interested in music and sewing as hobbies, while Fred, an operating engineer for the Country Service Supply company in Northbrook, enjoys both bowling and hunting. They both are enthusiastic card players.

A new monthly card group was inaugurated last Thursday evening in the home of Darlene Lichtblau, 1239 N. Illinois. Present were members Joyce Anderson, Ruth Broderick, Hazel Lowell, Eileen Sanberg, Judy Zare, Marion Neilsen and Kay Moustakis.

Peter, son of Dieter and Mary Louise Burkhardt, 1507 Clarendon, celebrated his fourth birthday last Tuesday at a luncheon party for his sisters and brothers, Mary Jo, Suzanne, Chris and Curt, and his aunt, Mrs. Louis Reif of Park

FRIENDS AND neighbors of Pat and Elm Lechelt, formerly of 1247 N. Race, are happy to learn their recent move has taken them to a new home in the nearby vicinity of Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

In line with the Lechelts' departure, Pat was honored recently at a luncheon party, hosted by Dorothy Ballard, 1241 N. Race. Guests included Mazie Sikorske, Pauline Norenberg and Pat Kieffer.

The Trowe family, 1240 N. Chicago, entertained Hal's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Sorensen of Rockford, for the weekend. They were joined Sunday afternoon by Hal's brother and wife, the James Sorensens of Rockford, for dinner.

This notice is directed to the original members of the Virginia Terrace Home Owners association. The association has been dissolved for a number of years and now, once again, the problem of what disposition to make of the funds in the treasury has arisen. The books, presently in the care of Alice Brown, 1413 N. Chicago, show a fairly sizeable balance and one of the suggestions made concerning disposition has been to donate the money to the park district with the request that drinking fountains be installed in Virginia Terrace park. Anyone having any comments on the subject are asked to phone Alice at CL 3-4344. (A

Young Dancers Vie For Teenage Title

A fox-trotting pair of Arlington Heights youngsters will try for top honors in their category Saturday night in a dance contest at the Harvest Moon Festival in Chicago Stadium.

Before an expected crowd of more than 22,000 Miss Susan Johnson, 836 N. Mitchell, and Robert Blair, 216 E. Hawthorne, will dance to the music of Stan Kenton in competition with three other teenage couples from the Chicago area.

SUSAN, 13 and Robert, 14, and the three other couples were chosen as finalists at an elimination contest held recently in the Sheraton Towers, Chicago.

The Johnson - Blair dance team's all - star "supporting cast" Saturday night will include television and night club personalities Genevieve, Dinah Shore, Tony Bennett and Dick Shawn. Proceeds of the festival, sponsored by the Chicago Sun-Times, will go to charity. (A

Q. I received a birthday card which had a pretty handkerchief enclosed with it. I failed to write a note of thanks, and my husband claims this was impolite of me. What do you think?

A. I agree with your husband. One should always thank the donor of a gift, no matter how small it may be. That is a mark of refinement.

Q. May a dinner guest ask for a second helping of some dish?

A. Only when with relatives or good friends. Otherwise, a good hostess sees to it that her guests' wishes are fulfilled without their asking.

Q. Would it be proper for me to give a bathrobe to my fiance for his birthday?

A. Since you are engaged to be married, this is quite all right.

I DON'T MISS ANYTHING

Confidentially, the reason I'm always "in the know" on who is doing what when, where, how and why is that I read my newspaper regularly and very thoroughly!

Your quickest, easiest way to get the most complete and accurate knowledge of what is going on in the world (and out of it) is to follow the example of this little lady and read your newspaper thoroughly, thoughtfully. The latest happening across the block . . . the proceedings of the village board . . . the interesting features of the area . . . you can "read all about it" at your own convenience, at any hour of the day or night, at your home, office or on the bus . . . in your newspaper!

Communists Skilled at 'Brainwashing'

Experience of Korea Is Told

by DAN PRIBILSKI

Brainwashing.

That is a term which strikes terror amongst peoples. It means the robbing of the will and the soul of a human being so that the "brainwasher" can control as he pleases.

It is a term which first came into wide use during the Korean war. The Chinese communists were the chief users of what Americans came to know as brainwashing, which is really a means of psychological war.

An expert on brainwashing is Major William Mayer, an Army psychiatrist who has interviewed over 1,000 former American and allied prisoners of war of the Korean conflict.

From his exhaustive interviews, he has come to have an understanding of just what brainwashing is, how it is used, and what its achievements are.

Combatting it, he believes, is perhaps much harder than knowing its techniques.

LAST WEEK, the major outlined the communist technique of brainwashing and what he thought might be an antidote. He spoke at the Flick-Reedy corporation in Bensenville, which has sponsored in connection with the Naval Reserve Assn. and the Navy League of Chicago a series of anti-communist seminars.

"I don't want to oversell the communists," the major said, "but we must realize that they are intelligent and have been very successful in controlling 40 per cent of the world's population better than any other conquerers."

The key word, he said, is "control." The communists do not necessarily convert anyone to communism via brainwashing — they seek means to control with the least resistance yet a maximum of productivity.

This is no small task because any aggression generally meets with resistance in the form of underground movements, sabotage.

Brainwashing is a technique of destroying the will of masses to want to revolt.

According to the major, 7,000 Americans were taken as prisoners of war by the Chinese communists in Korea. Of that number, 3,000 died, not so much because of excessive brutality or hard conditions but because of the lack of the will to live. "Their spirits were gone," the major said.

HE DISAGREED with a common belief among many American writers and spokesmen that the American youth in Korea were softer physically than in former wars.

"They were pretty good men, despite what you may have heard," the major told the audience of more than a thousand at the seminar. "They were as well motivated to fight as soldiers in World War II. And, their morale when captured was high.

"They were not an army of men who had been beaten. They were captured at the height of American successes in Korea."

"They expected the worst," Major Mayer commented about the American POW's. "And they didn't get it.

"Basically, the Chinese wanted to show that they were humanitarian."

He said that the Chinese brainwashing was the testing of convictions and beliefs and their durability.

Over and over again, the communists told the POW's that escape was impossible. When an American POW escaped, he was usually caught, the major said. And he was returned "almost sympathetically."

AS A RESULT, the Chinese did not seem such brutes because physical violence was held to a minimum.

"Of course," the major said, "there was always implicit threats if a POW did not do something.

"And some resistors or those who escaped did disappear," he added, indicating the "implicit threat" idea of captivity. But the Chinese did not ever say that they killed those who "disappeared." This increased fear amongst the POW's, the major commented.

No communications with rest of the world was allowed either, the major said. All knowledge of news came via the captors.

With no overt punishment or brutal aggressors and communications cut off, the idea that "there's nothing to fight" was fostered amongst the prisoners.

NEXT, THE Chinese encouraged the POW's to talk of things they believed in or things familiar with, such as family life, baseball, or anything else that came to mind, but not of a military nature.

Seldom, the major told the audience, did the Chinese ever seek to learn specific military information which allied troops might have. The Chinese were not seeking information as such, except as a means to gain further control over the men's spirits.

"The reactionaries — those who would not cooperate with the Chinese — were for the most part left alone or completely isolated."

There were education courses in history and world affairs. Continually the Chinese told Americans of the social injustices that existed in the United States, particularly injustices of the 19th century. And the good aspect of the "peoples democracies and the United Nations were promoted."

The major stressed that the Chinese never spoke of communism — they seemed to avoid the word.

The Chinese were aware of a psychological fact, the major said, that if a man is uncertain of something, he is not willing to take any special stand. Target of the Chinese was any faith or belief Americans had in their system of government. If they were not sure of their system, they would be less willing to attack the communists.

FROM TALKING with American POW's, the major commented, the majority who did not resist were gripped by "moral uncertainty."

"The uncommitted man is the easiest to exploit," the major said.

Because the Chinese seemed to seek information that would not hurt the United States directly, such as secret military information, the POW's were more willing to collaborate.

As time went on, the POW's even informed on each other, especially "those who would rock the boat." The result: the offender would not be punished though the Chinese did expect the potential trouble-maker to apologize.

POW's then accepted the Chinese requests to write "peace letters" to home. The letter did not hurt anyone, the POW's believed, the major said.

He said that the "naive participation with the communists is much in evidence today in the cold war."

"Today, there are three schools of thought which reflect the POW attitude in Korea."

HE LISTED them as follows:

"1. The 'better red than dead' school.

"2. The unilateral disarmament school.

"3. The concession school to avoid rocking the boat."

The major stressed that the POW experience was as much a learning process for the communists as the West.

He also said that so-called collaboration with the enemy was done by loyal Americans who were inadequately informed.

They were inadequately informed about the true life in a communist state, inadequately informed about their own country, and inadequately grounded in what the major called "first principles" of the United States.

He listed 10 first principles which he paraphrased from the military Code of Conduct, a blueprint for action by POW's.

THE PRINCIPLES are:

1. An American is a part of America.

2. An American has a duty to defend America with his life.

3. A man has free will and is responsible for his decisions and actions.

4. An American will not surrender his freedom or anyone else's, especially to the enemy.

5. Each man has an inherent right of personal freedom and has a duty to keep that right or to fight to restore it.

6. A man cannot compromise his convictions.

7. Loyalty, faith, and trust among individual men is of fundamental importance.

8. Men must act as groups — ready to act as a leader or to follow the lawful directions of superiors.

9. Ideas and the expression of those ideas are of supreme importance.

10. It is important that each individual human being be dedicated to human freedom and that each put his trust in God and country.

The major stressed that the first principles, as he called them, are learned throughout life, not when a man is 20 or 22. They must be taught him early in life and reaffirmed continuously by parents and close friends. The family is most important to continuation of America as a great nation, he said.

He concluded, "Today's problems are basically moral issues, and the solutions available are only in your house."

Arlington Heights: Arlington Heights State Bank, having complied with all the legal requirements, opened, Monday, for business. Cashier, Castle, reports about twenty depositors the first day. The prospects are flattering. The business men appreciate that there will be no exhange charged . . . At A. T. Chidley's Market you can buy the best of everything in the meat line at rock bottom prices, also fish, oysters, vegetables, and a complete line of canned goods, sauer kraut and bottled and bulk pickles, mince meat, etc.: Round steak, 13c lb., Sirloin, 13c lb., Porterhouse steak, 17c lb., Hamburger, 13c lb., Pork Chops, 13c lb., Best Hams, 18c lb., California hams, 13c lb., and Bacon 15c lb. . . . Place your order now with Ferdinand Hansing, if you wish to make your husband or friend a Christmas present of a hair chain. It takes time to do the work . . . Roselle Precht must be getting pious, as he bought the E. P. Mueller home of Mrs. Reusnner and will move over among the saints on Euclid next spring.

Roselle: Wm. Benhart has moved from the Haneman farm in Schaumburg to the Louis Dohn farm south of Roselle. His relatives are much grieved that he did not invite them to his moving bee.

Diekeville: Henry Gathman and family have a new organ and now they will have music on the instrument as well as in their souls. They are a happy family . . . Diekeville is a lively burg every morning while the farmers trade their milk for merchandise . . . The town line road would be much nicer if those short stretches of black dirt had a coat of gravel.

Palatine: Ira Frye's car of lumber ordered seven weeks ago for his livery barn has finally been located at Ashton, Ill., and is expected to arrive here this week. The box social at the Masonic Hall was largely attended last Friday, and all had a jolly time. A curtain was strung across the room, and the ladies placing their feet beneath the same, were sold at auction to the highest bidder. It was not until the sale was over that each gentleman discovered who his prize was and what delicacies had been prepared for them by his lady.

50 Years Ago—Nov. 17, 1911

Roselle Rumbles: Carl Trost improved his property by building a fine chicken stable.

Itasca: Joint action should certainly be taken by the villages along the line to restore the noon train and ask the company to increase the number of trains instead of taking them off.

Bensenville Beatitudes: Gilbert Franzen brought home 2 prairie chickens Sunday . . . Misses Matie Schoppe and Alma Baumgartner were to Chicago to see Santa Claus.

Arlington Heights: The year 1911 will go down in history as one of eccentric seasons and sudden changes . . . Advertisement: Organ wanted for use of 8th Grade Schoolroom from now until after the holidays . . . There are several pieces of old plank sidewalks in town in bad condition. Owners are hereby notified to repair same immediately as such walks are dangerous and owners are liable for damages in case of accident. Henry Kelling, Street Commissioner . . . The Volunteer Fire Department celebrated the 17th anniversary of their organization with a stag party and oyster supper at the Village Hall Monday night Nov. 11.

Palatine: The express rate per hundred from Chicago to Palatine has been 40 cents since the first of October . . . Arlington Heights: Five Arlington public buildings hit by construction delays—The new gym and addition to Arlington High School will not be completed for at least four more months; The Illinois Bell Telephone building is probably the only building proceeding as scheduled; Construction of the new 11-room school at Dryden and Rockwell was started early this week, to be completed by June 1952; Work on the new St. James church is moving along slowly; Arlington Heights library should be completed by the middle of January; Work on the foundation of the addition to the Presbyterian church on North Dunton has been completed, but actual construction of the addition will not commence until spring; An addition to the Lutheran school, a gym and basement rooms for organizational meetings was started last August, it is hoped that it will be completed by next September.

Palatine: From "Tales of the Street" by T. C. Hart: "It's been quite a spell of weather for late fall, the worst in fact in the memory of the oldest old timers. Everything and everyone connected with forecasting has been wrong. It seems the ember days, the corn husks, the squirrels, the muskrats, and the meteorologists all took it on the chin when that severe winter weather came roaring in so early in November and stayed so long. Leaves weren't raked, farmers didn't have corn harvested, the truck growers didn't have all the carrots and other root crops out of the ground, autoists didn't have anti-freeze in their cars, the rush for caps, overshoes, gloves, and other winter clothing surpassed all records. It's still fall, you know, and the mild prediction of weather casters may still come to pass.

Palatine: The High School addition occupancy delayed until September 1952. Work on the addition to the Palatine township high school has proceeded at a snail's pace the past month, and there seems to be little chance of permanent occupancy in the near future.

Cloverdale: One of the oldest business houses in north DuPage county this week takes another big step along the road of progress with the formal announcement that the Tedrahn store will become a modern self-service food mart, and will celebrate its 65th anniversary this Saturday and during the coming week. It was founded in 1885 when Grover Cleveland was beginning his first term, and the store has passed into the hands of a third generation, altho Mrs. Tedrahn still takes an active interest in the firm's affairs.

"Forced retirement is a good thing, psychologically, if it impresses a man or woman with the truth that he or she must learn to adapt to change . . ."

(This is the view of an expert on retirement who has been watching the pattern of it for ten years. It is a view that many industries hold and one they use to justify their compulsory retirement policies at 65 . . . if a man knows he must retire at 65 he'll prepare; if he doesn't know he won't.)

"But," continued the expert, "when people, having made the initial adjustment to retirement, get to thinking that the problem is solved once and for all, many of them are in for a rude awakening later on . . . because retirement is apt to be only the first of the later-life adjustments a man and his wife may have to make."

(Retirement training programs and counseling services seldom get beyond the initial adjustment: how to collect the Social Security, where to learn a hobby, a road map to St. Petersburg, etc.)

"Even those couples who approach retirement confidently and enjoy the planning and adventure it entails may overlook or fail to face the further upheavals that older age inevitably brings . . ."

(The average couple planning retirement plan for the first six months. Everything beyond that is hazy.)

"Those who buy farms and businesses," the expert continued, "may find themselves able to work at 65, but unable to work later on . . ."

(Those who buy farms at 65 seem particularly blind to the future. Milking a cow twice a day can become an intolerable chore, and farming a field is a muscle job. Those who buy businesses seem to fare better. They can close the doors for a few days if the rheumatism acts up and all they lose is a few sales. Also a business can be sold easier than an old man's farm.)

"Those who plan to keep two places of residence may find, as they move on beyond 65 that they can no longer make semi-annual trips between them . . ."

(Those who hold to their old homes as they venture south to buy new ones — which is a smart thing to do — usually dispose of one home or the other in two to three years, because the traveling becomes too difficult for sure, but also because in that length of time they can know which home they prefer.)

"One piece of advice I would like to pass on to those who are retiring is to be sure that any property they buy can be readily sold without a serious loss in case it becomes necessary to abandon it . . ."

(It is common knowledge that if you want to buy a retirement home dirt cheap you should look up the wife of a retired man who bought one — and who has just died.)

Area Universalists Study Eastern Orthodox Church

Milan Vodick, continuing Countryside's series on religions of the world, will draw from his own family background in the Serbian branch of the Eastern Orthodox church of which there are 17 branches. He will speak on the history, development, philosophy and present day status in world society of this religious body, play a recording of typical religious music and show an heirloom religious painting.

Vodick, vice-chairman of Countryside Fellowship, is the grandson of one of the first missionary priests to come to this country from Serbia. His great-grandfather was a famous Icon painter.

COUNTRYSIDE Fellowship is a liberal religious society which seeks to learn the truth that is in all the religions of the world. It is less interested in the specific doctrines of these religions than in the general religious and moral principles, such as the "golden rule," which is approximated in almost every religion.

Countryside Fellowship meets at 10:45 Sunday mornings at the meeting house on Ela rd. just south of Algonquin rd. Classes for children of all ages meet at the same time.

FEPC Chief-Elect Explains His Stand

Faces Second Senate Quiz

by JIM DAVIES

"I don't consider myself a crusader; in fact, I know I'm not one. I just happen to feel it's dead wrong to distinguish between people on the general grounds of their skin color."

Speaking was 38-year-old Charles W. Gray of Prospect Heights, the man Gov. Otto Kerner selected to head the new state Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC).

As this is being written, the clean-cut, crew-cut chief of industrial relations for Bell and Howell is not certain if he will ever get the chance to help open more doors of opportunity to members of minority groups.

ALTHOUGH already approved for the post by the State Senate executive committee, a petulant, pouting, GOP-controlled Senate voted along party lines last week to recall Gray before the executive committee because of Gray's critical comments concerning a recent committee hearing.

He was scheduled to confront the committee yesterday (Wednesday).

"I really don't know what they will ask me," Gray said earlier in the week. "I suppose they'll want me to apologize for criticizing the way the committee handled the hearing on the appointment of Mr. Dickerson to the commission."

The committee, also GOP-controlled and voting along party lines, refused to approve the appointment of Earl B. Dickerson, a 70-year-old Chicago Negro leader. Gray, who attended the hearing, was quoted as terming it a "travesty."

"IT WAS an accurate quote," Gray said. "The hearing definitely was unfair. I don't believe it was the kind of thing judicious men seeking a fair outcome would have done."

The committee refused to approve Dickerson's appointment because he had in the past attached himself to some causes which also were taken up by pinkish groups, such as the Scottsboro case.

"This was the first time I had ever been to a legislative hearing," Gray said. "I was amazed. I just wasn't prepared for the way the committee handled the hearing and for the credence it gave the testimony of the two hostile witnesses, who had no real facts to support their views."

ONE OF the hostile witnesses represented the Illinois Manufacturers association, which has tried to spike FEPC legislation from the beginning.

Discussing the recent chain of events which has effectively delayed FEPC progress and thrown an essentially non-political matter into the political arena, Gray speaks fluently in a moderate tone of voice reflecting little zealous emotion, but carrying a firm ring of conviction.

"I didn't seek out this appointment," Gray said, "but I'm very happy to serve on the commission. I think the Governor's selection of commission members was excellent, and the appointment of Mr. Dickerson would have capped a fine and remarkable career for him; it's very disappointing to me not to have him on the committee."

GRAY'S own career includes a hitch in the Navy, college, a stint as director of economic projects at the University of Chicago's industrial relations center, and prior service on the faculty of Indiana university. In 1957 he joined Bell and Howell.

"I don't really know how I got so involved in this problem of equal employment opportunity," Gray mused. The answer probably goes back to his youth.

"I was raised in a little downstate town," Gray says. "Watseka was primarily a farming community, but oddly enough, we had two or three Negro students in classes. None of us ever gave the color question a thought. To us, they were just other students."

"The first time I was aware of the Negro question was when we were ready to graduate," Gray continued. "It was a custom for the graduating class to have pictures taken which would be put on display in a store window.

"I REMEMBER for some reason it was my responsibility to see that everyone had his picture taken. The Negro girl who was a member of our class was the only one who hadn't turned in a picture, so I told her that if it was a question of money, the class treasury could pay for her picture.

"She said it wasn't a matter of money—she just didn't want to spoil things for the rest of the class."

Gray said he was shocked, that no one had ever brought up the matter of race or looked down on the girl. But he was unable to convince her that they wanted her picture on display along with the rest of the class.

"In her own mind," Gray said "she was bothered by the color question, and I think this is the first time I became aware of the Negro's problem."

GRAY SAID that when he went away to college at the University of Colorado and took part in the bull sessions common to freshman dormitories everywhere, he found out there were Negroes and Jews and other minority members, that they had some characteristics which set them apart, and that other people treated them differently.

"There were a number of Texans there," Gray said, "and I heard how they talked about the Negro and Mexicans and how they treated them, and I didn't believe it was right. I just happen to feel it's dead wrong to distinguish between people on the general grounds of their skin color."

Gray is aware that no amount of legislation can solve the Negro's problems, but believes legislation can aid in the task. As for the FEPC specifically, he believes its most important present task is removing employment barriers so the Negro will have some incentive to get an education and equip himself to handle responsible and skilled jobs.

THREE THINGS, Gray believes, are keeping the Negro from continuing his education. One is the unfavorable economic status of the average Negro family, which often pressures a Negro youth into dropping from school to get a job. Another is the belief that the subjects he is being taught in school are of no use to him.

The third influence is his attitude. "If I get an education I'll still be discriminated against because of my color and won't be able to get a good job," the Negro says to himself, "so why bother."

"Of these three influences, I'm inclined to say that number three is the most important," Gray says. "Given FEPC then, it is our job to see that this deterrent is destroyed by removing the discrimination barrier so a Negro will have some assurance that if he qualifies himself for a good job, he'll have a fair chance to get one."

AT BELL AND Howell, Gray has seen the effect of fair employment practices, and is enthusiastic. The company now has Negro group leaders and in three or four months probably will have a Negro supervisor. Some time ago they had a Negro optical designer, a highly skilled employe.

"Not too long ago we hired our first Negro secretary," Gray says. "We had to wait a long time before we found a Negro girl who was qualified, but as soon as we did we hired her. I've been told that if there were 2,000 qualified Negro secretaries available, they could be placed tomorrow."

Gray said the most frequent argument against the FEPC is that the scarcity of skilled Negro workers will force an employer to hire less qualified people, or face charges of discrimination.

"There is no possibility of this under the Illinois law," Gray says firmly. "The employer is given substantial protection in the law, and there is nothing to prevent him, given the choice between a Negro and a white of equal qualifications, from hiring the white."

Gray said there also is a basis for employer protection in the history of FEPC legislation in other states. Where such legislation has been in effect, it is found that more than 90 per cent of the cases brought to the commission's attention are settled by conciliation and negotiation and never reach the courts.

"THIS HEARTENS me," Gray said, "because it indicates we won't be tied up in court all the time — why in New York it was seven years after fair employment legislation was passed before they had a court case."

"It seems to me the law can work," he adds, "if we educate the public, the employers and minority groups of their rights, and if we work toward the long range goal of encouraging Negroes to get a good education. My major concern at this point is the misunderstanding by employers of the law, and of the men who will be appointed to this commission."

Gray said he can't conceive that the men the governor appointed would have acted in a cavalier fashion, or pressed cases in court when it wasn't absolutely necessary.

"This hasn't happened elsewhere, and I can't believe we're so much different in Illinois that it would happen here," he says.

THE REJECTION of Dickerson obviously rankled Gray, who had never met Dickerson before the hearing.

"I came to know him at a time of tension and have the greatest respect for him," Gray said. "When considering his past association, you should bear in mind the kind of man Mr. Dickerson has been all his life — he's intelligent, a fighter, a man who probably would seek out causes and ways to better the Negro's life."

Gray said it isn't unusual that Dickerson may have worked for some of the same causes to which the communists also attached themselves. The Negro is ill-treated, he said, and has been put upon by the communist groups who think they can work this ill-treatment to their own advantage.

"There are 19 million Negroes in this country and this is a substantial number of citizens," Gray said. "Because of their treatment, you might think they would be susceptible to communist propaganda, but they haven't been, they've steered clear from communist groups."

It's been well demonstrated, Gray added, that Negroes believe in our political system and our way of life.

"All they ask is to be a part of it."

WITHOUT THE recent controversy stemming from the executive committee's rejection of Dickerson and Ralph L. Helstein of Chicago, international president of the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers union, the FEPC already would have begun its work.

"I won't speculate on the motives of the senators who have rejected these two appointments," Gray said, "but the effect of their activities has been to hurt the FEPC. We now have divided camps and we aren't even a commission yet."

Gray said the fact the law was passed means that the majority of the legislators do not look upon FEPC unfavorably.

"I believe — I have to believe — that the vast majority of the employers in the state want to comply with the law," Gray said. "This controversy has hurt because now some employers who had viewed FEPC with an open mind may resent it. And it's tended to solidify what opposition there was."

WHEN THE commission finally is a reality and begins arbitrating complaints, Gray believes even employers who have doubts about the wisdom of the law will be in for a pleasant surprise.

"And if we do remove the employment barrier, and the Negro then doesn't educate himself and qualify himself for a skilled job, there's nothing more we can do. At least we will have tried." (A14

No Worries!

Illinois residents have no need to get alarmed about the fallout in water, according to a state official of the Illinois Public Health department.

Verdun Randolph, assistant chief sanitary engineer, said that water samples taken from throughout the state last month show very low radioactive count.

HE STATED that his office had been deluged with letters and calls from residents inquiring about radiation in water.

Randolph said the count was from 0 to 11 micro microcuries of radiation per liter, which is a very low amount of radioactive material.

He said that it would take from 20 to 70 micro microcuries of radio active material before the water would become a health menace. (A14

OFTEN MISUSED

Do not say, "Her last letter said that she was coming." This implies that it is the LAST letter she will ever write. Instead, say, "Her LATEST letter."

Distinguish between THEREFORE (for that reason; because of that) and THEREFOR (for that; for it). Thus: "Having been acquitted of the charge, he was, therefore, released." "Five years' imprisonment is the punishment therefor."

The preferred expression is "TOWARD the house," rather than "TOWARDS the house."

Stress' Conventional' Weapons

Newsman Sees Late Models

The United States, for the last time, will enter a war late.

The way the Detroit "Arsenal of Democracy" is humming, U.S. military leaders plan to be totally ready in case of another war.

In fact, present production of armor in Detroit gives some credence to statements of many that we are already at war, technically speaking.

And it adds mockery to the old cry that World War I "was the war to end all wars," and bitter truth that perhaps World War I was actually the beginning of a century of conflict and turmoil, death and destruction.

This is what might best be deduced from the report of Wallace Grace, athletic director of Arlington high school, who took part in a tour for newsmen of Ordnance Tank - Automotive Command activities in Detroit October 26 at the invitation of the U. S. Army.

GRACE ATTENDED in behalf of Paddock Publications.

The Detroit arsenal of OTAC is called the headquarters for "free world" wheeled and tracked weapons systems.

Grace quoted Brig. Gen. Fred Thorlin, chief of OTAC, with the statement that in the event of another war, the United States would be there at the outset and would never again allow another nation to be more prepared than this country, as Hitler's Germany was in the last war.

Main purpose of the tour, which was attended by about 60 newsmen from throughout the country, evidently was to show that the administration of President Kennedy was in fact re-emphasizing conventional weapons in the U.S. defense program.

Under the Eisenhower administration, Grace pointed out, the emphasis had been placed solely on atomic weapons, air and missile might.

The budget of OTAC has been increased from $700 million during the last fiscal year to $1,200 billion this fiscal year, Grace reported the OTAC commanders as announcing.

IT WAS also pointed out that the budget of the ordnance tank command even exceeds that of the missile production command, which is about $1 billion.

Production of the new M-60 tanks and M-151 Mutt (replacing the old Jeep) were shown to the newsmen, as well as production of the older M-195 and M-196 tanks.

In addition, hints were dropped concerning another new tank still in the experimental stage XM-104, which can be parachuted down from a plane.

Grace also reported that Detroit plants have considerable "lay-away" space for emergency war production, space machines and assembly lines that can be thrown into full war production at a moment's notice.

Perhaps the most heartening knowledge gained from the tour —besides confidence in U.S. defenses — was the OTAC claim that its engineers and research personnel have, in the course of producing military products, made many discoveries applicable to peace-time use.

ARMY ENGINEERS have either developed or aided in the development of automatic automobile transmissions, synthetic rubber tires, all-weather lubricants, dry batteries, air-cooled engines, improved engine fuels, independent suspension systems for vehicles, and have adapted aluminum to more widespread use.

Also, they have been responsible for advances in television and X-ray techniques.

According to Grace, OTAC has contracts to produce about 90,000 military vehicles for the U.S. and its allies.

The ordnance command includes about 5,000 people and has about 1,000,000 vehicles, already scattered around the world, according to army reports. About 100 different types of vehicles, from jeeps to tanks, are included in the fleet.

Its budget makes it about the 32nd largest business in the country.

The M-151 Mutt is being assembled by the Ford Motor Co. at Livonia, Mich., and about 1,157 plants in 19 states supply parts for the vehicle. The contract was awarded in 1959, and the first mutt came off the assembly line September 16, 1960.

A LIGHT version of the mutt can be dropped by parachute from a plane, and the heaviest mutt, 2350 pounds, is 660 pounds lighter than the old jeep. It can be driven through water five feet deep with a special attachment, and through 34 inches of water with its regular equipment.

The same gears drive both the front and rear wheels, and it can travel 300 miles on a tank of gas.

The M-60 tank is being produced by the Chrysler Corp. in its Detroit tank plant. It weighs about 50 tons, has a four-man crew and heavy and light machine guns as well as a 105 millimeter gun.

Power is supplied by a 750 horsepower diesel engine which propels it at about 30 miles per hour. Cost per tank was given at $164,000.

The XM-104 experimental tank will be parachutable or can be carried by helicopter. It weighs only about 6,200 pounds. It operates only for a short length of time and is for quick striking power. It has a crew of four.

The M-195 tank is a 42,000-pound, aluminum-armored, diesel-powered vehicle with a 105 millimeter gun. The M-196 has the same chassis but more armor. It weighs 47,000 pounds and has a 155 millimeter howitzer. (A-14

UNITED STATES READINESS in case of another war is typified by the above new 50-ton M-60 tank now coming off assembly lines in Detroit. It epitomizes President Kennedy's emphasis on conventional weapons as well as missile and atom bombs.

SPACE AGE EQUIVALENT of the well-known military jeep is the above M-151 mutt. It can operate at temperatures from 65 degrees below zero to 125 degrees above. Its stepped up production is part of the new emphasis on conventional weapons.

Vacation Paradise

Hawaiian Holiday Is Beachcomber's Haven

WAIKIKI BEACH is a playground with all equipment and facilities to keep visitors busy from dawn to sunset, every day of the week. Surfing is riding the waves standing on a board, outrigger canoeing is skimming the waves — lazy man style, water skiing is available at the lagoon by the Hawaiian Village hotel, fishing from the surf off coral shallows or from lava ledges, catamarans, those sleek twin hulled sailing craft, are just a few of the aquatic delights waiting for members of Paddock Publications' Hawaiian Holiday tour March 9.

If you'd rather beachcomb than work, chances are you have a mole on your instep. Or so the ancient Hawaiians believed. Maybe you'd rather beachcomb than work even if you don't have a mole on your instep.

If you want to find out, join Paddock Publications' second "Hawaiian Holiday" for a two-week luxury tour of the Paradise Islands.

Leaving the ice and snow behind next March 9, board the United jet at O'Hare field and be whisked to the Golden Gate city of San Francisco. And thence to that most fascinating city, Honolulu.

ARE YOU in a mood for fun out where the worries of the world are submerged by a way of life that spells good living, spiced with more than liberal amounts of laughter? Hawaii is a natural vacation paradise, furnished with every modern comfort and luxury. The perpetual shirtsleeves weather, brilliant year-round fantasia of flowers, spectacular vistas of shimmering seas, shores and mountains, all spell "this is vacationland supreme."

Landing in Honolulu, the visitor who is greeted by a bevy of hula dancers, is usually favorably impressed by these dark-skinned, attractive girls in colorful costumes. According to Stu and Mary Paddock, host and hostess for the tours, favorably impressed is putting it too mildly. "Visitors are practically pop-eyed and grinning from ear to ear at the sight of this loveliest and most gracious traditional greeting."

In this mood of delight, tour members will then be transported to that curving stretch of sand known as Waikiki and the Hilton Hawaiian Village. Old Hawaii is recreated in the Polynesian atmosphere of the Hawaiian Village Hotels. With 20 acres of tropical gardens in a South Sea setting, this is a development of Waikiki's finest beach.

ALONG THIS famous beach some of the finest sun-basking in the world is to be had. Air temperatures range from the mid-70's to the mid-80's the year round. Water temperatures are approximately the same. The lazy pillows of surf that roll up to the sand provide some of the best surfriding in the world.

Paddock Publications' "Hawaiian Holiday" has thoughtfully left plenty of free time for lolling or for visiting the exotic shops and restaurants that line Kalakaua Avenue. When the embryonic suntan is beginning to burn just a wee bit is the time to grab the camera and start a stroll down this famous street. With frequent stops such as the International Market where, high up in a huge Banyan tree, sits the world's smallest restaurant. Known as the Honeymoon restaurant, it seats two people and also furnishes leg room to a radio studio. Doing the avenue and really doing it right will take more than one day.

These are just a few of the delights being offered by Paddock's tour which offers luxury accommodations at economy prices, $924 per person based on double occupancy. This includes all air transportation both overseas and inter-island, hotel accommodations, baggage tips, sight-seeing trips and certain meals such as Japanese Tea House dinner, Luau, and all meals while on the outer islands. Included also are cocktails and dinner at San Francisco.

For further details concerning the tour write "Hawaiian Holiday," c/o Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell st., Arlington Heights, Ill. (A14

Bell System Kicks Off New TV Program

What will it be like for the first American when he orbits the world?

A minute-by-minute report, using actual films, recordings and statements made during previous rocket flights, will simulate a manned orbit in a special to be televised by WNBQ channel 5, 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 24.

The program will be the first of a three-part "Threshold" series sponsored by the Bell System in cooperation with NBC-TV news. The series will explore America's scientific plans and accomplishments in the space age.

"THIS PROGRAM will be a kind of diary of the many participants," said Robert Bendick, producer of the program. "Its point of view: A man in orbit is really not alone."

At each significant point in the flight, the picture will switch to the people most directly concerned with that critical instant, showing the preparation and planning that anticipated that moment.

The second and third parts of the series, to be televised early next year, will show some of the other thresholds of science — the possibility of a military base on the moon, the operation of the Tiros weather satellite and the role it plays in hurricane hunting, the search of the bottom of the seas, and Project Mohole, the plan to bore through the earth's crust. Area Witnesses End Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Palatine, Bensenville and Des Plaines congregations returned this week from their three-day assembly held at Kelvyn Park high school, Chicago. They were among the 1,795 persons who filled the auditorium Sunday to hear the main talk, "Uniting Men in a Split-Up World."

Speaking for the northwest suburban congregations, David Conrad, Palatine, quoted R. L. Anderson, district supervisor for the Witnesses, as saying, "Never has mankind needed unity more than now. The present east-west tensions, heightened by continued nuclear experimentation, make world unity a must for our generation."

Forty-two new ministers were immersed at the Saturday afternoon baptism services. Anderson reminded the baptismal candidates that, "Jehovah's Witnesses copy the example of Christ Jesus in the matter of water baptism." (A-14

Square Dance Club News

Dorothy Meyer — CLearbrook 3-2298

SWINGIN' SQUARES

To honor the bird who gets his next Thursday the Swingin' Squares pre-Thanksgiving dance Saturday night will be designated "The Turkey Trot." In addition to having a fine evening's entertainment one couple will also trot home with its Thanksgiving turkey. Added attractions include a trio of songs by a quartet of Sweet Adelines who call themselves the Country Chords. They're under the direction of Mrs. William K. Kline and have been making sweet music for several local organizations lately.

During the round dance instruction period that precedes the square dancing, members and guests will workshop "Clarinet Capers." Original plans were to continue with "Hoop de do Polka" another night but club members are performing this dance like old pros and are anxious to tackle a new one. The two old pros responsible for everyone's mastery of each new round are club caller Don Finfrock and his wife, Kay.

THE SWINGIN' Squares are still asking for ideas for a club banner which they hope to have ready for display at the December 15 dance. All members and guests are urged to submit their designs on paper to a club officer at Saturday night's Turkey Trot. Selection of the banner to be displayed at all club dances will be by popular vote at the Swingin' Squares December 1 dance.

One of the best-attended dances last season was a January hoe-down designed as the "old-timers dance." Many couples came out who hadn't attended a dance in several years; they quite obviously enjoyed themselves and some made square dancing a regular thing once again. This was precisely what club officers had hoped for in planning the dance.

ONCE AGAIN, in the hope of getting other ex-square dancers back in the fold, the Swingin' Squares are having an Old-Timers Dance. It will be December 1 and everyone is urged to bring old-timers of all ages to the dance so that they'll re-discover what fun square dancing can be.

Club dances are held the first and third Friday nights of every month in Recreation Park field house, 500 E. Miner, Arlington Heights. Round dance instruction from 8 to 8:30 precedes the square dancing and a refreshment and social hour begins at 11 o'clock. Don Finfrock is club caller. Guests are welcome at all Swingin' Squares dances.

WOODSHED WHIRLERS

Saturday night's the night for fun in Ingleside where the Woodshed Whirlers whirl in Big Hollow school every first and third Saturday nights of each month. The school is at the junction of routes 12 and 134 and everybody's welcome to join the members for a session with caller Johnny Toth.

Glen and Elaine Dolmar teach round dances for a half hour before the square dancing starts at 8:30, and they extend an invitation to "dance a round with Glen and Elaine."

The Dolmars also teach and workshop rounds the second and fourth Sundays of each month, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the savings and loan building at 202 Center in Grayslake. Everyone's welcome.

DUDES AND DOLLS

Tomorrow night's pre-holiday whirl in Schroeder Memorial Park, Broadview, will have surprise entertainment for everyone and a turkey for one couple. This dance is open only to members and their invited guests, although the club occasionally has open-to-the-public sessions.

Club officers have already set the date for the main welcome-everybody event of next year, their Jamborama VII. They urge everyone to mark Saturday, March, 31, as a red letter day, 8:30 p.m. as the magic hour. Although the location will have to be announced at a later date, the committee has the essential ingredients of the dance, the callers, all lined up. Bill Clarke, Walt Niezabitowski, Bill Shymkus and Doc Heimbach will join forces to make the last day of March one of the biggest of the new year. More details later. (A14

For Great Lakes

Kerner Meets On Diversion

A proposal that additional inflows to the waters of the Great Lakes might be achieved from outside the Great Lakes watershed was made by Gov. Otto Kerner last Thursday, Nov. 9, before the Great Lakes Commission meeting in the Palmer House. Pointing out that great quantities of water are moving into the wastes of the Hudson Bay area, he suggested that this movement might be reversed and the water diverted to the Great Lakes. Such an engineering feat, he added, would be one of the greatest undertakings on this continent.

THE HIGH-LEVEL two-day conference of interested persons from the Great Lakes states and provinces of Quebec and Ontario in Canada is making a comprehensive survey of present and future water requirements of the region.

"The water of the Great Lakes must be dealt with as a common inheritance, not only of the Great Lakes states, but of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec — and beyond those states and provinces we have a further responsibility to the people of the United States and Canada," Kerner said.

"It seems eminently sensible for us to attempt to add to our bountiful supply which, despite its abundance, is still short of the growing needs of our people—needs that will increase for all of us as our population and our industrial development continue to grow.

"WE ARE, I THINK, all agreed that we cannot achieve efficient, equitable management of our common water resources by lawsuit. Some common managerial device, with a set of agreed rules and standards, and possessed of the necessary capabilities for effective action, is a goal toward which we should be working.

"We would like to keep the management of this common resource as close to the people and as much in the hands of the provinces and the states as possible.

"It is a real encouragement," he said, "that we are able to make the significant forward progress that this meeting symbolizes."

Progress Okay, But . . .

Not Easy to Sell Fallout Shelter Concept: CD Boss

Although it has encountered definite resistance and apathy from some Arlington Heights citizens, the village's new Civil Defense department has managed to attract 144 people into its ranks, exclusive of city employees and doctors.

In a progress report made to the village board Monday night, Wallace Daughtry, village CD director, said the department has been fortunate in attracting a number of hard working, clear thinking people into the organization.

"Selling the fallout shelter concept, as with any safety program or safety merchandise, is no easy task," Daughtry said. "It is surprising to most of our workers to find how much real resistance exists.

"We find it hard to reconcile how such vast numbers of families earning above average salaries and having above average intelligence and probably carrying an above average amount of life insurance, can fail to realize the importance of fallout shelters."

DAUGHTRY SAID he now has 125 volunteer workers in the warden services division under the direction of B. T. Clark, chief warden. About half of the neighborhoods of Arlington Heights are accounted for, and another 125 wardens are needed now for the other neighborhoods.

The CD chief recommended that the village administration encourage construction of fallout shelters in all new construction in the village, including houses, public buildings, multiple dwellings, store and offices.

Daughtry said many detailed articles in national publications point out that a shelter program can increase individual odds for survival of a nuclear attack by 50 to 90 per cent.

"TO PUT IT bluntly, considering the unsettled times we are now living in," Daughtry said, "any individual who does not provide fallout shielding for his wife and children is running a grave risk of pronouncing for them a sentence of death."

Daughtry said that in addition to the department's own organizational meetings, CD officials have addressed 11 civic organizations and both school boards during the past eight weeks.

In connection with the school boards, the following recommendations were made:

1. An immediate survey of existing plant to determine what level of radiation protection exists.
2. An immediate survey of proposed new construction.
3. As soon as possible, bring existing plant up to acceptable minimum protection levels.
4. From this point forward, include fallout protection in all new construction.

OTHER POINTS of progress Daughtry noted included conducting classes in basic Civil Defense in the high school under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Clabaugh, training division head, and Lester Ploetz, deputy CD director.

Sixty members of the village fire and police departments are already half way through the course, which began October 30. An additional 115 persons are attending the classes.

In addition, nine members of the radiological warfare division are taking a basic course in radiological monitoring, and an adult first aid course began this week at Northwest Community hospital under the direction of Dr. Keith Wurtz.

DAUGHTRY SAID he hopes to swell his department's ranks from its present level to 550 by June 30, 1962, and to 900 by June 30, 1963.

"Some people may wonder why we want so many workers," Daughtry said. "Briefly, two or three days after a nuclear attack, people will only be able to work in shifts of 15 to 30 minutes each day before taking cover again.."

So, he said, the department must have large numbers of people to back up the fire, rescue, police, health and medical departments so the clean-up work can be done, people rescued and treated for injuries, and fed.

"TO PLAN on a lesser scale," Daughtry said, "would doom our operation to failure.

"We are confident that as the true facts are made known to the people of Arlington Heights, we will achieve recruits sufficient to fully staff our departments." (A

After Two Years

Trustees Will Huddle On Hatlen Annexation

Accepting the recommendation of the plan commission, the Arlington Heights village board Monday night rejected the request of Donald Florence for rezoning of property at 1007 W. Euclid, ending two years of effort on a negative note.

Florence's only recourse now is to appeal to the courts, but although he indicated after the board meeting that this is a possibility, no firm decision has been announced.

The latest petition of the Arlington Heights Realtor asked rezoning of the approximately one-acre parcel from R-3 single family residential to R-5 multiple family classification.

TWO YEARS ago Florence asked the plan commission for rezoning to accommodate two-family dwellings, but no decision was reached pending conclusion of the Kincaid report, which was to be the basis for a new zoning ordinance.

The Kincaid report recommended multiple-family zoning, but the ordinance retained a single-family classification for the area. This August, Florence amended his petition to request R-5 multiple-dwelling zoning.

HE AND HIS attorney, John Hoover, appeared before the plan commission, their request was viewed unfavorably, the petitioners appealed to the village board, the board sent the matter back to the plan commission for a rehearing, the plan commission again viewed the petition unfavorably, and finally, Monday night, the village board accepted the commission's recommendation and voted 4-1 to deny the rezoning.

Florence and Hoover argued that the multiple-dwelling classification, which would allow Florence to construct an apartment house on the land, would result in the highest and best use of the land supporting their claim with expert testimony.

There were objections from other home owners in the neighborhood, who said such action would depreciate their property.

SPEAKING briefly Monday night, Florence said, "I've been kicked around for two years on this thing . . . and I've about had it up to here. I don't think this has been handled fairly."

Hoover brought out that Eugene Baughman, who is a former associate of Kincaid, made an independent appraisal of the Florence property at the request of the plan commission, and recommended the rezoning be approved.

The motion recommending the requet be denied passed by a 9-2 vote, however, and the questioning of witnesses indicated the commission felt that to grant the request would open the way to further multiple-dwelling rezoning in the immediate area.

This consideration appeared to carry prime weight with the village board Monday night when they concurred in the plan commission recommendation.

THE BOARD expressed a belief that zoning borders should be coincident with streets, not back lot lines, which would mean extension of multiple-dwelling zoning if the Florence petition were granted.

Dissenting was Trustee William Moore who said he did not feel bound by this policy and did not, in fact, agree with it. He said each case should be considered on its own merit.

Q. Is it all right for a man to use only his initials when signing social correspondence?

A. No; he should sign his full name.

Q. When someone begins a story or joke you have already heard, should you stop him?

A. Not if you are a member of a group, since this would be discourteous to the others. However, if you are the sole listener, it is quite all right to say you have already heard the story.

Q. Just when is it proper for guests to begin smoking at the dinner table?

A. Only after the hostess has made provisions for smoking—matches, ashtrays, placed on the table. Otherwise, it is bad manners to begin smoking.

Q. When a number of girls are playing bridge at a friend's home, and the mother of the hostess enters the room for the first time, are all the girls supposed to rise when greeting her?

A. By all means, they must rise!

Why so many farmers and ranchers plant money in U.S. Savings Bonds

Stop by a county seat bank any Saturday morning and you'll find farmers and ranchers at the Savings Bond window.

Ever since the Savings Bond Program began, these folks have been among its best customers. In fact ⅓ of all cash reserves owned by U.S. farmers and ranchers is invested in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds for Business

Bonds owned by the millions of people who run our farms have their work cut out for them. They replace machinery. Pay for new land. Provide insurance against the risks of farming.

They get personal assignments, too, like replacing the old homestead, sending the kids to college, and making life more comfortable when the tractor lumbers into the barn for the last time.

Why they keep U.S. Bonds "down on the farm"

U.S. Savings Bonds are a "crop that never fails," guaranteed by the U.S. Government to grow. $18.75 becomes $25 in 7 years, 9 months. In 10 more years, it becomes $36.25. They can be cashed in anytime, with interest. And if they're lost or destroyed, the Treasury Department replaces them free.

Every U.S. Bond you buy is an investment in Peace. What better way to help your government help you enjoy the things you're saving for?

Why America's Prominent Farm Groups Support The Savings Bond Program

James G. Patton, President, National Farmers Union, says: "Savings Bonds are an excellent means of providing for a family's security, and will continue to be a part of our efforts toward a better agriculture and a stronger nation."

Chas. B. Shuman, President, American Farm Bureau Federation, says: "Farmers have always been strong supporters of The Savings Bond Program. Their current investment of $5 billion is a tribute both to their thrift habits and to Bonds."

Herschel D. Newsom, Master, The National Grange, says: "Savings Bonds are an investment in America. Farmers—like all Americans—buy them assured that they are making an indestructible investment."

You save more than money with

U.S. Savings Bonds

Buy them where you work or bank

20th ANNIVERSARY 1941 ★ 1961

For 20 years America's newspapers have published Savings Bonds ads at no cost to the Government. The Treasury Dept. is grateful to The Advertising Council and this newspaper for their patriotic support.

Emergency Room

Youngster Collides with a 'Stone Wall': His Brother

Many children think their brothers or sisters act like "stone walls" but seven-year-old George Evans knows his brother is a hard, unresisting object — especially when young George decides to run into him.

George was taken to the emergency room of Northwest Community hospital for X-rays after his collision with his brother. The young boy with his brother lives at 151 E. Daniels, Palatine.

A more transparent "stone wall" was the object JoAnn Maheras, 8, of 501 Briarwood lane, Elk Grove Village, ran into. The young girl sped through a plate glass window, cutting her left knee. Taken to the emergency room the lacerations were treated and dressed.

FOR THE second time in little more than a month the emergency room treated a victim who fell from a roof—both of whom came through the experience with only minor injuries. Christ Funk of route 3, Palatine, was the latest victim of the roof-falling accident, receiving a sprained left ankle. The previous victim was found to have a bruised heel when he arrived at the emergency room.

The list of "tasty tidbits" enjoyed by various small tots last week as a ticket to the hospital emergency room ran a wide variety from wax and grease remover to electric cords.

Susan Gengnagel, 8 months, of 3803 Wilke rd., Rolling Meadows, received burns of the upper lip and electrical shock when she chewed on an electrical cord. Mark Jacobs, 2, of 238 Placid pl., Elk Grove Village, ate grease remover while Frank Buffa, 13 months, of 1715 Kim, Mount Prospect, drank an unknown amount of wax remover. Both children had their stomachs washed.

An unkonwn number of adult pills was the "snack" taken by Sheila Thellander, 2, of 14 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights. It was baby aspirin for Mark Stevens, 3, of 2416 Bluebird ln., Rolling Meadows. Both children had their stomachs washed on reporting to the emergency room. Tiny Peter Burrus, 11 months, of 19 S. Linden, Palatine, was admitted to the hospital for overnight observation after eating some foreign matter.

Sports and play, particularly at various schools in the area, brought a large number of youthful victims to the emergency room.

AN INJURED right wrist was the result of playing basketball for Richard Hueckstaedt, 14, of 622 N. Wille, Mount Prospect.

Injured at school were Frank Zielinski, 9, of 706 Eisenhower dr., Palatine, and Walter Meier, 8, of 409 Inverway, Inverness. Young Zielinski fractured his thumb while the Meier boy broke his right forearm.

Todd Somers, 9, of 608 S. Burton, Arlington Heights, fell at school and injured his right ankle. Ronald Carpenter, 13, of 48 S. Ashland ave., Palatine, sprained his right ankle in the school gymnasium. Raymond Miller, 17, of route 3, Palatine, sprained his left wrist playing at school.

Most serious school injury of the week brought a young Rolling Meadows boy to the hospital for surgical setting of a fractured left forearm. Admitted for surgery and treatment and now recuperating at home was Kevin Middleton, 10, of 2415 Jay lane, Rolling Meadows.

POPULARITY OF THE Expectant Parents Class at Northwest Community Hospital has brought the opening of a second class each week on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p. m. The class, sponsored by the hospital and held without fees, is open to all expectant parents who can provide a doctor's registration for the course. Interested pre-parents are asked to contact the hospital to register before the opening of the first class November 21. Mrs. Kurie, Mrs. Henry Komay (class instructor) and Mrs. Robert Hannenberg seemed to be a little dubious about his "bottling" methods. (B-8 watch check-up now!

Here's why it's so important to get a check-up by a qualified, professional watchmaker. A good watch is made to work constantly, for years. But jarrings, dust, dirt or humidity can sometimes throw off its intricate, hard-working mechanism. Of course, your watch may be working fine, but if you bring it in for a check-up now you may avoid possible costly damage later.

The Lutherans

Honor the Virgin Mary as the handmaiden of the Lord.

This was her own claim!

In that portion of Scripture called The Magnificat, she said, "For he hath regarded the low estate of his handmaiden."

She was humble.

She was responsive to the will of God.

She was willing to let God use her.

She is an example to every Christian—female and male.

The Lutherans honor Mary as an unusual—but human—Christian.

Fall Choral Concert Is Opening Tonight

Arlington high's vocal music department promises an interesting and varied program for its annual Fall Choral Concert tonight, Thursday, at 7:45 p. m. in the girls' gym.

Besides the student vocal groups, the concert will feature Bruce Perryman, baritone, voice instructor at Arlington. Perryman, a concert soloist who recently appeared in the Lyric Opera company's production of Verdi's "Aida," will make his first public appearance in Arlington Heights.

The Senior Choir will head the program with four selections: Richter's "The Creation;" Mozart's "Lacrymosa," from The Requiem; "Come, Close the Curtains of Your Eyes;" and "De Gospel Train." Linda Kehe will accompany the choir.

THE HIGH SEAS will flavor selections by the freshman male chorus. "Eternal Father, Strong to Save" (the Navy hymn) and "We Sail the Ocean Blue" from Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore" will be accompanied by Nancy Bohac.

"Wildcat's" hit song, "Hey, Look Me Over," and "Fanny" from the show of the same name will be the Harmonettes contribution to the concert. Patricia Busch will accompany the all-girl group.

Perryman's selections will be "Chanson Bachique" from "Hamlet" and Mac Ginsey's "Shadrack," accompanied by the show's director, Robert Wolff.

The Girls' Glee club has scheduled "How Excellent Thy Name," "Let There Be Music," "The Syncopated Clock," and "Close As the Pages in a Book." Sue Brasch and Nancy Bohac will accompany.

"EZEKIEL SAW de Wheel" and "Comin' Through the Rye" are numbers to be sung by the Choraliers, accompanied by Linda Trimmel.

Closing the formal portion of the program will be the Senior Choir, which will offer "Vilia," from the "Merry Widow;" "For Me and My Gal;" "Get Me to the Church on Time," from "My Fair Lady;" and "America, Our Heritage."

An unusual finale will be a "Sing Along with Mitch" type of presentation by the Senior Choir. Words of familiar compositions will be printed on the program so that the audience can join the choir.

Admission to the concert is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

ARLINGTON HIGH'S Harmonettes tune up for tonight's fall vocal music concert in the girls' gym. The program will feature the school's music groups and voice instructor Bruce Perryman, baritone. The concert starts at 7:45 p.m. (ACM

The adjective CHILDISH and CHILDLIKE are not synonymous. CHILDISH is a derogatory term, meaning puerile, silly. CHILDLIKE refers to the qualities of a child, such as innocence or trustfulness.

Do not say, "My relations are coming to visit with me." Say, "My RELATIVES," and omit "with."

TALK ABOUT MONEY

John R. Downs, C.L.U.

tells about a lot of new money for New England Life policyholders

"Thousands of New England Life policyholders will be getting a really big dividend increase in 1962. Policies most affected by this, the largest increase in the company's history, will be those that have built up substantial cash values. This reinforces the value of a New England Life policy as a savings medium.

"The reason for the big increase is the sizable increase in our investment return. You see, the reserves in policies are invested. And the more there is to invest, the more a policyholder stands to gain in dividends.

FINE FOR 1962 — HOW ABOUT OTHER YEARS?

"Obviously, the adoption of this scale reflects our confidence in the future. New England Life is continuing to seek out opportunities to invest or reinvest policyholders' funds at more attractive rates. A look at the past ten years shows that there has been a dividend increase every year.

Let's talk about money and talk about the liberal provisions in the policy, too. You'll find convincing reasons to use New England Life insurance for both savings and protection."

Avoid such expressions as "Equally as good," "Equally as capable," etc. "Equally" is sufficient. Or, still better, say, "This wine is just as good as that." "The boy is quite (or, fully) as capable as his father."

Do not use such expressions as "all the farther" and "all the higher," in the sense of "as far as" and "as high as."

Report Says:

New Textbooks For Schools

New textbooks and expanded curriculum in three areas are among the highlights noted in a progress report issued th i s week by Arlington Heights public school district 25, supervising village elementary schools.

"After extensive study and after use in several classrooms over the past three years," the report from the board of education stated, "new arithmetic texts have been adopted for use in grades three through six."

THE BOARD said the new texts will help teachers develop in children a better understanding of the number system and of mathematical concepts, as well as reenforce the arithmetic processes.

"Mathematicians are agreed that much greater emphasis must be placed on developing 'rations,' 'sets,' and so forth if students are to be expected to be successful in 'stepped-up high school and college mathematics programs," the report stated.

New science books are in use this year in grades one through three, updating the science program. The board said the new books emphasize the problem-solving approach to the teaching of science, and include classroom experiments which teach basic science principles.

"FOR THE first time the district this year has a full time science consultant," the report said, "who is working with teachers to strengthen science teaching at all levels."

In the foreign language area, all sixth, seventh and eighth grade students in district 25 are receiving instruction in French this year. The program uses the oral-aural approach, best described as learning by hearing and using French words and phrases without the use of written symbols.

Last year's graduates from district 25 who are continuing their study of French have been placed in special classes in the high schools to take advantage of their previous training. (A

Elks Ask Waiver Of Building Fee

A request by the BPO Elks Lodge 2048 for waiving of construction fees on a building it will erect at the northwest edge of Arlington Heights was taken under study by the village board Monday night.

The property is in the process of being annexed ot the village adn rezoned from Cook county zoning to village B-2 general retail business district zoning. It is located on the east side of Wilke rd., one-half mile north of Palatine rd. and comprises about six acres.

BECAUSE of the nature of its operation, which includes participation in civic affairs and working with area youth, the Elks asked the village to waive normal building fees for the lodge they will construct on the property.

Cursory investigation showed that similar groups, the American Legion, the VFW and the Century Club, had paid building fees of from about $350 to about $1,200.

The board authorized proceeding with annexation and rezoning processes, voted to allow construction of the building to begin prior to the effective date of the rezoning, then temporarily waived collection of building fees while it studied the request for a permanent waiver. (A

Q. Is it ever proper to leave one's spoon in the coffee cup or in a bowl of any kind during a meal?

A. No—the only exception being: When soup is served in a soup plate, the spoon is left in it, handle extending over the right edge, parallel to the table edge—and, if you're served iced tea, with no saucer under the glass, you leave your spoon in the glass, holding it aside with your first and second fingers as you drink.

Q. I'd like to know if it would be in good taste for a divorcee to be the honoree at one or more small parties before her second marriage.

A. I can see no reason why she shouldn't have some parties given for her, so long as they are not showers. Showers are not usually given for second marriages.

The Way We See It

Utility Controversy Raises Public Issue

A news report published last week in this newspaper compared water and sewer rates charged by public and private utility companies. It provided a strong argument for public ownership.

Charges of private firms are almost double those levied by municipally-owned companies. There is an obvious reason why this is so.

Municipally-operated utilities do not have to show a profit to satisfy stockholders; neither are they obliged to pay handsome salaries to corporate executives. Their obligations are limited to their customers and governmental solvency, i.e., the public.

The private utilities, in these instances, appear to have allowed the profit incentive to cloud their judgment. They are providing a service, and, as such, should show some consideration to their customers.

The fact that Buffalo Grove, Elk Grove Village, and Hoffman Estates, three communities served by private firms, are attempting to acquire the utilities indicates that dissatisfaction with rate charges is widespread.

Charges for private water and sewer service in Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg — based on three months usage of 21,000 gallons of water — amounts to $25.35. In Elk Grove it totals $23.70, and in Buffalo Grove, $28.20.

In communities which operate the water and sewer systems themselves, these are the charges for a comparable period: Arlington Heights, $10.53; Mount Prospect, $16.70; Wheeling, $14.35; Des Plaines, $9.24; Palatine, $16.48; Rolling Meadows, $14.45; Itasca, $12.05; Wood Dale, $18.50, and Bensenville, $15.60.

It would seem, however, that this is also an area in which the Illinois Commerce Commission could pursue its duties with somewhat more vigor than it has in the past.

Recently, and belatedly, James W. Karber, who became ICC chairman last February, declared that "I want every utility to have everything that is coming to it, but not a d____ bit more." Karber was quoted as saying that he has been encouraging staff members to dig out all available information concerning petitions requesting rate hikes.

The mere fact that a regulatory agency has been established to police this area shows that it is a matter of public interest. The ICC is the representative of the public's interest.

Private utility rates are set by the ICC and must represent a "fair value and profit." But the purchase price a utility pays for a physical plant and its estimated value is often at great variance, so that rates may be established to cover depreciation costs that do not, in reality, exist.

It would appear that this matter should be resolved by ICC vigilance rather than legislative curbs, which some critics of private firms have demanded. But continued rubber-stamping of rate increases invites legislation. In providing villages with more latitude for acquiring utilities, perhaps there is more justification for remedial legislation. About the only recourses to municipal acquisition are lengthy litigation or franchise agreements more often worded to the private firm's advantage.

Publicly-owned ultilities usually bill customers over a three-month period, so that customers enjoy the benefits of discount prices permitted after a certain amount of water has been used.

Private utility users, however, are billed each month, so that by the time they have used enough water to qualify for discount rates it is time to pay their bill and they are returned to initial — and higher — rates.

A controversy also exists in regard to initial costs of providing this service to the homeowner. Municipally-owned utilities charge a tap-on fee for new residences (this is a cost of $280 per residence in Wheeling). But opponents of private ownership claim that the homeowner pays twice for initial extension of service when served by private interests. Once, is when he buys the house, with the builder figuring this cost in improved property. The second occasion is the payment of higher water and sewer rates, allegedly paid this time for extension of service, the argument goes.

Buffalo Grove Village President A. P. Bunescu notes: "Municipal utilities are self-supporting in that, if expansion of facilities is required to serve a new area, tap-on fees are charged to amortize the total cost of expansion over the number of new homes to be served."

But he adds that the utility can be a lucrative source of municipal revenue without placing undue burden on the homeowner. "In 1960," he observes, "Wheeling realized a $22,000 profit, which was diverted to the corporate fund. This was accomplished with a flat rate of 47 cents per 1,000 gallons, less than half our present rate."

If private firms hope to continue their operations, they should begin thinking in terms of service as well as profits. The rate comparison makes this failing only too painfully obvious.

GOP Tactics Raise Doubts About Concern for FEPC

The manner in which the Republican-controlled State Senate executive committee is refusing appointments to the Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) seems to indicate that their target is not so much Governor Kerner's choices as FEPC itself.

So far, the committee — voting along party lines on an issue that should be removed from politics — has rejected Earl B. Dickerson, 70-year-old Chicago Negro leader, and Ralph L. Helstein, international president of the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers union.

When Charles W. Gray of Prospect Heights, whose appointment as head of the commission had been confirmed by the same committee, spoke out and called Dickerson's rejection "a travesty," he was summoned to appear before the senate group again.

Gray, chief of industrial relations for Bell and Howell company, said he did not intend to apologize for his remarks. "I won't speculate on the motives of the senators who have rejected these two appointments, but the effect of their activities has been to hurt the FEPC. We now have divided camps and we aren't even a commission yet."

This division may thwart effective organization of the commission, but the fact that lawmakers would be so petty as to play politics with this issue will not go unremembered. As Mr. Dickerson noted, such tactics will not stop the movement toward securing equal rights for workers.

Recalling Mr. Gray for further questioning only casts more suspicion on the motives of these GOP legislators, and threatens the young life of one of Illinois' most urgently needed agencies.

Critic's Corner

Myo-Magoos Dull Minds

by JOHN REDDY

Democracy is being undermined by myopic defaulters who fail daily to make judgments essential to the workability of the decision-making process.

Democracy is a decision-making process that draws its strength from the collective judgments of individuals.

And in a day when the vitality of our competitive society taxes our energies, we all are too prone to dismiss our responsibility to the political structure that enables us to pursue the activities of our choice, regardless of the excessive demands they create.

Instead, we decide in some peculiar manner that we are liberals or conservatives. This, of course, is an easy thing to do; for arguments supporting our beliefs, many of them inherited, come ready-made for us, designed by masters of inarticulate imagery — "political hacks."

REDDY

That many of us accept the political coat seeming best to fit our needs without first looking at the label to judge its worthiness is no real mystery.

We simply are not accustomed to making serious judments or of generating opinion — taking a stand.

WE READ what we say we already believe and associate with those who tend, for the most part, to share the same opinions.

The decision to buy a new car, to go in hock for a house, are judgments of elementary economics.

Moral decisions, decisions above and beyond the pocketbook are considered "tough, difficult," worthy of mention, but somehow put off.

LETHARGIC malcontents, myopic counterparts of the benovolent cartoon character Mr. Magoo, find the vague images of our times much easier to follow. It takes effort to think about that which we dislike or think we disagree.

The Myo-Magoons are everywhere. They can be found at your elbow as you are wisked into the metropolitan complex, across the counter as you sip coffee, or within earshot of your powermower.

Heaven forbid, perhaps you and I are Myo-Magoos. But if we really are, then we have the peace of mind that we may never really know. Darkness has such a tender caress.

AS INDIVIDUALS, we are faced with the task of deciphering the barrage of information fed to us through communicative channels of news media and propaganda mills.

And this is where our basic prerogative to judge, prudently of course, is tragically misused.

We cannot generate thought on all that comes before our eyes and to our ears. Selection itself is a matter of judgment.

BUT TO question and challenge the validity of reportorial accounts is the basis of judgment and evaluation.

Too often the news medias are exploited by duty-shirking Myo-Magoos who charge that press and television fail to meet their social responsibilities. That the press regrettably leaves something to be desired is recognized. But the citizen, too, has failed to meet responsibilities by his unchallenged acceptance of the printed and televised message.

An informed public is not sufficient. Facts given a cursory once-over are useless. As individuals we are obligated to say "I agree," or "I disagree." And we are obligated to know why we take the stand we do.

TOO OFTEN our responsibility to the decision-making process is dropped when it only just begins.

The papers and magazines are left crumpled and tattered on commuter seats or in basement corners; thoughts of world crisis, generated by up-to-the-minute newscasts, are dismissed by change of program or the changing of a dial that brings the less challenging.

And the effort to generate judgment subsides — the all-encompassing symbol soothes.

If you have not questioned the validity of what you have just read, perhaps you are a Myo-Magoo.

Alleluia Alliteration!

A Defense of Style

by DICK HOFFMANN

My problem is probably not too peculiar, but I have had colleagues confide that I sometimes employ too much alliteration in my writing.

I construe this criticism as constructive, but what's wrong with a little alliteration? Luce likes it; John Emmett Hughes delights in it; Eisenhower's speech writers aren't even discreet about it, and Rockefeller's addresses aren't complete without it.

I admit that the powers of persuasion pale and become ineffective when one strives for this style of syntax too often. But think of the possibilities it poses for politicians. Where would they be without alliteration to provide them with slogans?

HOFFMANN

Take the epithet, "Power for Peace," a slogan that signifies our policy of keeping up in the arms race in order to insure peace. It's not too logical an outlook in view of the history of past wars, but it probably helps the Pentagon budget requests.

Where would advertising agencies be without alliteration? How could they urge customers to "Pick a Pair," or get the "Pep, pep, peppiest one" among brands of gum or the cigarette that has "a lot to like" or the cheese with a "taste of travel in every slice" or "super-smooth shaves"?

I'M NOT always content with the contents of this column, but I will contend that alliteration — if used properly — has its place.

Of course, alliteration sounds somewhat different when spoken rather than written, as speech writers have learned. Ike always seemed to have trouble with such phrases as "we must maintain a powerful posture for peace."

For a while, it became difficult to distinguish between the speeches of Eisenhower and Rockefeller. But this is easily explained. John Emmett Hughes, who was Eisenhower's speech writer, became Rockefeller's speech writer. Before that, he was employed by the Time-Life crowd.

SO OUR language might eventually evolve into "Lucification," in which people parrot the prose of Time-Life. In the meantime, a challenging assignment — and one which I intend to tackle — is a reading of Hughes' book, "America the Vincible."

If it's anything like the speeches he's written, it should present some predictable passages in print.

CampusConservative Too Clubby, Cultic

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Stanton Evans, editor of the Indianapolis News has described the touted campus-conservatism movement in a book "Revolt on the Campus" (Regnery, $4.50).

If you are interested in the doings on the higher education front, you would do worse than to read this not impartial account of the campus Right. It seems there are, on almost all campuses now, the "bad guys" — paticularly, according to Evans, the faculty men trained in the Pink Thirties and their numberless fawning students. There are also the "good guys" who organize into groups such as Young Americans for Freedom or The Young Republicans.

MARTY

In general, they seek to give academic sophistication to a political position paralleling the one associated with Barry Goldwater.

IT IS GOOD to know that things more important than panty raids and water fights go on on campus, and the American public should welcome the student efforts to define and discriminate in political matters.

Evans is an "editorial prodigy," according to the publisher. He has an amazing career at the age of 27. Maybe it is a sign of age that I have difficulty empathizing with him and his movement.

For one thing, like the YAF and YR people, I like campuses. When Elk Grove living grows too complex, I like to take my little lamp for moonlighting to campuses, where I expect to see the complexities reduced to clarity as Evans describes them.

SELDOM DO I find what he is talking about. Yes, on many campuses the political Right is organized, but the main stream of students tends to avoid its clubbiness, its oversimplifications. Like Evans, I am interested in conservatism; but it is hard to see what is conservative about the organizations he advertises.

As I see it, conservatism is a regard for the inherited intuitive wisdom of the people without an enamoration for the psychology of the mob; it is a warm passion for developing traditions and institutions in a land beloved; it is most of all a denial of the doctrinaire, dogmatic, heavy-handed definition.

I have nothing but Huzzahs and Hurrahs for the conservatism that shatters the predictable doctrines of old-line leftist liberalism.

BUT THE campus conservatism of Evans' description is so clubby, so cultic, so doctrinaire that it bears little relation to historic conservatism. It has taken conservatism's wisdom and transferred it to slogans about "absolutes," and "individual rights," etc.

But it does not have the calm wisdom that says, "This too will pass" — conservatism had this. It does not content itself with unfolding institutions: it rides recklessly into mythical pasts.

The authentic conservative — say a Robert Taft — has to be taken seriously in American life; his contribution is undeniable. It is hard to picture Robert Taft picturing himself at home in today's campus conservatism.

Perhaps my lack of sympathy for Evans' approach might sound like a total condemnation of the book. Not at all; it is well-written, has passion, discusses important issues, and deserves attention. I just wish he could be a bit more loose-jointed and could regard himself and the movement with at least a hint of humor.

Seminarians Slate Rev. Marty, Hayes

Is the church on the sidelines of our society, moving farther away from the grave and real issues which will actually test the spiritual strength of our society?

Is the church failing to "disturb the peace" in our society by failing to speak to the serious issues of our time, by failing to face up to the continuous crises society presents?

THESE ARE two of the questions to be raised by speakers at the 1961 conference of the Association of Lutheran Seminarians slated for November 22-24 at Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary, Maywood.

Discussing the conference theme — "The Church: A Leaven in Society?" — will be Dr. Martin E. Marty, associate editor of The Christian Century and pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, Elk Grove Village; Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights; and Dr. George Forell, professor of Protestant Theology at State University of Iowa.

The association's membership is comprised of students at Lutheran seminaries in Canada and the United States.

Soliloquy for an Atomic Age

To build or not to build a fallout shelter: That is the question: Whether it be nobler in the world to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous Russians or to take spade against the threats of radiation and by digging under, end them. To dig: to burrow; no more; and by such mole-like life to say we end the radiation and the thousand nuclear shocks that flesh is heir to, 'tis a consummation devoutly to be wished.

To dig, to burrow; to burrow, perchance to become, ourselves, a mole; ay, there's the rub; for in that lowly animal behaviour what beastly acts may come when we have shuffled off our human courage must give us pause. Is not this the coward's way that leaves the basic problem unresolv'd? Should we not rather fight those ills we have than fly to others that we know not of?

Thus Russia does make cowards of us all, and thus our native hue of resolution is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of fear, and enterprises of great pitch and moment, the fight for peace and freedom, their currents turned away, will lose the force of action.

To build or not to build a fallout shelter — 'tis but to build a world for moles — let's build a world for men, instead!

THE FENCE POST

Fawell Tells Tax Position

Dear Mr. Hayes:

I would like to thank you for the very fine articles which appeared in the Paddock Publications newspapers last week regarding my candidacy for State Senator in the 1962 Republican primary.

However, I do wish to clarify one point. The interview article states that I favor a graduated state income tax in Illinois. This is not the view I meant to convey. I do not favor a "graduated" type income tax in Illinois. I would favor presenting the question of the adoption of a state "flat rate" income tax, non graduated in form and with limits, to the people via referendum for their decision. However, even in this regard, I would first favor the abolishing of the personal property tax as a condition precedent to the adoption of a "flat rate" income tax in the event the people were to approve a state "flat rate" income tax.

THAT OUR state government is beset with financial difficulties in the wake of rising operation costs and demands is well known. That the state must examine its inequitable sources of revenue, I believe, is also well known. In recent years both political parties have kicked the state income tax question around. Candidates have made and broken promises in that regard. I frankly believe one chief difficulty is that the legislature does not have any clear cut mandate from the people regarding this very important issue.

If the voters approved a "flat rate" state income tax, in place of the antiquated personal property tax, the legislature could supplant the personal property tax with this more equitable mode of taxation, and could relieve the real estate tax and the hard pressed home owner who must pay it. If the voters rejected a state income tax, the General Assembly would know that other means must be employed to better equalize the cost of government.

Apparently I failed to make my position clear in this regard when interviewed. I am sorry for this. If you could corappreciate it ver ymuh.cZ Iw uheiitms ngdirndsatould ,erntcs rect this misunderstanding, I would appreciate it very much.

Once again, my sincere thanks for your courtesies to me.

Library Board Is Defended

In regard to a recent news story about the Wood Dale Library appearing in the Register:

I wish to speak in defense of the Wood Dale library board. I see by your paper that it was publicly humiliated and defamed, by George Welter, at a recent Wood Dale council meeting.

He says we sit on our hands, or rather that Robert Doane, our library board president does. If by that, he means we do not jump to do his bidding on every occasion, he is correct.

RECENTLY, Mr. and Mrs. George Welter have been principal agitators in a movement to get the library board to take action, to acquire TAX SUPPORT. The library board has, instead, taken the matter under serious advisement.

If the Wood Dale library had been presented as a tax seeking institution from the first, it would be a natural step, for the board to take action—but the library was built and supported, on the proposition, that it was and would remain a volunteer endeavor. One of the reasons given for breaking away from the Bensenville library, three years ago, was that the Bensenville Library was seeking tax support and Wood Dale wished to remain independent and non tax supported.

If Wood Dale had wanted a tax supported library, the sensible thing to have done would have been to stay joined with Bensenville, thereby easing the tax burden on both communities and cutting down the expense of operating separate facilities.

THE NAMES of the board members of Wood Dale library of the past three years have included Mrs. Peter Petros, Mrs. William Merriman, Mrs. Adolph Sofka, Robert Doane, Mrs. William Lhotak, Mrs. Ansel Huntley, Ed Adams, Mrs. Carl Chaverin, Donald Rush and Mrs. William Beck. Some have resigned, new ones have joined the ranks, all have given their efforts unselfishly to build and sustain Wood Dale library.

It has, however, been brought to this board member's attention that Mrs. George Welter, who has acted in a supervisory and advisory capacity for the Wood Dale library, has turned away offers of help for the library. A number of people have offered their services and been rebuffed. At a recent joint meeting of a committee from the Junior Woman's club and the library board, Mrs. Welter asked the club members to try to discourage people from giving books to the library. These actions and attitude are surely detrimental to the welfare of the library.

As it is now publicly plain to see, it has not always been easy for the library board to carry out its responsibilities, but it has always and still is, sincerely trying to do a good job.

Member, Wood Dale

'Misquoted' On Sidewalk

In the November 9 edition of the DuPage County Register, you published an article regarding the proposed sidewalk for the new Oakbrook school of Wood Dale, the subject of which was brought up at the village council meeting of November 6.

Your reporter erroneously quoted me as saying in substance "the Property Owners association is opposed to the sidewalk and would offer no assistance in its construction."

TRUE, I was at the council meeting but never did I enter into the discussion regarding the school sidewalk. After lengthy pros and cons, and the hour was late, I got up to leave.

Commissioner, Cesar, who like the other commissioners is prone to spending other people's money, interrupted the sidewalk discussion to ask me if the association would offer their services. I replied "Not at present," which should have indicated to everyone that I, as president of the association, cannot commit the association as a whole to any policy or procedure without their knowledge. Two citizens who were at the council meeting will corroborate the truth of my answer.

It is my hope that your reporter and paper will clarify the article in question and my answer in particular and publish a retraction to remove any uneasiness in anyone's mind that I placed the association in an unhappy light.

ALSO, congratulations to William J. Appeldorn of Addison for his article "Alert Citizenry Is Urgent Need." He states "My convictions that the people should be more active and aware of their responsibility to their local government." Also "the attitude of the officials that the taxpayer must give and not question why."

This is one of the purposes of the Wood Dale Property Owners association, to scrutinize the performance of our elected public officials. During the campaigns the air is full of sweet talk and promises. But as elected public officials with a little prestige they turn their backs on the taxpayer.

This association is ready and willing to meet with any civic organization whose purpose is to question "Why" for the benefit of the taxpayer.

Our Survival Is Up to God

There are really two stages of survival to look into in the event of an all out nuclear war. Survival in a shelter and then the survival out in the open.

How many of us has ever had any experience in what it's really like to be down in a hole for a week, two weeks, or maybe longer? Our bodies are not adaptable for this in the spur of the moment, so what will the systems in the human body change to?

As for survival afterwards, well, there is no real answer for that, because no one knows for sure, how many ,and just where the bombs will actually fall. The fallout ashes will be in the air, ground, and water. What other unknown germs and diseases will be born from this? How long will it be, before it will be safe to grow anything? What will the average life span be then?

NO ONE KNOWS BUT GOD.

Science Should Not Be Made Scapegoat for Consciences

Never in a newspaper have I read such baseless, opinionated writing as that by Bob Cummins in "Critic's Corner."

He attacks scientists as the basis for the evils inherent in society today. He takes no account of the nature of mankind, which is the real evil.

I can proudly state that I have been married to a scientist for 16 years, have a father and two brothers in science and never have I or any scientist we've known, and I venture to say we've known a lot more of them than Mr. Cummins, considered it "a crummy occupation." His very words indicate a sweeping generalization indicative of an opinionated mind.

AS FAR BACK as Genesis, God gave man the earth and dominion over it. All scientists have done is pursue this, trying not necessarily to build a better mousetrap, but to build a better life. That man has not seen fit to apply the same intelligence to the use of what the scientists created is not the fault of the scientists.

Would Mr. Cummins have us revert to the Stone Age? Would he have denied our armed forces the use of the atomic bomb when our intelligence forces told us Germany was trying to get there ahead of us? Would it have been better that Germany bombed us, a nation mad with power? Every Christian deplores the necessity to use the bomb. It is forever on our consciences, but would Germany, or Russia today, have dropped one and been content to abstain from using it further?

Would Mr. Cummins deny the very instinct of self preservation? Or is he seeking to make the scientists who kept this country free the scapegoat of the consciences we all should have?

NOBODY DENIES the place of literature or the arts in culture, but our world today needs that and scientists if we are to feed the tremendous population, provide jobs for them, and make for better living. Scientific thinking is less the servant of materialism than any other field I could name. In no other field is a man's race, religion, or antecedents so completely ignored. He stands on the basis of the achievements of his own brain. There is no room for segregation or hatred, but rather a clear, concise search for the truth.

If the artist needs only himself as audience, why all the museums, concerts, efforts to publish, theater, and so on ad infinitum? The truth is all human beings want to feel important. Those who profess lack of interest in this respect fool no one but themselves.

If your Mr. Cummins is an example of editorial thinking, heaven help the American who takes his paper literally.

No Integration For Our Suburbs

This letter is meant for the person or persons who wrote the article on Negroes moving to the northwest suburbs.

I think the first person who attempted to sell a house to a Negro family should be shot, because all you would need would be one family moving in and all the suburbs would be black. Our property value would depreciate to almost nil. We wouldn't be able to sell our houses if we wanted to, and I for one would surely want to.

YOU WOULDN'T want your child coming home one day to tell you that he or she is going to marry a Negro. It would break my heart; I don't know about yours.

I believe that it's the white people who are pushing the Negroes on us, but I think it's also true that these same people wouldn't want them living next door to them.

I will close with this one thought in mind; if God above had meant us all to be integrated, I'm quite sure he would have made us all one color.

Board Deigns To Be Panicky

Residents of Buffalo Grove are calmer now in the face of worsening Soviet-American relations.

Even the threat of all-out nuclear war between East and West fails to arouse the apprehensions such prospects would have created a month or even two weeks ago.

Should Russian rockets drop from space on Chicago and other principal target areas, inestimable horror and destruction would sweep across the nation.

But residents of Buffalo Grove would not panic.

THE VILLAGE board has appropriated $300 for the purchase of Civil Defense equipment.

High on the list of priority items the local unit hopes to acquire is a panel truck, says Michael Hupfel, Civil Defense director.

William Breson, Rescue Squad chief, concurs. The pair plan to go to Batavia soon to look over vehicles stored there for Civil Defense use.

In the event of hydrogen bomb war, Hupfel and Breson would press their truck into service. The truck could be used to transport the injured to hospitals and the dead to morgues.

OR IF THE local devastation were more severe, the vehicle could be used to ferry persons between the fallout shelters reported being considered by two home owners.

Indeed, the uses of such equipment are so numerous they need no more than casual mention.

The village board is to be applauded for its foresight. Trustees are so harried in considering the many other needs of the village it is difficult for them always to make the soundest move — especially when they are working with limited finances.

Buffalo Grove now joins ranks with New York City, which reportedly displays a stretcher in the Manhattan offices of Civil Defense.

Newest Model in Lincoln, Mercury Division Is Shown

A completely new car embodying the best characteristics of compacts and big cars¾ in one package — the Mercury Meteor — will be introduced in Mercury dealerships early next month.

The Mercury Meteor will appeal to consumers who desire a car challenging the economy of the compacts, the interior room of the regular-size cars and the riding comfort of the bigger cars, according to Ben D. Mills, vice president of Ford Motor company and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury division.

"The Meteor fills a gap in the market for people who want to move into a smaller car but do not want to sacrifice the convenience and comfort of a big car," Mills said. "It is the answer also for those who want something bigger and better than compact or imported cars."

The new standard-sized Meteor rounds out Mercury's offerings for 1962 with three distinct cars in three sizes. The new Meteor is 203.8 inches in overall length—nine inches longer than the Mercury Comet and 11.7 inches shorter than the Mercury Monterey. The 116½-inch wheelbase is 2½ inches more than the Comet and 3½ inches less than the Monterey.

BUILT AS a full-proportioned family car, the Meteor has extra head-room front and rear and generous luggage compartment room.

Engineers developed a suspension system for the Meteor which utilizes Mercury's "cushion-link" principle in both front and rear suspensions to give a soft ride. The Meteor suspension permits both vertical and and horizontal movement of the wheels to reduce the harshness from bumps and road irregularities.

The body is of fully unitized construction with structural components designed as an integral part of the basic body. For greater durability a total of 136 pounds of galvanized steel is used for rust protection.

Body pillars are welded directly to side rails, not to the floor pan, to give a more solid base for door mountings and body sides. Doors are double paneled. New interlocking door latches provide unusually firm door closings.

CONTRIBUTING substantially to the big-car feel of the Meteor is the extensive use of a variety of insulation materials for sound-deadening.

Self-adjusting brakes are standard on the Meteor.

Interiors incorporate trim schemes, materials and colors which are complemented by a distinctive instrument panel, cluster and applique. Standard interior features include front and rear arm rests and ash trays and door operated dome light. The instrument cluster has gauges rather than warning lights for oil pressure and ammeter, in addition to fuel and engine temperature gauges.

Tandem electric windshield wipers which leave no center blind spot are standard, with two-speed wipers optional.

THE LATEST techniques in foundry precision molding have been utilized to develop a new lightweight V-8 engine of 221 cubic inches which is offered as a Meteor option. A 170-inch six-cylinder engine is standard.

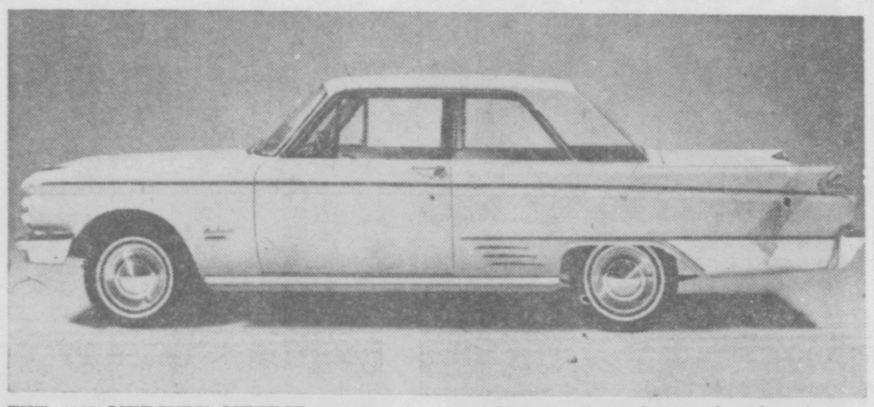
The short-stroke, low-friction Meteor V-8 is a ruggedly designed overhead valve engine which gives top performance with standard fuel. Hydraulic tappets provide quiet valve operation and eliminate the need for adjustment. Horsepower of the new V-8 is rated at 145. The six-cylinder engine delivers 101 horsepower.

Three-speed manual transmission is standard and automatic transmission is optional with both engines. Overdrive is available with the V-8 as an option.

The Meteor offers many features which reduce the cost of ownership. The chassis is prelubricated at the factory and requires no major grease job for 30,000 miles. The oil change and oil filter change cycle is 6,000 miles. Extended life radiator coolant normally will take care of anti-freeze protection for two years. The fuel filter has a replaceable element good for normal service of 30,000 miles.

POWER BRAKES and power steering are available. Other options and accessories offered include air conditioning, seat belts, padded instrument panel and padded sun visors, tinted glass, back-up lights and narrow band white sidewall tires.

The Mercury Meteor will be available in a standard and a custom series, with a two-door sedan and a four-door sedan in each series. (BB



THE 1962 MERCURY METEOR was created to satisfy the wishes of consumers for a car challenging the economy of compacts, the interior room of regular-size cars and the riding comfort of big cars. The new-sized Meteor is nine inches longer than the compact Mercury Comet but nearly a foot shorter than the big Mercury Monterey. The two-door custom model shown above is a preview of one of four Meteor body styles which will be introduced soon in Mercury dealerships. (BB

New Elk Grove Village Firm To Hold Formal Dedication

Container corporation manufacturing plant and offices in Elk Grove Village will be held Friday, Dec. 8, followed by an open house for civic dignitaries, customers, suppliers, and personal friends.

Field, producer of folding and set-up boxes moved to its new headquarters on June 10. Although completely operational six days later, opening festivities were postponed to enable completion of interior decor and landscaping, and to give employees time in which to become accustomed to the new physical layout.

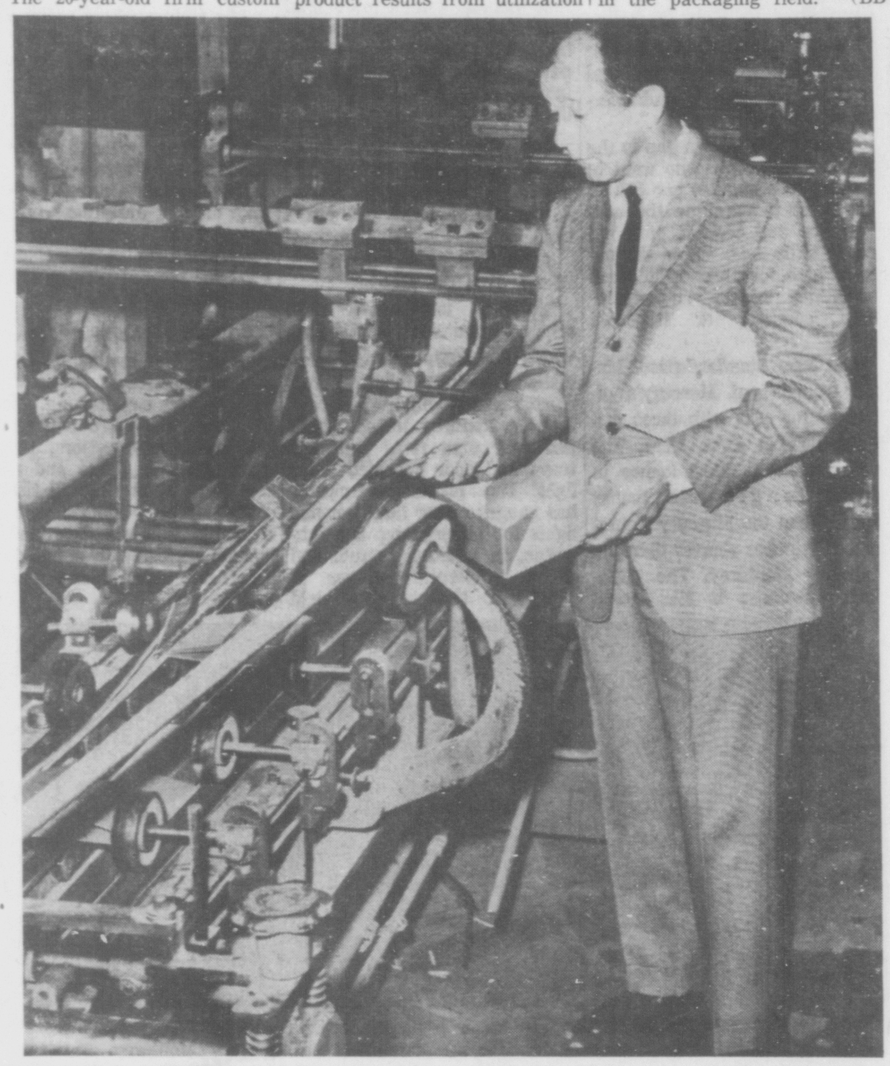
According to Eli Field, president, announcement of the firm's move and new facilities drew a substantial number of requests for tours of the new factory. Irving Footlik and associates, material flow engineers for the building, have stated that the Field plant is one of the most modern, compact and efficiently planned box plants in the country.

"THESE REQUESTS came not only from others in the industry," Field stated, "but also from many of our customers with little or no familiarity of the process of manufacture of paper boxes." Accordingly, tours of the $750,000 plant, which was designed to provide a perfect material flow system whether it be continuous or direct to temporary storage, will be available to guests on December 8.

Since the plant will be operational on the 8th, a special party for employees and their families will be held prior to that date.

The 20-year-old firm custom produces all types of folding and set-up boxes. Among the many industries it serves are: toy, candy and confectionery, cosmetic, dairy, electrical, hardware, sports equipment, pharmaceutical, automotive and plastics.

Its wide diversification of product results from utilization of highly specialized machinery for unique processes such as latex pressurized sensitive box ends for folding boxes, latex cards and heat seal, bubble and blister pack and heat seal for frozen food packaging—machinery not normally associated with an independent company in the packaging field. (BB



ELI FIELD, PRESIDENT of Field Container corporation, is making sure all is in readiness for the open house he's hosting on Friday, Dec. 8, honoring the dedication of the firm's new custom-designed plant and executive officers in Elk Grove Village. One of the machines guests will see in operation when they tour the plant on that date will be this right angle gluer, used in the manufacture of folding boxes, which Field is checking. This particular machine can handle a maximum 36"x36" blank sheet. Designed to create a perfect material flow system, wide aisles between each section of the plant provide direct access to the press, die-cutting, gluing and set-up box departments, while machines have been placed on an angle to provide storage for material prior to the next production step. Vital Transportation System Needed If War Comes: Quinn

This country must never let "too little, too late" be said of it again; it must take full advantage of its great productive potential to win the economic war with communism—a struggle in which transportation plays a key role, William J. Quinn, president of the Milwaukee Road, warned last week.

QUINN SAID that this country cannot carry on a war—if war comes—nor a successful peace without a vital, virile, progressive transportation system, the very core of which is the railroads.

The military challenge to the United States from the communist world is clear, but the challenge faced on the economic front is less obvious, he said in addressing a luncheon meeting of the Midwest Shippers Advisory board and the Tri-City Traffic club at Davenport, Iowa.

"We should not let ourselves be lulled into a false sense of security by the lower standards of living and the production difficulties which we know exist behind the Iron Curtain," he warned. "Russia, in fact, is moving rapidly to bolster the economies of its East European satellites and tie them ever more closely into its own productive system."

WITH COMPETITION for the minds and hearts of men running full force, "there is an awesome responsibility on our shoulders to uphold the cause of freedom," Quinn said. "Our enemy is well armed—not only with military hardware and economic resources — but also with ideas. Let us give practical evidence of our faith in democracy, in the political and economic freedom which go hand in hand with freedom of faith."

Complete economic progress in this country, the muscle that ensures its strength and its freedom and makes it the bulwark of the free world, cannot be obtained without a healthy, untrammeled railroad system, Quinn observed. "This system cannot be further weakened by archaic rules and regulations which prevent the railroads from attaining their true potential."

"BECAUSE OUR economy is so much a key to the world's well being, our arteries of transportation must not be allowed to harden," he said. "We must keep our distribution system efficient. Vitality is needed —new life, new ideas, new energies, new freedoms."

Quinn made a plea for concerted efforts to build up this country's economy at a time when national unity is needed. He said that the railroads, in a determination to serve the nation, and to meet their competition, have put many self-help measures into effect in an all-out effort to create more jobs, more sales, and to help in a resurgence of the economy.

Contracts Awarded Small Businesses

There has been a marked increase in Government prime contracts awarded to small firms in the 4-state area served by the Chicago Regional Office, according to Richard E. Lassar, regional director, Small Business Administration.

IN THE three months ending September 30, small firms in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin were awarded 1176 contracts totaling $36,955,876 as against 518 contracts totaling $25,229,807 during the same period last year, under SBA's cooperative "set-aside" program with Federal procurement agencies.

During the month of September, 422 contracts for a total of $7,100,194 were awarded in Illinois.

Lassar said that these figures speak for themselves and indicate that SBA and the federal purchasing agencies were carrying out President Kennedy's directive to increase contract awards to small business by at least 10 per cent.

Inquiries regarding SBA's set-aside program may be directed to the Chicago regional office, located in the Bankers building, 105 W. Adams st., Chicago 3.

Bartlett's Calumet and Hecla Supplier of Aeronautic Needs

Chicago based Calumet and Hecla, Inc. is a supplier to the Saturn vehicle which was successfully launched from Cape Canaveral recently by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Marshall Space Flight center.

CALUMET and Hecla's Flexonics division in Bartlett was responsible for design, manufacture, testing and cryogenic cleaning of Saturn's liquid oxygen lines in addition to the fuel carrying components. These flexible elements varied in diameter from 8 to 12 inches and were comprised of flexible hose, bent or straight tube and critical end fittings. During each sixty seconds of operation, these assemblies carried more than two and one-half tons of liquid oxygen to the booster's eight engines.

Additionally, smaller diameter hose and duct assemblies were supplied for venting and pressurizing various areas of this rocket.

THIS IS THE third program in which Flexonics has enjoyed successful flights with MSFC personnel. The Juno II and the reliable Mercury-Redstone, which successfully launched America's first Astronauts, were also supplied with Flexonics designed and manufactured components.

The extensive engineering and production facilities of C & H's Bartlett, Illinois facility are fully supplemented by Research, Development and Testing Laboratories where new designs and alloys are continually developed to meet advanced aero-space requirements.

Mountain Lodge Honeymoon For Former Teacher, Bride

A former American history teacher at both Arlington and Prospect high schools, J. David Poling, of 11 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, took as his bride on September 2 Miss Caroline H. Elliott, resident of the same town.

Fuji mums decorated the altar of St. Simon Episcopal church for the local service which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Scott Elliott, 418 S. Dryden pl. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Poling of Akron.

FR. KEYES officiated at the pair's double ring ceremony at 1 p.m. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of embroidered silk organza with chantilly lace appliques on the skirt.

Her illusion veil was 3-tiered and fastened to a lace crown which matched the motifs used in the bridal dress. Flowers were ivy and stephanotis and a single white orchid, placed on a prayer book.

KACEY ELLIOTT was her sister's maid of honor and Janet Garriock, Chicago, served as bridesmaid. Carrying a basket of blue glads was Christie Schalm of Kalamazoo, age 3.

All were gowned in periwinkle blue silktura dresses. Matching nylon net and ivy, intermixed with blue sprayed gladioli, fashioned the two attendants' bouquets.

FOR HER daughter's ceremony Mrs. Elliott chose a champagne satin brocade dress with magenta velvet hat and gloves. The groom's mother was attired in a pale green chiffon gown with matching accessories.

Merrill Froney of Arlington Heights, the groom's roommate, was best man. Ushers were Myron Miller, Mansfield, Ohio, and a brother, Winfield Scott Elliott Jr. They were among 200 guests who later feted the pair at a reception in Park Ridge country club.

Honeymoon destination was Boyne Mountain lodge and northern Michigan for 10 days. New home for the newlyweds is 320 N. Smith st., Palatine.

A former student of Chicago Teachers college, the bride is employed at Illinois Bell Telephone Co. in Arlington Heights. Her groom, who has BS and MA degrees from Northwestern university, is an agency service representative with the Travelers Insurance Co., Chicago.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Heroic Martyrdom

Dear Peg:

To raise five children is a challenge. To raise five children and a collie is heroic. To raise five children, a collie and a snippy little cat is martyrdom and I'm the martyr!

Our furniture is broken down, the slipcovers are coming apart at the seams, the plants have been knocked down so many times that there's more soil in the vacuum sweeper than in the pots—all because Captain and Inky think they are children instead of well behaved animals.

Although at times they completely ignore each other, other times Captain takes out after Inky and around the dining room table they go, knocking down chairs and plants, until Inky leaps on a dining room chair and dares Captain to get his nose within 5 inches. Unable to resist Captain takes the dare and gets another scratch.

With a yelp he runs to "mama" for sympathy and he usually gets it depending on whether or not he's knocked down her favorite standing plant. He is also very jealous. If he sees "mama" or "daddy" holding the children on their laps, he is likely to want his 75 lbs. of shaggy fur and long legs up there too. Inky is just about as bad. No one can sit down for a minute before she is curled up on the lap, purring gratefully and just about loud enough to drown out the TV.

The family project right now is to get the two animals to become friends, since with winter coming they're going to see a lot of each other. However they've learned too many bad habits from the children. Inky is an unmerciful tease. If she sees that Captain is chained securely to the kitchen door (a pleasant place for him to be confined and yet see what the family is doing) she will mince past him, then crouch down just out of reach to observe his every move.

And this takes a lot of observing, because he instantly jumps to his feet and starts pacing back and forth straining at his leash to get to her. One of these days he's going to pull the back door off its hinges, if we aren't any more successful than we have been in teaching that cat not to tease him.

There is one bright spot—they say family ties are thicker than water (or something like that) and I like to think that's why Captain helped Inky out of a pinch recently. From upstairs I heard the unmistakable sound of cats fighting. Taffy, the cat next door who is twice the size of Inky, was itching for a fight and as soon as we let Inky out in the morning, he took out after her chasing her into the evergreens. Then chasing out of the evergreens and up a tree. I called Captain and, opening the front door, released the "thunderbolt." He headed for the menacing yellow animal circling the tree. The next I saw of the "menacing yellow animal" was a taffy colored streak going thataway!

Of course, I had to get Captain back in the house before Inky would come down but that's because she's just shy—I'm sure they really are becoming fast friends—I hope . . .

My love,
Patty.

Display Indian Arts, Crafts At Arlington Shop Center

SILVER OVERLAY JEWELRY will be among the handsome Indian artistry on display Friday and Saturday during the exposition of American Indian arts and crafts at the Arlington Market shopping center. The exposition is sponsored by the Indian affairs study group of Arlington Heights Woman's club. (S

An exposition of American Indian arts and crafts will be held this Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17, 18, in Arlington Market shopping center, Arlington Heights. Sponsored by the Indian affairs study group of the Arlington Heights Woman's club, the exposition will be open to the public, free of charge, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

All major Indian tribes of the United States will be represented in examples of Indian artistry brought to Arlington Heights from the collection of the American Indian center of the Chicagoland area.

INCLUDED among the many exhibits will be a showing of original paintings by American Indian artists and a display of the world famous Navajo Indian rugs. Indian artistry in silver and turquoise will be represented in the exquisitely fashioned jewelry of the Hopi, Navajo and Zuni Indians of the American Southwest.

Basketry and bark-work of the Woodlands tribes will also be shown, along with work in pottery and ceramics, weaving and textiles, sculpture in wood, bone and stone, silk-screen work in prints and on ceramic tile, the ivory work of the Alaskan tribes and a collection of Indian dolls.

Representatives of Indian tribes will be on hand to explain and discuss the works on exhibition and for sale. Free coffee and cookies will be provided by members of Arlington Heights Woman's club.

Proceeds of the exposition will benefit the American Indian Center of Chicago, a non-profit agency and member of the welfare council of Metropolitan Chicago. The Indian center, a social-service agency serving the American Indian citizens of the Chicagoland community, is dependent upon contributions and public support to carry out its program of service.

"TODAY, THERE are more American Indians living in the Chicagoland area than there are on almost any Indian reservation of the United States except that of the Navajo. The American Indian center, through its professional staff and its membership, provides case work, recreational, educational and social services for these first Americans who have come to the community in search of the way to a better life for themselves and for their children," commented a study group member. Gaslight Club to Entertain At Gala 'Roaring 20's' Party

Mt. Prospect Business and Professional Women's club is making it possible for Paddock area residents to view first-rate night club entertainment by engaging the famed Chicago Gaslight club's road show for its "Roaring Twenties" party and dance to be held Saturday, Nov. 25, in Rolling Green country club.

The party will be complete with a band from this key club, bartenders, piano players and a string of "Gaslight gals" to entertain. Club members are making arrangements for an old fashioned 5 cent lunch and those planning to attend are urged to get in practice for a Charleston contest.

TICKETS ARE selling rapidly according to the ticket chairman, who suggests that those wishing further information call Vera Payne at CL 3-1532, or Louise Greinke, CL 9-1100.

Mt. Prospect Business and Professional Women's club is one of many clubs throughout the nation that is putting on a party of this type. In charge of the shows is Burton Browne, Chicago ad executive, who has the reputation of being boss of more bars and beautiful "babes" than any big business baron breathing. He now plans to export his own brand of make-believe to Paris.

HE INTENDS to create the idea of what the American thinks Paris is like and what he doesn't find when he goes to Paris. The various Gaslight clubs owned by this so-called "saloon tycoon" have been written up many times in newsstand magazines.

Dress for the November 25 party is optional but members guarantee more laughs and fun in old beaded gowns, striped vests and derbies. (S

Quite Contrary by Mary

Another Trauma with Father

EVERY TIME I GO BYE-BYE WITH FATHER, I wonder if it is all worth it. While I am in the process of getting there, it isn't. After I get there and the show is on the road, it most definitely is.

On our last jaunt, I thought I had all the possibilities of snafus taken care of. We didn't have to pack as it was a one day bit. I was reasonably certain that his hair was cut. I thought that for once we were all set but I reckoned without his nibs.

I arose and got into my frock, put on my face and was as ready as I can get. As I had one of the cars that belong to Father's office, it was necessary to return it to same. I honestly couldn't see where this would pose such a problem. He would take office car to office. I would take our auto, pick up sitter and meet him at office. Simple? Huh!

I carried out my part of this scheme with amazing aplomb. Drawing up in front of the office with a triumphant gleam in my eye, this gleam I get only when on schedule, I ran in to give Father the glad tidings. I was here. He, on the other hand, had a peculiar gleam in his eye. "A funny thing happened," he started out. I braced myself. It was well that I did. It seems he had leaped from office car, locked it which, in itself, is neat and tidy. The small deviation from the norm was that he had left the motor running and had locked the keys inside the car.

Almost unable to believe my ears, I was told to go to a certain person's home who had another key. Stunned, I did as I was told. Thus solving that problem. Bracing myself, I inquired if there were any more stumbling blocks. There wasn't much, just that he had forgotten that his pants were at the cleaner. Finally we took off. Behind schedule, but off.

As our outing for the day was luncheon and a university football game, I couldn't conceive of anything else going wrong. Luncheon was lovely. Our host was charming. As host rose, he allowed he hoped we would all enjoy the game and may the home team win. Father agreed and as we were walking out the door Father turned to host and asked, by the way, didn't we need tickets for the game? Host paled and almost had a heart attack.

On the invitation, down at the bottom, had been a place to mark how many tickets were wanted to the game. Father never read that far. Hence, no tickets. Host hurriedly felt through his pockets and came up with a couple he had been planning on turning it. Which was nice as I like football. Particularly after I had driven over a hundred miles for that purpose. If I had to sit outside the gates and guess from the cheering what was going on, Father would have never heard the end of it. He may not anyway.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Harvest Moon Hayride Designer's Shop Set

By DOLORES HAUGH

The wind is blowing the leaves from the trees and the nights are bright as day by the light of the harvest moon. So why not plan a Harvest Moon Hayride? Teen agers and groups of folks would enjoy this theme.

INVITATIONS

Cut brown wagons and out of a double fold of yellow construction paper cut the load of hay. Paste it on the wagon, which is made to fit a standard size envelope. Inside the "hay" write the following verse.

Hay, Hay we're on our way,
By the light of the big Harvest Moon
And we'll snuggle up close and keep Ourselves warm, winter's coming soon.
We'll sing some old songs and a few of the new
But it won't be much fun if we leave without YOU.

State time of departure and arrival home, the date and RSVP for most places renting hayride wagons must know how many to expect.

PREPARATIONS

First of all rent the wagon and find out any stipulations the owners may have. Usually 30 to a wagon and the cost amounts to roughly $1.50 a person, so expenses can be planned accordingly.

Be sure that you plan an easy to fix menu such as hot dogs or pre fried chicken, baked beans that will keep hot in the pot, lots of coffee and doughnuts as they are easy to manage in large numbers, unfrosted.

Be sure that you make arrangements for a room at the place the wagon terminates. Do not plan many decorations—by merely taking a piece of orange crepe paper covered styrofoam and several long narrow dowels or bamboo sticks you can insert the sticks in the styrofoam which is the harvest moon, supposedly, and then load on the doughnuts. This can be your centerpiece also.

A PORTABLE record player can supply the music and an old fashioned dance with a broom dance, change partners when the music stops dance, and ladies choice should vary the evening's dancing routine enough to add lots of gaiety.

The main thing to bear in mind is the stipulations of the place you are renting and be sure to leave it in as good a shape as you find it. Plan for a clean up committee. Also when you make your reservations ask about plates and cups but paper ones are quicker; buy them in bandana prints and be sure to tell your guests to dress warm as farmers in jeans and wool plaid shirts, straw hats and scarfs.

So long, hop on board the wagon and enjoy yourselves in some close harmony and "shine on Harvest Moon" from the song of the same name. (S

Jrs. Learn Town Plans

A talk by Robert Atcher and Mrs. Frank Wiley highlighted the meeting of the Schaumburg Junior Woman's club November 6.

Atcher, president of the village, told of present and future plans for Schaumburg and answered questions from the audience. Mrs. Wiley, chairman of the Schaumburg Historical society, spoke of Schaumburg in the past.

WOMAN'S club members and guests were told that at different times in the past Schaumburg boasted a post office, fire department, bank and band, and was generally conceded to be the "hot spot" in the area.

Future plans for the village included a 40-acre village recreation and social center. This area is now planned to include a library, village hall, tennis courts, baseball diamonds and swimming pool.

During the business portion of the meeting, the women discussed plans for their pre-Christmas bake sale to be held December 15. (S

Arlington Pair Marks 50 Years of Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Nikolaus Wichtner, 216 N. Douglas, Arlington Heights, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Oct. 22, with a dinner party for 50 in their home, an occasion that was surrounded with other great moments. Four days before the anniversary, Mrs. Wichtner received her citizenship papers and a week after it the anniversary couple's first great-grandchild was born.

The infant is Jeffrey Raymond Hedrich, son of the Wichtners' only grandchild, Mrs. Raymond Hedrich of Aurora, and grandson of their only child, Mrs. Anton Leiher, 418 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

TO HONOR the Wichtners, friends and relatives came from Aurora, Park Ridge and Chicago, joining the couple's many local well-wishers. Surprise guests, Mrs. Wichtner's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strobel of Detroit, made the more than 500-mile round trip on the anniversary day in order to be part of the celebration. Their sister, Mrs. Anna Gaug; a niece, Mrs. Schmidt and Mr. Wichtner's only nearby relative, a nephew, Frank Schubel, all of Chicago, rounded out the family circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Wichtner were married October 22, 1911 in Vivar, a town then in Austria-Hungary. Later the town was made part of Roumania and still later it became part of Yugoslavia, which it remains today.

THE WICHTNERS had thus been citizens of three European countries before they came here 10 years ago, but they prize their American citizenship most. Mrs. Wichtner was ill and unable to join her husband when he took his citizenship oath, but she persisted and the date of October 17, 1961, ranks right with her October 22 anniversary date. (S

Leukemia Auxiliary Seeks Toys

With the Christmas season just around the corner, the northwest suburban chapter of the Leukemia Research foundation is again seeking donations of toys for children hospitalized with leukemia throughout the area.

Due to the nature of the ailment, leukemia victims are bleeders; therefore, care must be taken to select only toys and games of soft materials that do not shatter or cut.

ANYONE ABLE to make stuffed dolls or animals who wishes to donate toys or games may contact Mrs. Norman S. Simons, 220 Ash rd., Hoffman Estates, treasurer of the northwest suburban chapter. Her phone number is La 9-2472.

Membership in the group is open to anyone interested. The present drive will be culminated in January with a membership tea. (S

Churchwomen Plan Bazaar

The women of North Northfield Community church will hold their annual bazaar on Saturday, Dec. 2, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the church, Dundee and Sanders rds.

Because of the rural location, the theme for the sale is "Christmas in the Country." There will be a large assortment of country delicacies, such as home-baked cakes and cookies for Christmas, homemade candy and popcorn balls, canned fruits, jellies and pickles. The booths will also include aprons, gift items and handmade toys.

Luncheon will be served, and "coffee and" will be available.

The women have gathered a group of special recipes for a church cook book, which will make its debut at the bazaar.

KAPPA ALPHA THETAS, Mrs. Wilbur Daeschner, Mrs. John Leer and Mrs. F. M. Radigan demonstrate some of the articles which will be auctioned by northwest suburban alumnae during their "Something Old, Something New" sale being held today, Thursday, at 1 p.m. in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Norval Stephens. John Walsweer Takes Bride in New Jersey

Mrs. J. Walsweer traveled from her home at 29 N. Forrest, Palatine, to Harrison, N. J., for the October 14 marriage of her son, John, and Dorothy J. Russo of that city. The wedding was solmenized in Holy Cross church by Father Clancy in a setting of white and wine colored roses and carnations.

The birdegroom completed his junior and senior years at Palatine high school, then attended Bradley university in Peoria before going east to work. He has been living in East Orange, N. J., while working in New York City for the Worthington Corp., applications engineers.

HE AND HIS bride are now residing in Newark, N. J., following a Puerto Rican honeymoon.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Russo of Harrison, chose a Saks Fifth Avenue wedding gown of white peau de soie, with touches of lace and seed pearls down an inner front panel. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Four bridal attendants were gowned alike in wine satin gowns with matching velvet jackets. Each carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations. Miss A. Rulli of Kearny, N. J., was maid of honor; Anitajean Galanatucci of East Orange, Marilee Romans of Nutley and Carmyn Chichino of Belleville, all in New Jersey, were bridesmaids.

COMING FROM Palatine to serve as an usher for the double ring rites was Bruce Nesser. Douglas Hildebrandt, formerly of Palatine and now of New Rochelle, N. Y., was also an usher, as was Charles Stites of Glen Ridge, N. J. Best man was Peter Lane, also of Glen Ridge.

For the wedding and reception, Mrs. Walsweer was dressed in a gold brocade with a matching jacket. The bride's mother chose an ice pink peau de soie with white lace, and both mothers had white orchid corsages.

The dinner reception was held in the Hotel Suburban, Summit, N. J.

The bride is employed in New York City by Hayden Publishing company as a research analyst. She attended Rutgers university. (S

Tax Books Sent to Board of Appeals

Assessor P. J. Cullerton this week announced delivery to the board of appeals of the final books for 1961 real estate and personal property assessments.

He said the 1961 tax bills should be on schedule for the first time in seven years. This will affect a savings to governmental bodies of thousands of dollars in interest on tax anticipation warrants.

The 1961 assessment was completed in eleven months. This was possible through the cooperation of all the offices in the county government, Cullerton said. This accomplishment is significant when it is considered that 1961 was also the first year in which the Staggered Quadrennial Assessment of real estate was initiated.

TO CORRECT the persistent tardiness of the taxing process, legislation was proposed in the 1959 session to provide a change in the assessment date for real estate from April to January 1.

This legislation was passed and made effective for the first time for the year 1960. As a result of the change in the assessment date, the assessor has been able to commence his appraisal and division work three months earlier than in the past.

All tax bills for 1961 should have been received by taxpayers by the last day of March, 1962. The personal property tax and the first installment of the real estate tax will be due May 1, 1962. The second installment of the real estate tax will be due September 1, 1962.

ASSESSOR Cullerton noted that this accomplishment was "a fine example of team work" on the part of the county clerk, department of central services, board of appeals and his office, made possible by the attention of the legislature. (B8

Father's Club Meeting Set

The Notre Dame Father's club will hold its next meeting Tuesday, Nov. 21, 8 p.m., at the school cafeteria, Niles.

Since the first-quarter exams have just been completed, the board has not scheduled speakers for this meeting. This deviation was made to enable the fathers to more thoroughly discuss their son's scholastic progress with the teachers. (B9

Dear Sue

A TEENAGER'S POINT OF VIEW
BY SUE McDONALD

A column like this is a wonderful place for you teens to give your views as well as to seek advice. Anytime you have something to say about a current fad, a comment to make about a letter that we've published, or an opinion on subjects of interest to teens, please write and we'll print your comments.

I've been doing some research on my own to find out what you think and why you think it. I know that you girls are interested in boys' opinions, and they're interested in yours—so I decided to do a little investigating and find out the pet peeves of both sexes.

Girls that I talked with, said that they object most to boys that comb their hair in ducktails and wear leather jackets and other typical "hood" clothes.

Teenage boys complain that high school girls wear too much make-up and often look like they're ready for a party when they appear at school with an elaborate bouffant hairstyle and eye shadow.

Both boys and girls complain about dates who are always late. Most estimated that they wait about 15 minutes for their dates (which incidentally seems rather impossible—if everybody is waiting, who is late?). They say that this starts the whole evening off wrong.

So, watch those clocks!

Letters this week include one which says,

DEAR SUE,

Once and for all, settle the question about kissing on the first date. Should I or shouldn't I?

Anne

Dear Anne,

I don't believe in "never" rules, because there's always an exception. If you really want to kiss a boy because he's the person that he is—and not just because he's a boy or you don't know how to refuse gracefully—then do. However, stop to consider if you'll be glad later that you kissed him so soon, and I think that most times you will wait.

Dear Sue

I'm 16 and want to get married next spring. What do you think about teen-age marriages?

Beth

Dear Beth,

In most cases, I think they are a mistake. I know you are tired of hearing it, but your opinions and attitudes DO change tremendously between 16 and 21. As proof, four girls in my high school graduating class married in their senior year, three are now divorced.

Sue

DEAR SUE,

I am going with a boy who is 18 and very good-looking. All the girls I know are chasing him. Can you tell me how I can keep him for myself? I like him very much and he said that he likes me, but sometimes I just don't know!

V. R.

Dear V. R.,

Don't invent problems. Concentrate on being the type of person that is interesting—don't waste your time worrying about imaginary troubles.

"HELPING MOMMY is fun," think Daun and Roslyn Dahlstrom, especially when their mother is preparing one of their favorite cookies. Mrs. Russell A. Dahlstrom of Mt. Prospect makes these appealing Almond Crisps all year 'round, but always has them on hand during the holiday season, too. They make a welcome contrast with an assortment of decorated Christmas cookies. (SH

What better warms the heart and tempts the palate of homecoming children on a crisp autumn day than the aroma of freshly-baked cookies wafting from the kitchen?

Two year-round cookie favorites in the Russell A. Dahlstrom household are called Almond Butter Crisps and Coconut Cookies.

"Although they are not fancy, I usually have them on hand during the Christmas season, too," commented Mrs. Dahlstrom. They make a welcome contrast with an assortment of decorated cookies and their crispness and good flavor is always appealing."

TWO INGREDIENTS give the Almond Butter Crisp Cookies a unique and interesting flavor. Instant powdered coffee is blended in the cookie batter and the dough is shaped in small balls and rolled in finely-chopped unblanched almonds.

The almond skins contribute to the nutty appearance and unusual flavor of these delicious cookies.

"These cookies taste even betterter a few days after they are baked," commented Mrs. Dahlstrom, "as the flavors mingle and they improve with age. Of course, they should always be stored in a covered tin."

The coconut cookies are made from a rich batter which contains two cups of flaked coconut. Formed into rolls and refrigerated overnight, they are sliced and baked to a delicate brown.

THESE DAINTY cookies are very short and crisp and naturally have a delectable coconut flavor.

Both of these cookies make a great hit with the Dahlstroms three children: Roslyn, 10; Daun, 7, and Bradley, 3.

The Dahlstrom family lives at 1410 W. Lincoln ave. in Mt. Prospect. Mrs. Dahlstrom is active in the Northwest Covenant church, where she is the organist and belongs to the Women's Fellowship. She is also a member of the PTA.

Bird Of Fine Stuffing

Chopped Brazil nuts bring new texture interest along with their distinctive and popular flavor to poultry stuffings. The addition of nuts makes the traditional bread crumb stuffing compete in popularity with the turkey.

To save time during the holiday dinner rush, have Brazil nuts shelled and ready to use. The crinkly, tough shells of Brazil nuts are easily cracked if the nuts have been frozen several hours in the food freezer or in the freezer section of the refrigerator.

THE BRAZIL nuts can go into homemade or packaged stuffing mixes. Add ½ cup of the chopped nuts to each 8-ounce package of mix used, and follow package directions for preparation of the stuffing.

Additional stuffing can also be made and baked in foil.

BRAZIL NUT BREAD STUFFING

½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups chopped Brazil nuts
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup diced celery with leaves
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
8 cups lightly packed bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¼ cup water or stock

Melt butter in skillet. Add Brazil nuts, onion, celery, salt and poultry seasoning. Cook until Brazil nuts are lightly browned. Add to bread crumbs and parsley in large bowl.

Add water or stock. Toss lightly with a fork. Sprinkle cavity of bird with additional 1 teaspoon of salt before stuffing lightly.

Yield: Enough for a 12-14 pound turkey or 2 6-pound turkeys, using ¾ cup stuffing per pound dressed weight.

NOTE: If desired, stuffing may be baked separately to serve with chicken, veal or beef. Place stuffing in foil; seal edges tightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350-375 degrees), 35 minutes, or in a slow oven (325 degrees), 45 minutes. (SH

Week's Best Food Buys

Turkeys reach holiday pricing levels late this week in a pre-Thanksgiving retail merchandising shift that pegs the birds a bare two cents or less a pound over retailers costs.

On the weekly University of Illinois consumer service survey of metropolitan area foods, the range of prices for all weights of grade A toms, hens and Beltsvilles will preview by week-end at 27 cents to 39 cents a pound competitively to become the odds-on consumer value for the traditional feast.

EVEN THE complementary cranberry falls into the value column at not more than 25 cents a pound and frequently less, for fresh berries, while the more burdensome-supplied processed kinds price below the lower-prevailing wholesale grocery index.

On this basis, turkeys eliminate other poultry from the U of I value column, fryers having taken a steep jump at wholesale, and, cheap as they are at a 29-33 cent retail, lose their consensus value rating during the holiday buying period.

RED MEATS that figure into traditional holiday menu plans established Thanksgiving retails last week and are basically unchanged from that position for the period ending November 18.

Exceptions are spare ribs, that reached a lower promotional level of 39-49 cents, smoked butts occasionally a featured 55-59 cents, with hams and bacon also weakening in more outlets. Prices of other cuts are steady and offer promotional opportunities on a dealer's choice basis, notably in beef steaks, ground beef and pork chops.

EGGS REFLECT a two cent a dozen wholesale increase at retail prices of 59-61 cents for grade A large and from a basic 39 cents to a competitive high of 43 cents for medium size.

Of the staple produce lines measured in the U of I survey, there were more cost increases than decreases, but despite the higher costs retailers are granting concessions on many items to round out holiday dinners.

HERE'S THE story behind the turkey situation. The bigger retail buyers, who usually book Thanksgiving supplies in late summer, are just now filling their turkey needs. Growers and related supply factors have been left holding the bird, so to speak.

How much they'll let move into retail channels is the question. Grocer prices are already averaging 5 cents a pound below year-ago and storage stocks are record high. Retailers are tending to quote prices just above current carlot costs, and are noted competitively as Beltsvilles, 4 to 8 pounds, 35-39 cents; hens, 8 to 16 pounds, 33-35 cents; toms, 14 to 18 pounds, 31 to 34 cents, and toms, 18 pounds and over, 27-29 cents.

THE TURKEY supply now equals seven pounds per person, compared with 6.3 pounds last year. Estimated storage stocks, even allowing for the holidays, will be about 300 million pounds by next January. This is 140 million pounds over January, 1961—a surplus equal to about 10 per cent of the normal turkey crop.

The U of I consensus values for this week include:

Meats—pork chops, spare ribs, hams, smoked butts, round, sirloin and porterhouse steaks, and ground beef; poultry — turkeys; produce — potatoes, yams, Brussels sprouts, squash, sweetcorn, yellow onions, cauliflower, oranges, apples, grapefruit, emperor grapes and cranberries.

AN ADDITIONAL fresh fruit note, tangerines are in short supply, as are California navel oranges which are 45 per cent below the normal crop volume. These are offset by ample supplies of Florida oranges, grapefruit and apples from everywhere.

Fruit-Fill Chops, Fries Star As Skillet Dinner

Tender, succulent pork is plentiful, and stuffed pork chops are a family favorite everywhere. Here's a new way to star them in a skillet dinner that's good enough to serve company—and it takes just one pan!

Try this gourmet easy-do dinner with a crisp salad of tossed greens with a tangy French dressing, hot rolls and a dreamy chocolate cake for dessert.

FRUIT FILLED PORK CHOPS WITH FRENCH FRIES

½ cup chopped apple
½ cup chopped cooked prunes (about ¼ pound, uncooked)
¼ cup diced celery
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup prune liquid or water
4 thick pork chops with pocket (at least 1 inch thick)
1 tablespoon shortening
2 tablespoons water
1 1-pound package frozen French fries
1 teaspoon salt

Combine first 6 ingredients in small saucepan. Place over low heat and cook slowly until thick. Cool slightly. Trim excess fat off chops. Fill pockets in chops with fruit stuffing (about ¼ cup in each).

Skewer opening with wooden picks to hold filling in chops. Heat shortening in skillet. Add chops and brown on both sides. Add water, cover, and cook over low heat 30 minutes.

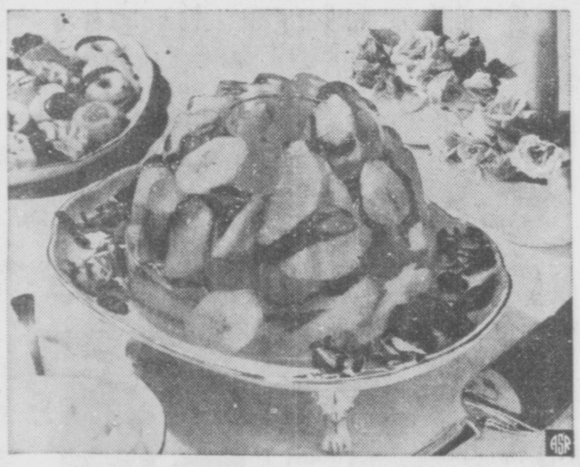
TURN CHOPS and arrange potatoes around them. Season with salt, cover and cook until chops are tender and done, about 15-20 minutes more. Remove chops to serving platter. Mix potatoes in drippings and arrange around chops.

Total cook time, about 50 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Prosperity

In the past 10 years, take-home pay of American workers has increased 59 per cent; food prices have risen 14 per cent.

Light Refresher For Late 'Snack'



Guest, or family, will enjoy this Banana Orange Mold after cards, television, or an evening's visiting. The combination of fruit flavors, molded attractively in lime flavor gelatin is light and refreshing . . . just perfect as a late evening dessert or salad.

Of course, it's always suitable for luncheon or afternoon refreshments.

NOTE: If your kitchen does not boast a one-quart mold, use a loaf pan or metal mixing bowl . . . or just spoon it into dessert dishes; it's delicious and pretty that way, too.

BANANA ORANGE MOLD

1 regular size package (3 ounces) lime flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
½ cup orange sections, free of membrane
1 banana, sliced

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in fruit. Pour into a one-quart mold. Chill until firm.

Unmold and garnish with watercress. Serve with whipped cream dressing, or sweetened whipped cream, if desired. Makes 5 servings. (SH

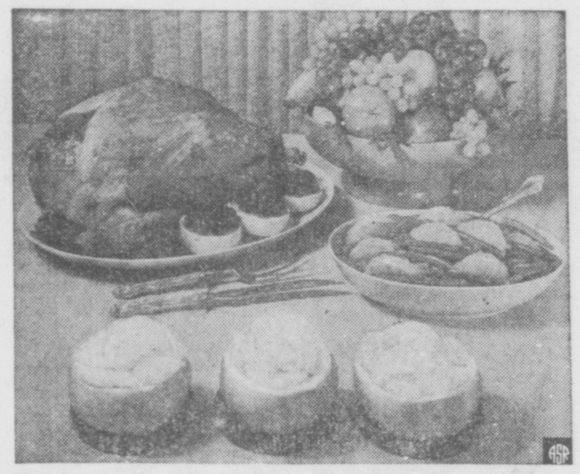
Offer Thanks, Too For Fresh Fruits



Happily timed with holiday feasting is the arrival of the luscious fresh Florida citrus fruits—grapefruit, oranges and tangerines.

You will find these healthful citrus specials good from the first to the last course of your Thanksgiving Day dinner.

FOR EXAMPLE, a bright light appetizer combines grapefruit and orange sections served in grapefruit shells and topped with a dollop of sour cream.

For a savory vegetable dish, combine the zesty tartness of fresh grapefruit sections with green beans which have been cooked with a little onion, garlic, parsley, and rosemary or basil.

A SURPRISE citrus trick is an orange turkey stuffing—a number of good seasonings go into the stuffing along with orange sections and the rind for mouth-watering moistness and flavor.

Another fresh idea is to top generous slices of oranges with prettily cut out mounds of cranberry jelly as garnish for your turkey platter.

ORANGE RICE STUFFING

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
2 cups cooked rice
3½ cups toasted bread cubes
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
½ teaspoon rosemary
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons orange rind
6 Florida oranges

Melt butter in skillet. Add onion and celery; cook until tender but not brown. Stir in Tabasco. Combine onion, celery, rice, bread cubes, seasoning and rind.

To section oranges, cut slice from top and bottom; cut off peel round and round, spiral fashion. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane.

Remove sections; cut each section in half. Add to rice mixture. Toss lightly. Yield: Approximately 7 cups or enough for 8 to 10-pound turkey. (SH

Hued To Autumn's Beauty New Golden Cheddar Soup

There's an old proverb that admonishes a woman never to hope for more than a good man and the ability to make a rich soup. While we won't presume to suggest which might come first, they would both certainly seem to go hand in hand.

CHEDDAR CHEESE SOUP, its flavor heightened with the delectable addition of beer or ale, makes a tempting tureen to serve family or friends on a cool October day. Accompanied by meat sandwiches, pickles, and sparkling glasses of bright beer, this makes a hearty, luscious meal. (SH

On a brisk autumn day after hours spent out-of-doors, picture yourself and guests sitting down to a generous tureen of hot cheddar soup. Hearty, nourishing and oh, so flavorful with all its natural goodness, this is a soup with real stick-to-the-ribs quality.

THE GOLDEN color bespeaks fall, the savory flavor comes from familiar ingredients such as celery, carrot, onion, chicken broth, your choice of mild or sharp cheddar cheese, and the tantalizing tang of beer or ale which does culinary wonders in combination with cheese.

The soup makes a complete meal served with complementary sandwiches of hot or cold sliced ham or grilled frankfurters, your favorite pickles and chilled beverage.

CHEDDAR SOUP

¼ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup diced celery
¼ cup diced carrot
1 tablespoon chopped onion
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon dry mustard
6 cups chicken broth
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1½ cups grated Cheddar cheese (about 6 ounces)
12 ounces (bottle or can) beer or ale

Melt butter; add celery, carrot and onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Blend in flour and mustard. Gradually stir in broth and cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened.

Add Tabasco and cheese; heat to serving temperature. Add salt to taste, if necessary.

Garnish with chopped parsley or croutons, if desired. This soup can be frozen. Yield: 8 servings. (SH

Diet Drink Boasts Nourishment

Here is an easy-to-fix low cost diet drink you can make at home. One 8-ounce glass, four times a day plus ½ cup unsweetened orange juice or 2/3 cup fresh orange slices provides 900 well-balanced calories.

This "3-Way" chocolate drink meets the average adult daily maintenance needs for important vitamins, minerals and protein.

IT CAN be used as the sole food intake to lose weight, as a diet supplement to assist those who might need extra nourishment, or simply as a tasty beverage which the whole family can enjoy.

"Three-Way" chocolate drink combines the milk protein of 2 cups of Starlac homogenized nonfat dry milk with 1/3 cup of Hemo, a fortified, enriched malted milk mix and one tablespoon of salad oil.

COMBINE these ingredients and then sprinkle over 3½ quarts of water in a deep mixing bowl or shaker. Beat or stir until thoroughly mixed. Place in covered container.

Store in refrigerator. Shake or stir well before serving. This will make one quart, or a full day's supply, of delicious tasting chocolate drink.

A word of caution is in order: Before undertaking any strenuous weight-reduction program, consult your doctor.

"Three-Way" chocolate drink is delicious served hot or cold. When serving hot, just pour the required number of servings into a saucepan and place over low heat. Stir constantly while heating. Do not boil. (SH Peak (topmost point); peek (to look slyly); pique (resentment), and pronounced the same as "peak" and "peek." Inseparable) "ar," not "er." Opulence, one "p"; opponent, two "p's." Foul (impure); fowl (bird). Negligible; observe the two "i's." A female animal is "spayed," not "spaded."

OFTEN MISSPELLED

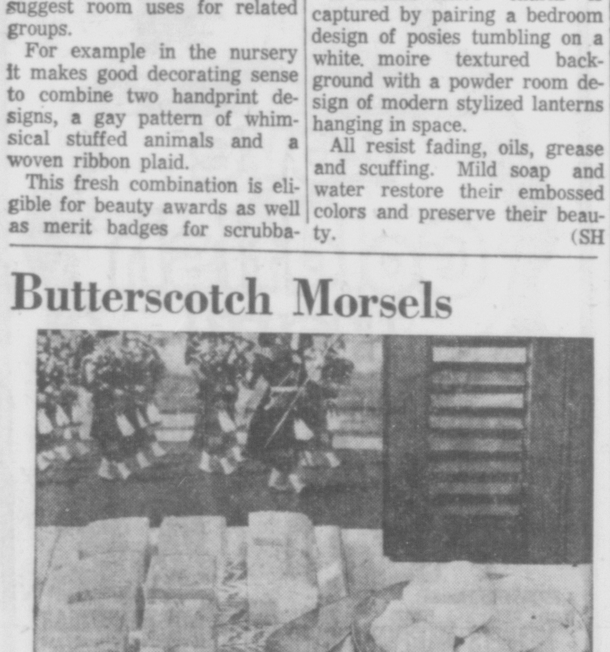
Be Your Own Decorator



Decorating is becoming more adventurous as well as practical. Original handprints and textures, formerly associated with custom wallcoverings, are now coordinated in scrubbable vinyl plastic for every room of the house.

Fresh styling and coordination of prints in a range of colors and textures are helps to the homemaker who must be her own decorator.

To guide her in choosing designs and textures to harmonize, the newest sample books suggest room uses for related groups.

This fresh combination is eligible for beauty awards as well as merit badges for scrubbability.

ELEGANT AS silk damask, but far more practical in vinyl, is a formal white brocade embossed handprint on white silk Shiki textured vinyl background for living and dining rooms.

Reflecting the other extreme in decorating trends is a rough textured homespun related to a geometric print.

All resist fading, oils, grease and scuffing. Mild soap and water restore their embossed colors and preserve their beauty. (SH

Butterscotch Morsels

Butterscotch, as typical of Scotland as plaids and bagpipes, takes a quick trip around the world to join forces with crushed pineapple in an exotic dessert sauce.

This meeting of west and east produces a sauce of mellow color and flavor that glamorizes ice cream or cake.

THANKS to butterscotch flavored morsels, the sauce can be made in a few minutes and, once made, it keeps well in the refrigerator.

Butterscotch morsels are the same size and shape as the famous semi-sweet chocolate morsels that go into Toll House cookies.

Like the chocolate morsels, too, they can be eaten as a candy, put into cookie dough, or melted for use in sauces, frostings or baked goods.

BUT THEY have a flavor all their own, the flavor so popular in traditional butterscotch candy. Because these morsels melt so readily, they need only be stirred into the simmered pineapple to complete the sauce.

Butterscotch-Pineapple Sauce

1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons butter
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels

Put crushed pineapple with syrup into saucepan. Add butter and bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes.

Remove from heat. Add butterscotch morsels and stir until melted. Yield: Approximately 1 1/3 cups.

Steinmetz High School Schedules 25th Reunion

The June 1936 graduating class of Steinmetz high school is holding its 25th year reunion, at the Glenview Country House, 1560 Waukegan rd., Glenview, Saturday, Nov. 25, 1961. Chairman of the reunion committee is Leo Hohoff. In addition to the usual reminiscing, dancing and good food, Hohoff and his committee have a surprise program planned. Guests of honor will be members of the faculty.

At the present time, 259 out of this graduating class of 291 have been located. Some of them as far away as Trinidad, Rio De Janeiro, Germany, France, Canada and even the probability of the attendance of a couple from Iran who are returning to the United States for three months.

Christmas Cards Are Now Easy to Create

By LUCILE ERNST

I have been waiting for the opportunity to write a column about making your own Christmas cards for quite a while. I've been hoping to get it written before Christmas, although I will say in all honesty, it is after Christmas that I am most likely to get started on this particular project.

A Christmas card should be a message from you to someone you love. It has become a great deal less than this. Most of us frantically buy a stack of cards and methodically check off a name. In the name of friendship it is scarcely worth the bother. Sending a Christmas card that you have made is quite different. It is sending a part of yourself, the best part, the creative part.

THERE WAS A time when making your own Christmas cards was a truly formidable job. Making the materials or trying to find them was the hardest part. This is no longer true. Modern manufacturers have made it so easy to make effective designs, one needs very little talent and not too much time.

Not too long ago only commercial artists had an air brush at their disposal. Everyone now has practically the same thing in spray paints which can be bought in any drug store. With a can of silver or gold spray paint, a stencil and some construction paper, you can create dramatic Christmas cards.

As with any project, one starts with an idea. It is fortunate, in a sense, that all good art is in essence simple. The less clutter, the fewer details, the more powerful the message.

THIS MAKES IT easier for the beginner. He does exactly the same thing a professional artist does. He eliminates everything except what he wishes the viewer to see. These will be simplified or basic forms. The beginner has, by the way, taken his first step into abstract art.

Now, let us be concrete. Let us say that you decide that you would like to show the three wise men and a star. You would simplify your figures into perhaps three rectangles. I would suggest that they be of different sizes to give a feeling of depth.

The larger rectangle would be the wise man who was closest to you. The three wise men might be in the lower right hand corner and the star in the upper left hand corner. You will want to draw and redraw your design until it appears right to you. You are now trying to achieve a sense of balance.

WHEN YOU are happy with your design, you draw it on a piece of stencil paper. Stencil paper is simply waxed paper which keeps the paint from going through. You will cut your stencil the size you wish your card to be so that you can paper clip it to the corners of your card.

Now cut the rectangles and star out with a razor, leaving the stencil intact. Whatever your design might be, the part you cut out will be the color of the paint, say gold or silver, the rest will be the color of the construction paper.

Paper clip the cut stencil to your construction paper and spray lightly with paint. If you use too much spray it may run. Repeat the process on as many cards as you wish to send.

IF YOU are anything like me, you will throw away your first stencil and cut another one for, once you do something you know exactly how it should have been done.

Since your cards are made of construction paper, your envelopes should be too. Use a commercial envelope as a pattern and cut your envelopes a little larger than your card.

If you would like to try block printing, buy a linoleum block which is just what it sounds like, a piece of linoleum mounted on a piece of wood. You will need linoleum block cutting tools which cost about a dollar, some printers ink in your favorite color, a roller, a piece of glass, and a box of band aids.

DRAW YOUR design, which should be more detailed than a stencil, on the linoleum block and then cut out the parts which you wish to be white. Squeeze some printers ink on the glass and roll it until the roller is coated. Roll the ink onto the linoleum block. The parts that will be print, of course, are the parts which have not been cut away.

Stamp the linoleum block on your paper and watch the corners so that your design will not be crooked.

Your friends, I think, will be truly pleased with your cards and so will you. After all, you cared enough to try your very best. (Bill

Unusual Film Series Merits Area Support

By JIM PHILLIPS

The first of a series of exceptional motion picture films was shown Sunday evening at Pioneer Park auditorium in Arlington Heights. Despite a sparse audience, I would call it a successful evening.

"Birth of A Nation" was presented in its three-reel glory, and to those who wanted to recollect the days of D. W. Griffith, Lillian Gish, Mae Marsh, Wallace Reed, and the youthful Donald Crisp, it seemed to be highly effective tonic.

PROBABLY THE most disappointing thing about Countryside Art Center's program was the response. Before this series got under way, I was convinced that there would be more than a quota of interested people to fill the subscription audience. If Sunday evening's representation was any indication of the number of "motion picture art appreciation" clientele present in Paddockland, then we're not really as "highly appreciative" a community as the social research statistics would indicate.

Or, getting into the common language, we're a bunch of lax, couldn't - care - less - about - worthwhile - things, love - to - sit - in - front - of - the - TV-set, Suburbanites. The International Film Series being offered by the Countryside Art Center, Inc., is a blossom in our entertainment garden.

Whether the plant dies or not is up to us.

The six evenings of entertainment (now it's five) can be enjoyed for only five dollars on a subscription basis. There is a coffee hour during intermissions, and the showings are handled efficiently by people who try their darndest to keep above water as far as paying for rental of the films.

THE NEXT film is scheduled for January 14 (all films are shown on Sunday Evenings at 8 p.m.) and promises to be a corker. Gina Lollobrigida stars in "Bread, Love & Jealousy."

On February 11, the Danish film "Ditte" will be on tap, along with the hilarious "Fatal Glass of Beer" in which W. C. Fields is shown at his comic best.

On March 11, Jacques Tati will be seen in "My Uncle" and on April 8, the highly-dramatic Greek film, "Bed of Grass" is billed with the great Chaplin silent, "The Fireman."

Australia gets its two cents in with "Wherever She Goes." Chaplin again forms the second half of the 16mm team with the silent pic, "Behind the Screen." All these fascinating film entrees for only five dollars makes the word "bargain" seem underplayed.

NOW, THERE are two things you can do with your Sunday evenings as far as relaxed entertainment goes: you can turn on the video .monster and watch Ed Sullivan introduce Rock and Roll sextets, hand balancers, or O'Harrigan's monkeys, while you spill pizza all over your lap, not to mention the living room rug, or you can spend a leisurely night watching the actors, actresses, directors, and producers who made entertainment history interpret stories via the film, thereby enlightening and relaxing your mind—that is, if you care to have it enlightened and relaxed.

The international film series being offered is something that comes along only once in a Paddockland life time. It's chance to see motion pictures, both Foreign and American in an area where you don't pay for parking space, tollway use, or lose your peace of mind behind the steering wheel of your gas-eater.

Subscription tickets can still be obtained from Lorraine Wimmer at Clearbrook 3-6561.

The play opens Friday and continues for three consecutive weekends with a Sunday performance at 7:30 p.m. on November. 26. Ticket information is available at VA 4-8019.

Holiday Dinner Cost Less Due To 'Horn O' Plenty'

Your Thanksgiving dinner, complete with turkey and all the traditional trimmings, is likely to cost you less this holiday season than last, thanks to a plentiful supply of many foods in the nation's warehouses and coolers.

That's the word from Kit Andresen, editor of Super Market Institute's Plentiful Foods Bulletin, whose job is to keep in touch with farm and ranch producers and food processors, and to relay information about supplies to the institute's more than 16,000 retail food outlets.

THE FALL TURKEY crop is more than plentiful, and the traditional Thanksgiving bird should grace the consumer's table at from 5 to 10 cents per pound lower than the same bird would have cost last year, Mrs. Andresen reports following a check of super market merchandising plans in various regions of the country.

Also, such holiday "fixins" as potatoes, pumpkin, cranberry sauce, butter and coffee will be offered super market shoppers at prices generally lower than last year.

Due to smaller supplies, prices will range unchanged to slightly higher for such foods as peas, fruit cocktail, bread and mixed nuts.

MRS. ANDRESEN submits the following comparison of 1961 vs. 1960 prices as they will average on a typical Thanksgiving menu. Because of marketing and supply differences in various regions of the country, you may find prices in your own favorite food store will vary somewhat.

In the south, turkeys may be higher than the national average; in parts of the east and midwest, somewhat lower. And fresh turkeys will run somewhat higher than frozen grade A; grade B frozen being cheaper.

While over-all food prices have gone up because of increased costs all along the line from farm to table, they have not increased as much as other items consumers buy, Mrs. Andresen said. "Retail food prices as reported by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics have gone up only about 17 per cent since 1947-49, while all other items other than food have increased 30 per cent," the supply editor said.

"In the meantime, wages of factory workers have increased 72 per cent. This puts the average consumer well ahead in relation to total income." (SH

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

INEFFABLE; incapable of being expressed in words. "The drifting clouds gave the scene an ineffable beauty."

PERSPICUOUS; easily understood; lucid. "After the perspicuous explanation, the problems were easily solved."

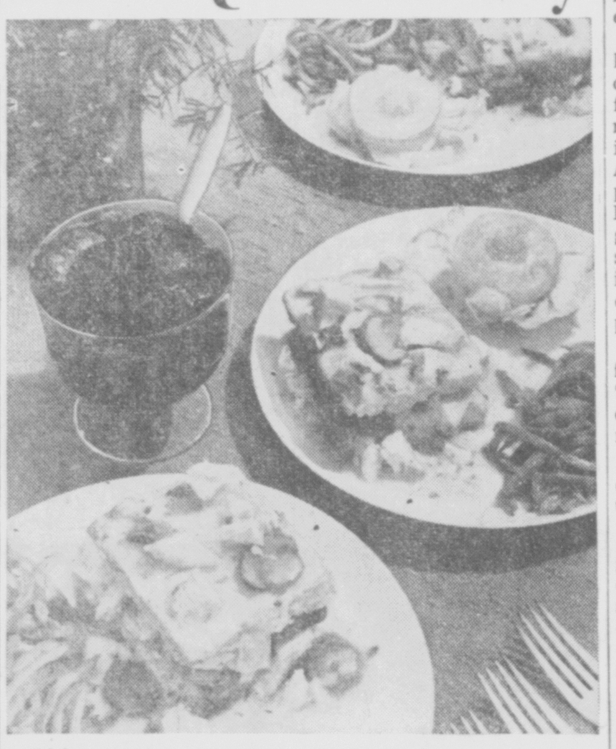
IMPORTUNATE; troublesomely urgent; too solicitous in request or demand. "We were very much annoyed by his importunate complainings."

PREJUDICIAL; tending to injure or impair; hurtful; damaging. "His going away was most prejudicial to the affairs of his business."

INTRUSION; the act of thrusting in without invitation. "Even in his own home he was not safe from intrusion."

PROMULGATION; the act of making known, published, declared; often, officially. "The members anxiously awaited the promulgation of the church's stand on the issue."

Chicken Shortcake With 'Quick' Gravy



Chicken has long reigned supreme. About 1400 B.C.—leaving its native territory in Asia—it branched east and west developing an individuality from each new environment.

Spain, France, India, Japan—to name a few—have all honored the chicken in a multitude of dishes.

TODAY, IN this country, a great favorite is chicken shortcake, made double chicken-y and extra flavorful with canned chicken gravy.

For homemakers who enjoy serving chicken yet rebel when the recipe calls for gravy, canned chicken gravy is the solution.

Especially good is this combination:

GOLDEN CHICKEN SHORTCAKE

- 1 can (2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 can (10¾ ounces) chicken gravy
- 1½ cups cubed cooked chicken
- Cornbread

Cook mushrooms and parsley in butter a few minutes. Add chicken gravy and chicken.

Heat, stirring now and then. Cut 4 cornbread squares into 2 layers. Cover with half of chicken mixture.

Top with second layer; pour remaining mixture over. Makes 4 servings.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

HOW DO LEADING COACHES in high school, college, and professional football view the alarming increase in serious injuries?

Is football on a grade school level beneficial? What are the pros and cons in this debate?

What's the secret behind the amazing success of the Evanston high school varsity football teams?

What's the future at Northwestern in football and what are the Chicago Bears looking for in the current crop of collegiate seniors?

These and many other questions will be answered on Thursday evening, Dec. 7, as Paddock Publications' sports department presents its First Annual Sports Night in the Little Theatre at Prospect high school.

Included on the program that will begin at 7:30 p. m. will be a half-hour film on the College All-American football team for the current campaign, presented through the courtesy of the Suburban Press Foundation of which Paddock Publications is a member; a panel discussion involving three leading sports personalities in the Chicago area; questions from the audience; and a social hour in the cafeteria.

Murney Lazier, head coach of the state's top-ranked Evanston Wildkits, and George Allen, defensive coach of the Chicago Bears, already have been lined up for the panel discussion. A representative of the college ranks also will be included.

Wally Grace, Arlington high's athletic director, will serve as master of ceremonies and moderator of the panel.

Admission is free.

You will need tickets for the Sports Night and they may be picked up at Paddock Publications in Arlington Heights, starting next Monday. Requests will be handled through the mail with two tickets per request. Send all requests to Sports Department, Paddock Publications, Inc., 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Tickets will be presented on a first-come, first-served basis. Capacity is 500 at the Prospect Little Theatre.

Remember the date. Thursday evening, Dec. 7.

Remember the place. Prospect high school.

And remember that there will be no admission charge but you will need a ticket.

Additional information on Paddock Sports Night will appear on these pages in succeeding weeks.

THIS 'N THAT IN SPORTS:

Glenbard West's Denny Hansen, a 6-6 sophomore forward at Northwestern University, has been working with the first team in pre-season drills . . . An all-league selection for two seasons in the West Suburban, Hansen has been one of the most impressive performers on the Wildcats' squad to date . . . Serving as a second team guard is soph Marty Riessen of Hinsdale while Ken Lutgens of Downers Grove, a returning letterman, is a third team forward . . . Northwestern is looking forward to an outstanding campaign . . . Arlington high school was well represented in last Saturday's Big Ten football contest between Illinois and Michigan . . . Seeing action in the affair were three AHS grads: Mike Dundy and Bob Creviston for Illinois and Dan Striegel for Michigan . . . Dundy carried six times for 25 yards, caught two passes, and returned one punt . . . Another Arlington high grad, George Bork, finished a commendable season as Northern Illinois' varsity quarterback with 62 completions in 121 attempts for over 700 yards . . . Bork was the leading passer at Northern and Rich Bader of Mt. Prospect was the leading receiver.

Bob Emmons, Arlington high's varsity wrestling coach, will discuss and demonstrate leg wrestling this Saturday, Nov. 18, as the University of Chicago plays host to its third annual all-day wrestling clinic at Bartlett gym. Other suburban area coaches on the program include Chuck Farina of East Leyden and Bill Mann of Maine township.

Pete Swanson, former sportswriter with Paddock Publications who is a journalism grad of the University of Illinois, is now on the sports staff of the Elyria Chronicle Telegram in Elyria, Ohio . . . Tom Gard, a grad of Riverside-Brookfield high who was the fifth leading scorer in the West Suburban conference basketball scramble last winter, is a leading candidate for a varsity position at North Central College . . . Prospect high graduate Mike Hogarty has been playing with the Yale University frosh football squad . . . The yearlings will meet Princeton this Saturday and conclude the season against Harvard . . . Hats off to those Notre Dame Dons of Niles who journeyed to Peoria last Saturday and showed that state-ranked Spaulding squad how the game of football should be played .

Andrise, Aukamp Selected On Interim All-Star Squad

Champion Niles West and Glenbard East each landed five positions to head the 35-man Interim League All-Star football team announced this week by the loop coaches.

Each league school was represented on the honor team with area squads Willowbrook and Prospect combining for five berths.

Representing Prospect are fullback Bruce Andrise, a bona fide All-State candidate, and junior center Ron Aukamp. Willowbrook's all-star selections are tackle Bob Hodum, end Karl Burgener, and back Gene Whitehorn.

IN ADDITION to the 35-man squad, the coaches also cited 43 other boys on an honorable mention list. Included in this ranking are tackle Dennis Hogy and halfback Tommy Thomas of Prospect and guard Chad Morris, end Paul Harris, and backs Harlan Krafft and Rich Romanek of Willowbrook.

Repeaters from 1960 are Prospect's Andrise, Wheaton's Gordon Heaton and Dick Kee, Proviso West's Logan Dugaw, and Willowbrook's Whitehorn.

Only three third-year performers were honored on the 1961 unit: center Aukamp of Prospect, and halfbacks Dick Mychay of Deerfield and league scoring leader Tom Perri of Niles West.

PROSPECT'S ANDRISE is the league's top candidate for All-State honors this fall. The 185-pound senior collected 716 yards in 124 carries for a 5.7 per carry average and scored ten touchdowns. In addition, he was a standout on defense for Coach Bill Beckman's Foundry rd. crew.

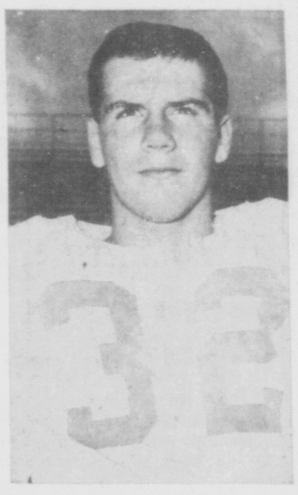
Aukamp, a 5-11, 180-pound junior, was a leader in the Knights' forward wall and a consistent performer all season. Ron is headed for an outstanding senior year.

Willowbrook's Whitehorn, although selected at halfback, played fullback for Coach Vic Lesch's Warriors and scored five touchdowns and one extra point in league play. Burgener and Hodum gave the Brooks some consistent performances in the line.

THE INTERIM league is recommending five boys for All-State recognition in addition to Andrise. Unanimously nominatwere center Steve Kimbell of Wheaton, guard Craig Ankeney of Glenbard East, tackle Ed Silkitais of Proviso West, fullback and tackle Neill Brownstein of Niles West, and quarterback Jim Hart of Niles.

Kimbell paced the Tigers in tackles and was a bulwark in the Wheaton forward wall. Ankeney drew plaudits from all coaches and was the finest guard in the Interim this year. Craig stands 5-8 and weighs a solid 190.

RON AUKAMP



BRUCE ANDRISE

Silkitais is the giant on the team, standing 6-6 and weighing 256. He won three varsity letters at Proviso West and has excellent mobility and lateral movement. He is the leading college prospect among the Interim league linemen.

BROWNSTEIN AND Hart of Niles West were key performers on the loop champs. Neill played offensive fullback, scoring six touchdowns, and defensive tackle, earning "Lineman of the Week" honors in a Chicago daily. Hart was an outstanding passer and runner and a defensive standout.

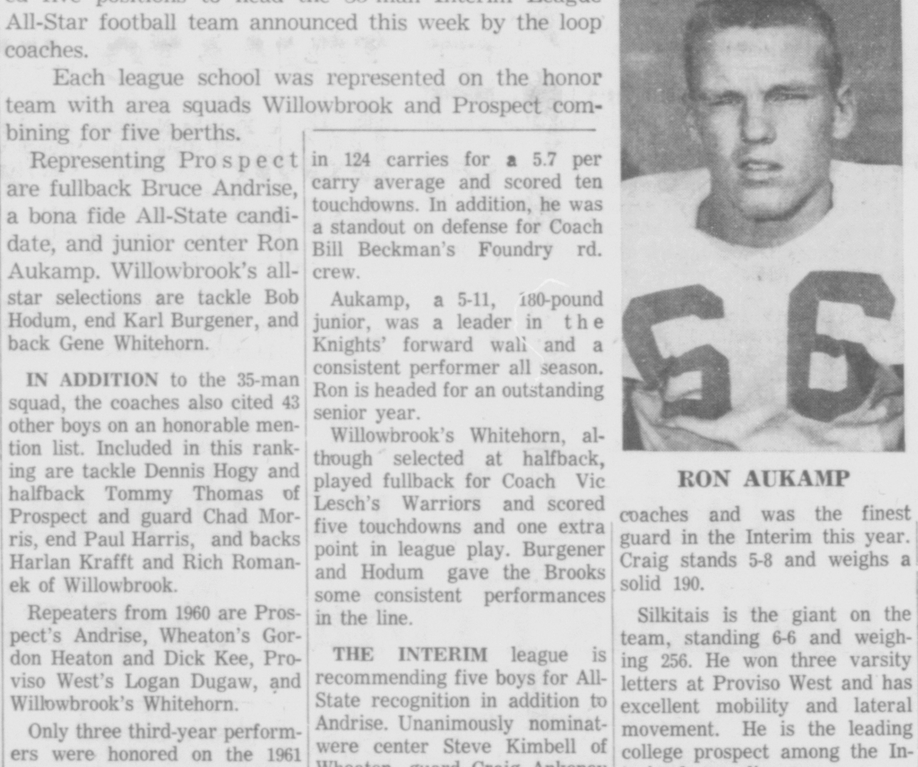
In addition to Kimbell and Aukamp, Glenbrook's Dave Laidley, a 6-0, 195-pounder, was named at a center position. Glenbard's Ankeney, Morton West's Russ Triner, East Leyden's Mike Budnik, Niles' Bob Herkert, and Proviso's Jim Weber make up the guards.

Although Silkitais heads the tackles, five other standouts were named in West Leyden's Duffy Knott, a 235-pounder; Glenbrook's Dave Mundhenk, Maine West's Dick Fuez, Wheaton's Heaton, and Willowbrook's Hodum.

AN AVERAGE group of ends included Willowbrook's Burgener, Glenbard's Al Cikowski, Glenbrook's Bob Leider, East Leyden's Rudy Moser, Maine West's Denny Toll, and Niles West's Larry Hill.

Two Harts were honored at quarterback with Jim of Niles West and Jon of Glenbard East. Rounding out the signal-callers is Mike Connelly of Glenbrook.

Other backs named to the Interim All-Star squad are—Glenbard's Dave Ek, and Dave Smith, Proviso's Logan Dugaw and Bill Silhan, Niles' Perri, Morton West's Bill Zeman, Wheaton's Kee, and Maine West's Ray Leonardson.



ARLINGTON'S Ross Retterer controls this rebound during a practice session last Friday afternoon. Also in the picture are (l. to r.) Cards to Host Evanston Five

by BOB FRISK

Norm Patberg, starting his first season as head man of Arlington high's basketball squad, will unveil the 1961-62 edition of the varsity Cardinals Friday evening with a home tussle against Evanston's Wildkits.

The non-league encounter will kick off a schedule of 18 games, 14 in West Suburban warfare, with the Cards also hooked up in the Pontiac Holiday tournament.

Elevated to the varsity post after two seasons with junior-varsity squads, Patberg was greeted by four lettermen at the outset of drills from a team that won six of 22 games last winter.

THE 30-YEAR-OLD coach is working with 18 boys on the varsity and is still undecided about five definite starters. He plans to use the three non-conference battles for experimenting before the Cardinals settle down to the important West Suburban competition.

Friday's varsity battle against Evanston will be preceded by a frosh-soph game at 7 p. m.

The four returning monogram winners at Arlington are likely starters Friday with juniors Chuck Close and Gary Brodnan at the guard slots and seniors Ross Retterer and Don Kolstad at forwards.

HOWEVER, Patberg indicated at the outset of the week that Retterer appeared to be the only permanent fixture at this stage of the drills. A 6-1 senior with a nice touch, Ross has been a steady performer in the workouts. As a junior, Retterer pumped in 53 points in limited appearances.

Close, the 6-1 junior who finished as Arlington's second leading varsity scorer last winter, is listed at a guard position for the opener but he may see some action at forward. Chuck canned 210 points as a soph and was the 16th leading scorer in the West Suburban.

Although Brodnan, Arlington's fourth leading scorer as a soph, and Close are expected to open at the backcourt positions, Patberg also plans to get some duty from senior Bob Bohac (5-7). Other leading guards are Bob Laughlin (5-10) and Denny Koeppen (5-10) but Laughlin has a groin injury and may not be ready for Evanston while Koeppen was sick at the beginning of the week and is another doubtful performer.

IN ADDITION to Retterer in that front-court, Kolstad (6-1) and either Rusty Blix (6-4) or Vince Furlong (6-2) will get the call against Evanston. Kolstad is a tremendous rebounder who chipped in with 57 markers as a junior with the varsity.

Blix and Furlong didn't letter as juniors but did see some action. Rusty netted 16 points and Furlong contributed 25.

Another boy who should be heard from this winter is 6-3 John Burgermeister ,a consistent scorer on the junior-varsity quintet.

PATBERG EXPRESSED concern over the work needed on defense and the new coach admitted that his Cardinals will have trouble on the boards this winter. "We just don't have the experience to offset our lack of size up front," he added.

Arlington will be meeting a club Friday that doesn't boast exceptional size but which possesses speed and some good shooters.

Coach Jack Burmaster has six lettermen at Evanston but two of the monogram winners are on the sidelines with injuries and may not be back until the middle of December or early January.

LETTERMEN included in the Wildkits' starting alignment are 6-2 John Scott at center and 5-9 Dick Kuehne at guard. Kuehne is starting his third year with the varsity and will serve as Evanston's captain this winter.

Rounding out the Evanston lineup are 6-1 Don Cleveland and 6-1 Charley Johnson at forwards and 5-9 Roamy Taylor at guard. Taylor is a sophomore and the other two boys are juniors.

Cleveland was brought up to the varsity in mid-December last winter and the 6-1 sharpshooter proceeded to pace the Kits in Suburban league scoring with 175 markers in 14 games.

Evanston won only two of 19 games last winter and finished seventh in the Suburban league.

Arlington's Sophs Open Friday Night

The frosh-soph basketball Cardinals of Arlington high school will kick off their 1961-62 schedule Friday evening when they entertain a visiting quintet from Evanston.

Featuring exceptional overall height for a frosh-soph unit, the young Cards of Ken Schaller will initiate proceedings at 7 p.m.

The sophs possess more depth than usual this year with members of the third unit working with the junior-varsity team. Slated for JV action are Jim Fruehling, Gerald Reinwaldt, Dave Berwanger, John Lindstrom, and Jim Swanson.

SCHALLER wasn't set on a definite alignment at the outset of the week but did indicate his top ten boys. Included in that list are seven boys who top the six foot mark and four who go 6-2 or better.

Two of the leading candidates have been nursing injuries and it's questionable if they'll be ready for extensive action Friday. Guard Ray Merkel (5-9) has a bruised foot and center-forward Joe Mueller (6-1) has a knee injury.

Mueller was a regular with the frosh-sophs as a freshman as was guard Arnie Koriath (5-11).

KEN SCHALLER

OTHER BOYS currently among the top ten candidates are center Greg Buczynski (6-3), forward Jeff Beckman (6-0), forward Garron Kokai (6-2), center-forward Brian Karp (6-4), center-forward Dick Anderson (6-3), guard Fred Devin (5-10), and forward Paul Splittorff (6-1).

Schaller has been pleased with the boys' hustle in practice sessions to date but stressed that a lot of work has to be done on defense and passing. The lack of defensive skill, in particular, has been showing up in the hardwood drills. (Sp

Mac Says

by G. A. McELROY

PALATINE HIGH HAS OVER 300 BOYS out for the winter sports of basketball, wrestling, and gymnastics. That gives an idea of how big an athletic program suburban schools operate and Palatine is one of the smaller schools with 1,950 students. Schools which field teams in swimming as well as the three sports named, have still larger turnouts. From this group will come for competition 3 wrestling teams, 5 basketball teams (2 frosh), and a limited program of freshman-sophomore gymnastics. The novelty of a new sport and a chance for the boy who has not done well or who does not like basketball and wrestling has brought out 110 freshmen and sophomores to try gymnastics. This sport with its activities of trampoline, tumbling, parallel bars, high bar, rings, and side horse will be a basic part of the physical fitness program at the Palatine frosh-soph school. Another basic part is a weight program which also includes calisthenics rope climbing, and use of chinning bars. Only one third of the gym class time will be devoted to recreational and athletic games.

WHY DO FEWER BOYS REPORT for basketball in high school than for any other of the so-called major sports? The reason is very evident if you understand the sports. Basketball takes a longer period of development than any team sport in which high school boys participate. Boys who played no grade school ball are at a distinct disadvantage competing with those who have a good program. The boy who drops basketball after the freshman or the sophomore year eliminates himself from any chance at a varsity position in his senior year. The rest of the boys just advance too rapidly at that stage for him to overtake them.

The fact that only 5 can play at one time makes basketball a more selective sport and there are so many special skills which all must learn such as passing, shooting, guarding, footwork, rebounding, etc. that few can excel. In addition, a boy is at a real disadvantage if he lacks height and speed. Wrestling offers a chance to the small boy with half of the 12 positions on a team going to small boys weighing 138 pounds and under. Gymnastics puts a premium on coordination, agility and strength in which both short and tall boys may excel and with a team made up of as many as 18 or more boys.

Baseball, football, and track offer twice to five times the opportunities to get on the team that basketball presents. Yet the country over gyms are designed primarily for basketball and it draws the greatest fan interest. Basketball is the universal sport of all the small and large high schools in the country. It is the national high school sport as football is the American college sport. Many suburban communities where there are many winter sports such as basketball, wrestling, gymnastics, swimming, and indoor track have designed athletic facilities in which basketball is not the primary consideration. Fieldhouses and swimming pools along with wrestling rooms, and special gymnastics areas spread the winter sports emphasis in the large schools with greater opportunities for all the boys to find an activity in which they can enjoy a measure of physical success. That is why Maine Township in its bond issue referendum Saturday is planning for a fieldhouse at Maine West as well as a pool and fieldhouse at the proposed third high school in Park Ridge.

10 YEARS AGO

Ray de Greef is the new varsity basketball coach at Arlington Heights. He has a veteran squad but no standouts except 6' 5" Jay Vawter . . . Jim Introvartolo was named at center on the West Suburban gridiron all-stars. Arlington won no games with the varsity and but one sophomore tilt in its first West Suburban season . . . Palatine opens the cage season at Lake Forest with a new coach, "Gene" Moylan, who hails from Iowa. Veteran Palatine cagers are Don Buenzow, Dick Abrahamson, Paul Schrage, and Don Zoellick.

20 YEARS AGO

"Mac Says" rates Northwest Conference cage teams on the average below the par of the last two seasons . . . Bensenville invades Arlington and Palatine travels to New Trier in cage openers . . . Palatine tops Wauconda 26-24 in practice game and loses 44-19 to Dundee. The final of 6 baskets by Harold Schwolow won the Wauconda game. Bensenville hopes for a conference title as Coach Kirby opens with 4 very good veterans in George Gutnik, George Bumann, John Custer, and Walter Bornack . . . A vote of the principals of the state to bar 19 year olds from athletic competition failed. A new rule passed to require 3 weeks practice before the opening game in football with practice starting on August 25. Chicago teams will abide by state rules only when playing members of the state association outside the city, virtually getting a home rule concession from the association.

Layden Tops Rushing on AHS Varsity

Junior halfback Ken Layden topped Arlington high's varsity football Cardinals in both rushing and scoring, according to official statistics released this week by Paddock Publications' sports department.

The 172-pound speedster collected 458 yards in 70 carriers for an impressive 6.5 average. In addition, he scored five touchdowns in his first season of varsity competition.

Layden had a sizable advantage over runnerup Jerry Totzke in the rushing department. Totzke, another junior who topped the varsity in rushing as a soph, picked up 304 yards in 61 cracks for a 5.0 standard.

ARLINGTON had four backs top the 100 mark in rushing with the two fullbacks following Layden and Totzke. Senior Roy Woodruff carried 42 times for 198 yards and a 4.7 per carry average and junior Rog Lindstrom picked up 120 yards in 33 carries for a 3.6 mark.

Senior quarterback Ross Retterer, bouncing back after a slow start, finished the 1961 campaign with 28 completions in 68 attempts for 326 yards and three touchdowns. In two seasons with the varsity Retterer attempted 174 passes and completed 77 for 802 yards.

The best single game rushing mark at Arlington this fall was recorded by Layden against Riverside. Ken carried 10 times for 132 yards in the Cards' 31-0 victory over the Bulldogs.

RETTERER'S top passing day as a senior was in the finale against Hinsdale when he clicked on nine of 16 for 72 yards.

Layden, Totzke, and Woodruff each scored two or more touchdowns with the latter two backs both credited with 12 markers.

Layden had the longest run from scrimmage with a 56-yarder against Riverside and the longest pass play was a 55-yarder involving Retterer and Ray Miller against York high's Dukes.

Capitol Hill

The Capitol Building at Washington was begun in 1793, and the two wings were completed in 1857-58. Its cost, including grounds, was $26 million.

BATTLING FOR THIS rebound in a practice session last Friday at Arlington high school are Ross Retterer (front) and John Burgermeister. The varsity and frosh-soph Cardinals will open their 1961-62 season this Friday evening with a home clash against Evanston.

American League Claims All Honors in Pageant

The American league took all honors in the Fifth Annual Pageant of the Mt. Prospect Midget Football Association held at Prospect high school last Sunday.

The Pageant consisted of two separate games played by the incoming and outgoing players of midget football. American league entry included players from Central, Emerson, Fairview, and Lincoln. The National league included Lions, Owens, Prospect, and Sunset.

In the Senior division the Americans whipped the Nationals, 19-13. A 24-yard pass from Tom Kalwitz to Bill Karlovitz accounted for the first touchdown for the Nationals but the Amedicans bounced back with the next three.

PETE JAY teamed up with Bobby Payne on a 50-yard pass play and Jay ran for two yards and another score. The third touchdown was counted on a pass from Jay to Wesley. Larry Snider added the extra point.

The Nationals came through for their final touchdown on a spectacular 68-yard run by Dennis Wilkinson. Paul Accurso picked up the extra point.

Standouts in the game for the Americans were Jay, Snider, Rick Henderson, Rick Bertoglio, Gary Guerin, Fred Wesley, Jim Hatfield, Tom Breen, Darryl Van Kampin, Randy Gersten, Bobby Payne, Jim Herod, Al Gibbon, and Jim Geocaris.

PLAYING impressive games for the Nationals were Bob Grady, Bob Jensen, Doug White, Neil Rowe, Gene Hartis, Nick Rutigliano, Jim Kolberg, Bob Chudik, Bob Krysiak, Bill Dax, Doug Lytle, and John Janette.

In the Junior division the American leaguers walloped the Nationals 20-6. Don Kiehler scored two touchdowns, one on a spectacular reverse play. Ricky Robertshaw tallied the third.

Heading the line play for the winners were Al Basquez, John Sennett, John Griffin, Steve Kijak, Chuck Ayers, and Dale Morgan. Backfield standouts were Don Koehler, Rick Robertshaw, and Bob Broren.

For the Nationals Paul Beck scored their only touchdown and Tom Jensen and Paul Pauluzzi also played impressive games in the backfield. Bob Frantell, Steve Lund, Bret Lange, and John Sullens drew post-game plaudits for their offensive work and Mike Doherty, Tom Green, and Tim Williams showed well on defense.

Palatine Unit Hosts Indians Friday Night

by DICK GOTTSEGEN

King Basketball, conspicuously absent from the high school sports scene for the past eight months, returns to his throne Friday evening.

With the football equipment barely tucked away for another season, Palatine's ambitious cage squad will entertain Niles West of Skokie Friday evening in the 1961-62 season inaugural.

If nothing else, the onrushing campaign should prove to be an extremely interesting one for Coach Dick Kolze's aggregation.

THE PIRATES of last season racked up nine victories in 23 tries, a vast improvement over the two previous years that produced a frustrating combined total of three successes.

Kolze lost three regulars from that squad including high-scoring, all-conference forward Denny Christensen. Christensen, a tremendously valuable man under the boards, topped the Pirates in scoring with 362 points.

Also graduated were first string guards Jon Fabri and Curt Marker who accounted for 284 Pirate points between them.

THOSE LOSSES will hurt, Christensen's in particular, but Kolze is blessed with a solid nucleus around which to mold what could materialize into Palatine's first winning basketball team in many, many seasons.

A boy with a world of talent is John Seehausen, a regular for the past two years who returns this winter for a final fling. Seehausen, an excellent shooter with good moves, pumped in 321 points last year to rank second behind Christensen in that department.

John could supply the steadying influence needed to make the Pirates click this winter. He will handle one of the forward assignments Friday.

ANOTHER returning '60-61 regular is towering Ron Kozlicki. The six-foot-seven-inch center attracted considerable notice as a sophomore last season and figures to improve with added experience under his belt this time around.

Kozlicki whipped in 314 points last winter to rank third in team scoring. He'll be at center Friday.

Don Skinner and Jim Valukas, a couple of six-footers who saw only limited varsity experience last season, are rated as a toss-up for the remaining forward assignment. Both figure to see considerable action Friday, however.

TAKING OVER for Fabri and Marker in the backcourt will be a trio consisting of seniors John Roberts, Reece Thome and Gary Chessman.

Of the three, only Roberts saw enough action to earn a monogram although Thome and Chessman did sample some varsity experience.

Those are the boys who will shoulder a vast majority of the burden in this opening game. But what about the Pirate bench?

FOUR JUNIORS up from last year's frosh-soph squad figure prominently in Kolze's plans for this season. They are Guard Bill Peterson and forwards Jerry Olson, Bob McWilliams and Lon Aggerbeck.

Olson topped the frosh-soph outfit in scoring with 253 points which also established a new season school mark for underclassmen.

Basketball Season Opens

The basketball season at Our Lady of the Wayside school opened last week with a pep rally and introduction of the players to the students.

Wayside's varsity and junior-varsity squads will open their 1961-62 season against Transfiguration of Wauconda.

Andrise Gains 716 Yards to Top Prospect

Bruce Andrise, the Interim league's top All-State candidate and a varsity regular for three years at Prospect high school, rolled up 716 yards rushing in 124 carriers this fall, according to statistics released this week by Paddock Publications.

A two- time selection on the loop's all-star squad, Andrise averaged 5.7 yards per carry. In addition, the 185-pound senior also topped the Knights in scoring wiith 62 markers on ten touchdowns and two extra points.

In three years with the varsity Andrise collected over 1200 yards on the ground. The best game of his career came this fall against East Leyden when he rambled for three touchdowns and 141 yards in only ten carries.

PROSPECT'S second leading rusher, Tommy Thomas, registered 159 yards in 39 cracks for a 4.1 average. In addition, Tommy completed 15 of 24 passes for 105 yards in a late-season performance at quarterback.

Prospect's passing game clicked for 466 yards in 1961 with Bob Gerrard the leading flinger on the basis of 17 completions in 46 attempts for 213 yards. Ken Groh chipped in with nine of 31 for 148 yards.

Andrise was an easy winner in the scoring department with his 62 points. Dan Johnson, who sat out most of the season with an injury, still managed to finish in the runnerup slot with 18. Jim Hogarty scored a pair of touchdowns for 12 points.

Ten boys carried the ball for Prospect this fall with four topping the century mark. In addition to Andrise and Thomas, John Davis and Jim Anderson both collected 100-plus with identical 114 yardage marks. In his limited appearances Johnson picked up 96 yards in 29 attempts.

The Cardinals Booster club of Arlington high school honored the fall sports program Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, at the annual banquet.

All boys who participated in football and cross country, both as competitors and managers, and the girls on the varsity and frosh-soph cheerleading squads were honored guests at the banquet in the school cafeteria.

With emphasis on the senior athletes the coaches presented school letters and numerals.

Chuck Mather, assistant coach of the Chicago Bears, was guest speaker for the evening.

ARLINGTON presented 39 Major "As" in the fall sports program. Vince Furlong and Ray Miller were elected co-captains of the varsity football team with Furlong also honored as a center on the West Suburban conference all-star squad.

Miller, an offensive and defensive halfback, was named the most valuable player by his varsity teammates.

Jim Hendricks was named captain of the varsity cross country team and Dan Bedford was selected as the most improved harrier.

Overall, Coach "Bus" Ormsbee presented 31 Major "As" in varsity football with 12 juniors honored. Cross Country Coach Russ Attis presented varsity monograms to three juniors and three seniors.

Face Season Finale

Dons Stun Spaulding For Ninth Straight!

by TOM TREBAT

The Notre Dame Dons smothered the Irish of Peoria Spaulding 21-0 last Saturday for their biggest win of the year and ninth in a row without a loss.

Spaulding, previously hailed as the fourth best high schol team in Illinois, proved no match for Notre Dame's blend of a stingy defense and a powerful offense.

Tomorrow night, the Dons must be considered favorites to knock off Marian Central in a game to be played in Woodstock. A win would perfectly climax Notre Dame football's most successful season ever. It would also give the Dons an undefeated, untied year.

THE SPAULDING Irish found the Notre Dame defense almost impenetrable last Friday. In the first half, Notre Dame held Spaulding to a minus 8 yards rushing. Neither team was able to score in the first two quarters as the ball constantly changed hands with no results on the scoreboard. The half ended in a 0-0 tie.

The Dons scored the winning margin about midway in the third quarter. They had marched deep into Irish territory and looked like they had a sure touchdown. Then the Spaulding line stiffened and stopped Notre Dame on downs forcing them to surrender the ball. Spaulding again could go no place with that football, and they found themselves in a third down and 11 yards to go situation on their own 9 yard line.

Their strategy then called for a quick kick, and Notre Dame was ready for it. One guard, Tom Francisco, blocked the kick, and the other guard, Dennis Bielinski, jumped on it. A few plays later, Fullback Al Loboy scored from the two yard line. Dick Gorzynski's extra point kick was good, giving Notre Dame a 7-0 lead.

NOTRE DAME tallied again in the fourth quarter. The big play in the series was a 30-yard pass from Quarterback Gorzynski to Halfback Greg Schilling. Loboy then scored his second touchdown from the Spaulding four yard line and again Gorzynski converted.

Late in the fourth quarter, Spaulding became desperate at the thought of losing and took to passing on almost every play. They made one mistake, however. They fumbled and allowed Notre Dame Halfback Bob Buonincontro to recover on the Notre Dame 46 yard line. With about 50 seconds left in the game, Schilling raced 54 yards for the last touchdown of the game. Gorzynski's third straight conversion made the final score Notre Dame 21, Spaulding 0.

The loss left Spaulding with an eight won and one loss record for the season. Notre Dame's win leaves them with only one more obstacle in the way of an unbeaten season. They'll try to eliminate that obstacle tomorrow night at Marian Central.

Hardwood Outlook

Prospect High Preps For 1961-62 Opener

The tempo of basketball drills increased this week at Prospect high school with the approach of the Nov. 24 opener against a strong Willowbrook quintet.

With just one week remaining before the lid comes off on another campaign, Head Coach Dick Kinneman has been sending his squad through some concentrated workouts.

Whereas Kinneman was working with veterans last winter as he prepared his Knights for the hardwood campaign, he's faced with molding an alignment from inexperienced candidates this year.

THE PROSPECT mentor doesn't have any lettermen returning from that crack squad that won 25 of 27 games in the 1960-61 season.

The current edition of the Foundry rd. Knights is a definite question-mark with size a scarce item on the varsity roster. Tallest men among the top eight candidates are Tommy Thomas and Mike Francek who both stand 6-2½.

Thomas is the only candidate who saw any varsity action last winter. Tommy rimmed seven points in his brief appearance.

IN ADDITION to Thomas and Francek, other leading performers at this stage of the workouts at Prospect are forwards Dennis Mitchell (5-11), Jim Hogarty (6-1), and Chuck Andrews (6-0) and guards Ken Groh (5-11), Bob Gerrard (6-0), and Dick Smith (5-11). Smith is a junior transfer from Milwaukee.

Five of the leading varsity performers are juniors with only Thomas, Francek, and Andrews currently in their final school year.

Prospect is faced with an unusual schedule this winter in that it will play four straight Interim league games before engaging in a non-conference tussle. Following the opener with Willowbrook, the Knights tackle Morton West, Proviso West, and West Leyden.

SEVEN OF the Knights' league contests will be played before the holidays. On Dec. 27-29 Prospect will make a return engagement to Kankakee for the holiday tourney at which they were a big success last winter.

Prospect enjoyed amazing success in its first two years of varsity competition with 47 victories and only four setbacks. Last winter the Knights picked off the Geneva and Kankakee holiday crowns and the regional title before dropping the sectional opener in a sudden death thriller to 1 Crysta Lake.

DICK KINNEMAN

IN ADDITION, the Knights were co-champs in the Interim league in the 1959-60 season and undisputed loop champions last year.

Prospect will play 16 Interim league games in the 1961-62 season with home-and-home affairs against Deerfield, East Leyden, Niles West, Maine West, Glenbrook. The Knights will meet Willowbrook, Morton West, Proviso West, West Leyden, Wheaton, and Glenbard East in single encounters.

Wrestlers Face Busy Schedules

Ambitious wrestling schedules at both Arlington and Prospect will open within the next two weeks as Coaches Bob Emmons and Dick Mudge attempt to mold together representative units at the District 214 schools.

Mudge's Prospect Knights will be the first to swing into action as the Foundry rd. crew is scheduled for varsity and sophomore tussles against Willowbrook on Friday, Nov. 24.

Emmons' Arlington Cardinals will host McHenry of the North Suburban conference in their opener on Tuesday, Nov. 28.

PROSPECT will engage in the busiest schedule during the early stages of the 1961-62 campaign with four varsity meets carded before Arlington travels to Palatine in its second varsity test.

Prospect has seven meets slated before the holiday break and will host its own Invitational on Dec. 21-23. Included on the Knights' schedule before the holiday are Willowbrook, Morton West, Proviso West, West Leyden, Wheaton, Glenbard East, and Niles West.

The Invitational is slated for 7 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 21 and 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 23.

Following the holiday break, the Knights will hook up in seven more duals and a quadrangular at Fenton.

Unless otherwise indicated, Prospect will follow a varsity and junior-varsity setup in the attached schedule.

ARLINGTON'S Cardinals face only three duals before the holiday break, tackling Palatine and Fenton after the McHenry lidlifter. The varsity Cardinals again will wrestle in the Palatine Holiday tournament.

The varsity and frosh-soph squads will be tested in eleven duals this winter. The varsity will travel to Willowbrook for a quadrangular on Saturday, Feb. 3, while the frosh-sophs will vie in the Waukegan tournament on Saturday, Feb. 10.

In addition to the Prospect Invitational, the Knights will wrestle in seven duals before the home fans in the coming season. Arlington has six home matches.

The wrestling staff at Prospect includes Mudge on a varsity level with Hal Henson heading the JVs and Maurie Levy the younger squads. At Arlington Emmons is assisted by Julius Fliehler and John Fish.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Dogs at work

A recent telecast showing the use of dogs in sentry duty around a Nike base has shown the general public that constant sentry duty is required to assure the safety of our defense and weapons systems, and dogs are playing a part in protecting such installations. Recently, the United States Air Force and Army have stepped up the enlistment goal of the "canine corps."

An article in a recent issue of Gaines Research and also one in the J.A.V.M.A., Robert W. Bailey, D.V.M., formerly veterinary officer at Lackland's USAF Sentry Dog Training center, mentions why.

Sentry-dog teams, consisting of specially trained dogs and their handlers, are used in these important places because of their proven ability to detect and apprehend intruders, to deter aimless trespassing in security areas and given the proper conditions, to replace up to five men.

IT TAKES EIGHT weeks of stiff training to get a dog ready to go on duty with his handler for this type of work. Most of the dogs used are German Shepherds, around 20 months old to start. They are male dogs, weigh about 70 pounds, and are around 24 inches high at the shoulder. This overall combination seems to have worked out the best. The dog must be well-mannered, but suspicious of all except his handler to whom he must be loyal to the "nth" degree.

All in all, the work done by these dogs goes a long way towards keeping a "ready alert" at all times. Their feeding and training costs plus later upkeep is far outweighed by their usefulness.

Home front

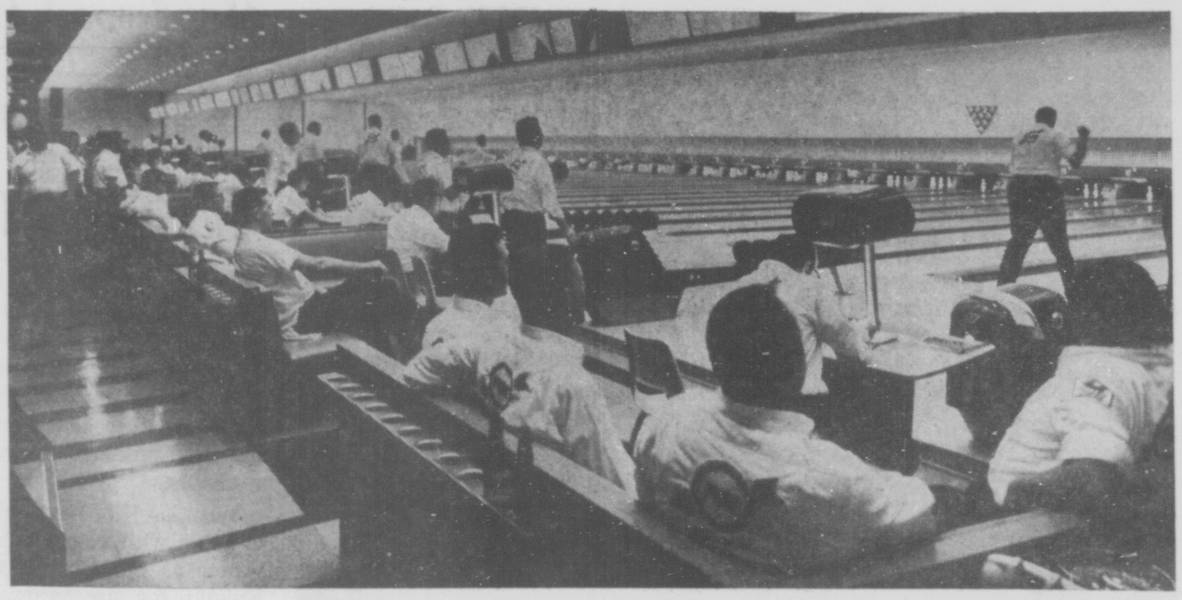
This business about guard dogs makes one think about their use in police work. Many police departments throughout the nation are using dogs more and more in their work.

A recent column brought out the fact that in our own local area some police departments are using guard dogs along with their patrols, especially at night. It helps in more ways than one. It permits an officer to better cover a beat and the extra eyes and ears of the dog are able to pick up sights and sounds that are out of place. When it comes to scent, that is where the dogs really come into their own. Watching a dog trained for tracking is something to behold.

Confirmation class

Folks interested in showing their dog at a confirmation dog show, and who have not had any experience in this line might be interested to know that a class in training both handler and dog is now being held by the Northwest Obedience Dog Training Club of Palatine.

The course follows the regular obedience classes each Wednesday evening at the club's training quarters located in the basement of the Jewel Tea building, in Palatine's downtown shopping area. The class is for all-breeds and gives a basic knowledge of what is required for handling a dog in the show ring. Folks interested are invited to stop in any Wednesday evening, the first time without their dog, and ask for information at the hospitality desk.



THE LARGEST BOWLING league at Rolling Meadows Bowl and possibly the largest in the area served by Paddock Publications is the Pure Oil division. At present the loop is using all 36 lanes at Rolling Meadows on Thursday evenings with 12 women's squads and two divisions of 12 squads each for the men. The peak of the bowling season comes every April when teams are selected from local areas and invited to participate in the annual company tournament in Columbus, Ohio.

Paddock Classic League

Martinetti's Captures Three Points; Advances on Leaders

Martinetti's Restaurant of Crystal Lake became the first team of late to stop S. M. Kahn Electrical Contractors' surge to capture first place. By winning two games and three points, Martinetti's put itself in contention for first place by tightening the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

Holding S. M. Kahn of Chicago to one point, Martinetti's reduced the league leader's lead to one and a half points following action Saturday night at Gunnell's Lanes in Mt. Prospect.

Another team, Moyle Construction of Carpentersville made a strong bid by winning three points from Jeffery Lanes and moving from sixth to third place, three and a half points off the pace.

AND NELSON Realty of Mt. Prospect, by capturing three points from Wheeling Furniture on the night's high team series, 2866, made fourth place a four-way tie. As Nelson moved up from seventh place, Wheeling Furniture, Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect and Jeffery Lanes were moving down by winning just one game each.

S. M. Kahn, which bowls out of River-Rand in Des Plaines, started like it was going to put daylight between itself and the rest of the league, winning the opener, 969-935, behind a 213 by Wally Behm of Palatine. After that, Kahn failed to get a 200 game.

Martinetti's Restaurant, representing Ten Pin in Barrington, won the second game easily as Dan Pulos of Crystal Lake fired a 216 game. Both teams sagged in the final game, Martinetti's coming out on top, 833-825, on a 201 by Chris Pulos of Crystal Lake, which gave him a 600 series on the head.

MOYLE Construction, based at Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, showed that it must be considered a contender as it sent Jeffery Lanes of Wheeling reeling. A 224 by John Taylor of Waukegan gave Moyle the opener, offsetting a 206 by Hec Healey of Northbrook and a 203 by Bill Harris of Wheeling. Both teams fell in the second game, but Jeffery came out the winner, 880-851.

Then Moyle Construction recovered to bowl the night's only 1000 game, a 1017, to give the Carpentersville team a point for high series. Behind the Moyle attack were George Radke of Mundelein with 217, Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich with 213 and George Sargent of Waukegan with 212.

With three men rolling 600 series — LeRoy Papineau of Algonquin 608, Casper Dewitz of Barrington 607 and Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods 606 — Nelson Realty lost only the last game to Wheeling Furniture. In the opener Dewitz had 219, Papineau 214 and Kouros 213 to give Nelson, bowling out of Bowlway in Elgin, the game despite the night's individual high game, 231, by Irv Hahnfeldt of Palatine.

KOUROS continued with a 221, and aided by a 224 by Buck Perkins of Barrington Woods, Nelson handed Wheeling Furniture its second defeat. But Wheeling Furniture, representing Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine, couldn't be shut out as Herb Engstrom of Elgin had 220 and Don Oberg of Itasca 217 to offset a 221 by Dewitz and 205 by Papineau.

Beverly Lanes got back into the race — now it's only two points out of fourth — by taking three points from the host Pro Sport Center five. Warren Walter of Arlington Heights, who finished the night with high individual series, 613, posted a 218 game to give Beverly the opener. Both dipped in the middle game but Pro Sport Center came out on top. In the final, Dave Nickol of Palatine had a 216 to pace Beverly to the deciding game, offsetting a 212 by Ward Siewert of Palatine.

Next Saturday action will move to Ten Pin in Barrington with the key match being second place Martinetti's Restaurant bowling against third place Moyle Construction. League leading S. M. Kahn Electrical Contractors will take on fourth place Wheeling Furniture.

Loop Leaders Falter In Women's Classic

The two Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League leaders, Steve's Restaurant and Morton Pontiac, both suffered setbacks Saturday night at Northfield Bowl in Northfield.

Yet, their two-team battle has not been jeopardized, their closest opponent being five games back.

Steve's Restaurant of Wheeling lost two of three to Moyle Construction of Carpentersville and Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights dropped all three games to Ridge Motors of Des Plaines.

THE NET RESULT was that Steve's Restaurant, which bowls out of Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, increased its league lead to two games and Moyle Construction and Ridge Motors evened their records at 15-15 and find themselves in a third place tie.

Steve's Restaurant captured the opener against Moyle Construction, bowling out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, with ease as Janice Crovetti of Highwood and Ann Neumann of Morton Grove both posted 202's.

Then Steve's pace slackened considerably as Moyle Construction came through to take the last two games thanks to a 224 by Fran Altergott of Mundelein in the middle game and a 201 by Vi Douglas of Palatine in the closer. Vi Douglas finished the night with a 575 series, tops in the Women's Classic Saturday, and Fran Altergott had 552.

RIDGE MOTORS behind a 559 triplicate by Edith Wayne of Des Plaines and a 553 by Doris Taylor of Waukegan, swept all three games from Morton Pontiac although the margin of victory in two games was by just 20 and 16 pins. The only 200 game was a 202 by Doris Taylor.

River-Rand Bowl pushed Northbrook Bowl deep into last place by sweeping all three games. Only the middle game was close, River-Rand winning by six pins. Hazel Steiger of Arlington Heights had the only 200 game in the match, 211, but was topped for high individual series by teammate Chris Wirthmann with a 536.

Next Saturday at 6:30 p.m. action shifts to River-Rand Bowl in Des Plaines where the top match pits Morton Pontiac against Moyle Construction.

Farmers' Outlook

Hog Price Prospects Continue Favorable

by L. H. SIMERL

The hog market has held up remarkably well this fall. In fact, it has been unusually strong and stable for 20 months.

A principal reason was that the spring pig crops, and consequently market supplies during the fall, were not excessive. This is in sharp contrast with some previous years, when farmers bunched their hog production so that markets were overloaded with pork in the fall and early winter.

SOME MARKET forecasters have said that November and December would bring excessive market supplies of hogs and sharply lower prices. They based their guesses on the official reports of late spring farrowings.

The USDA pig crop report of last June showed that 2,794,000 sows farrowed in April and May. This was 9 per cent more than a year before. On the other hand, sow farrowings in April and May were about 20 per cent smaller than the average for 10 years, 1950-59.

Another fact—on September 1 the USDA estimated that the number of pigs 3 to 6 months old was 10 per cent greater than it was a year before. A corresponding increase in slaughter was recorded in October. The increase in marketings came seven months after the reported increase in farrowings. This is about the normal birth-to-market period.

WEEKLY MARKET receipts may reach their peak for this year around mid-November. This guess is based on the fact that 1961 spring sow farrowings apparently reached their peak in the first week of April. Prospective market supplies for the winter quarter (January-March) are about the same as the actual supply last winter.

Farmers' production plans in September pointed to a market supply of hogs next spring about 6 per cent larger than in 1961. At the same time their intentions, as they reported them, pointed to about 5 per cent more pigs for market next summer than were marketed this past summer.

These are small increases. They could be largely offset by reduced supplies of broilers and increased consumer buying power. Still, it seems to be dangerous to predict that prices for hogs will be as high during the first three quarters of 1962 as in the first three quarters of this year.

WHAT ABOUT hog markets in the last quarter of 1962? We will have the first clues from farmers when the next pig crop report is issued just before Christmas.

Ordinarily, the favorable prices of the past 12 months, and especially those of this fall, would bring about substantial increases in production. But perhaps the increase will not be too big this time. For one thing, many farmers have reduced their production of corn and can get $1.20 a bushel for most of it from the government.

Many hog producers already are producing about as many hogs as they can handle. Some have had serious disease problems. Finally, we remember that the two latest big increases in hog production, in 1955 and 1959, came only after prices had gone well up into the $20s for several months.

So—perhaps the increase in hog production will not be excessive next year. (FM

'Busy Acres' Program Is Under Way

"From Idle Acres to Busy Acres to Tree Farms" is the slogan that has been announced to launch the "Busy Acres" program, according to Robert Hood, Cook county ass't farm adviser.

This program, initiated by the Illinois Forest Industries Committee in cooperation with American Forest Products Industries, calls for positive measures that will convert idle land best suited to forest production and lazy timbered areas to acres of high forest production—busy acres.

Forest experts declare that these steps are necessary if the American people in the next 40 years are to maintain the present standard of living as related to everyday needs furnished by forests.

MOST COMMON items include papers of all sorts, from newspapers and magazines to grocery bags and sanitary tissues; such building materials as lumber, timbers, rolled roofing and asphalt and wood shingles; and utility items like posts, poles and railroad crossties. Other items include wooden furniture, handles and toys.

As a help in launching the program, a "Busy Acres in Illinois" booklet was mailed to 75,000 timber owners of the state. This booklet tells how to get the job done and where to get help from available sources.

Farm Adviser Robert Hood says that he can supply you with a copy of "Busy Acres in Illinois" if you do not already have one. (FM

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell
Assistant Farm Advisor

Alert Homeowners
Dial Daily 392-3060

Rabbits cause serious damage to trees and shrubs by nipping off shoots, branches, leaves and buds and by gnawing and peeling off bark. They feed on these materials, but often remove parts of trees and shrubs without eating them.

One rabbit can ruin a home planting during the winter. Damage is most likely to be severe when forage for rabbits is scarce, in late fall, and during winters when there is a deep snow cover. Wherever rabbits are numerous, protection against them is necessary in order to establish landscaping plantings.

THERE ARE several effective methods of protecting plants from rabbits. The most common method is to place chicken wire with fences around each plant. These fences should be larger in diameter than the spread of the lowest branches of the plants, and should be securely fastened to the ground. They should be high enough so that they will stick up over deep snow.

In the past several years, there has been increasing interest in the use of animal repellents and there are now several available which will repel rabbits. The commercial preparations are available at garden and hardware stores. Some can be used on evergreen plants and some cannot. Be sure to check the label before you use any of these materials.

There are two preparations which can be mixed at home from materials available at garden and supply stores and which can be used on dormant and evergreen plants alike.

THE FORMULATIONS are as follows:

1. Mix thoroughly one gallon Rhoplex, 4 pounds Arasan and dilute with 2½ gallons of water.
2. Mix one gallon asphalt water emulsion and one gallon of water. Stir in thoroughly 4 pounds Arasan.

These materials can be sprayed on the plant from any tank sprayer or may be applied with a paint brush. If a sprayer is used, be sure to run the material through a fine mesh screen before putting it into the sprayer.

CAUTION: Arasan is caustic and should be handled with care. Avoid breathing the dust and immediately wash it from hands. (Fm Judi received a leather plaque and cash award and will now represent Cook county in state competition. (FM

FOOD IN OUR LIVES is an important and interesting subject to talk about. It contributes to physical, mental and emotional health. It nourishes our body. When we eat in a favorable setting, we get another kind of well being; a sense of belonging. When we eat our food with friendly companions it is relaxing and enjoyable.

People devote much time, effort and thought to food — to producing food, to processing food, to distributing food and even to serving food in the form they want it.

People have always known they must eat to live — children to grow normally and adults to keep strong. Modern science shows that all of us can add years to our lives, if we apply knowledge about nutrition to our selection and use of food.

In recent years we have become more conscience about the amount of weight our body carries. In most any group of any size usually there are a few people who shy away from desserts, starchy food and food that contains large amounts of sugar. Why? Because of the calories they contain, and the amount of weight the person carries.

The subject of nutritious food is not new because Wilbur O. Atwater, first director of Nurtritional Investigation, U. S. Department of Agriculture did a great deal of work in nutrition between 1869-1900. He studied the digestibility of food, made numerous dietary studies and analyzed many foods.

Dr. Atwater commented in the 1894 yearbook of Agriculture that "to make the most out of a man, to bring him up to the desired level of productive capacity, to enable him to live as a man ought to live, he must be well fed."

Since Dr. Atwater's time numerous other people have studied the various phases of food production, distribution, and nutritive values. Today, we are more food conscience than ever, but we have the answer to many of the questions that bothered us previously. Looking at some of the simple questions, how many times have we heard the question asked, "What's a good way to lose weight?" Most people know the answer, but do not want to face up to it. The answer usually is simple, "take smaller servings," and take some exercise regularly to increase your expenditure of calories and to keep physically fit.

People need a continual supply of food to supply energy for good health and well being. How much food a person needs depends on his activity and the weight he should maintain, but he should never consume more food than he needs and expect to lose it.

"I didn't know the gun was loaded" is a common phrase. Too common — last year 2,200 persons were killed with firearms in the U. S. Eighty-seven per cent of these deaths occurred during the hunting season.

Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

Accidents don't just happen. Sometimes they are caused by mechanical failure — but more often by human failure. (FM

to HAWAII

MARCH 9 through MARCH 25, 1962

Join your friends and neighbors in the most glorious, fun-filled vacation of a lifetime and come with us to the Pleasure Playland of the Pacific

These are the gentle islands of the Pacific, beloved by travelers since time began as the loveliest and most delightful haven in the world. A trip to Hawaii is a dream come true. The beauty of the islands, the year round perfection of the climate, its easy, carefree atmosphere accented by strange Polynesian pageantry, romantic music and dances, its unbelievable profusion of flowers are the background for a holiday planned with glorious Hawaiian leisureness and hospitality.

You will enjoy the 20-acre beachside estate of the luxurious Hilton Hawaiian Village with rolling surf, a private lagoon and five pools. There's swimming, surf riding, skin diving, water skiing and sailing. You'll be royally entertained by the traditional Luau fest and savor exotic Oriental foods.

No trip to Hawaii is complete without a hop over to the neighboring islands:

Kauai, the Garden Isle with its lush tropical beauty, the breath taking Waimea Canyon, "Spouting Horn," a noisy salt water geyser erupting near shore, Lalalau lookout with a breathtaking view, a 4,000 foot drop to the fertile valley bounded by razor sharp cliffs, a memorable visit to Fern Grotto, a fantastic scene with thousands of ferns growing downward from the roof of an enormous cavern.

Hawaii, the largest island of them all, the primitive island with towering active volcanoes, black sand beaches, fern grottos, palm lined shores, millions of orchids and tropical plants.

Kona, where sportsmen go for some of the most exciting deep-sea fishing in the world. You'll meet and love the unspoiled people in these neighbor islands and take back with you some of their carefree spirit, their kindness, and their deep satisfaction in life.

A Stop-over in San Francisco

Something new and exciting has been added for our second annual Hawaiian Holiday—fly jet from O'Hare in midmorning and land in San Francisco about noon. We spend the rest of the day in a grand tour of one of America's most interesting cities. Your trip includes cocktails at the famous "Top O' The Mark" and an unforgettable view of the city, a gourmet dinner at Fisherman's Wharf, and Chinatown at night. After a restful sleep at the New Hilton Inn, we board another jet the next morning and we are whisked over the Pacific to Honolulu, with the rest of the day to get settled in our twin-bedded rooms in the Village Tower of the Hawaiian Village Hotel.

Clip this coupon and write for your folder on the complete details of Paddock's Hawaiian Holiday. Christmas may not be "around the corner" yet, but start saving now for the once-in-a-lifetime vacation, a respite from the cold and the snow at just the right time. Mail to PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

Please send me your folder on the Paddock's Hawaiian Holiday tour in March, 1962.
